

WATER POWER PLAN A VISION

D. C. Patterson Says Rights Should Not Go to Speculators.

HE FAVORS PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

Says that R. H. Howell Should Know that State is Without Power to Develop Works for Internal Improvement.

D. C. Patterson, who put in many years working for public ownership of water power, was asked his views on the opposition to the granting of any water power rights at any point in the state and he replied: "I have no interest whatever in any particular water power development, but as a property owner in Omaha I am much interested in seeing some water power development as soon as possible. I thought R. H. Howell was a 'pragmatic' and was greatly surprised to read his moon-balk views. He ought to know that the state is without any power whatever to develop works of internal improvement until the constitution is amended to permit a tax or bond for such purposes and we cannot expect the farming interests to vote a tax upon their property to develop manufacturing in Omaha, Lincoln or Columbus.

Scheme is Impracticable. "While I have always favored public ownership of this water power, yet for these reasons I look upon his scheme as impracticable and visionary, yet he no doubt will have the entire support of the corporate vested interests of Omaha that have always opposed this water power development. Where was Mr. Howell when I was lobbying a bill through the legislature to authorize Douglas county to own and develop this water power? Where was he when we had the city charter amended to authorize Omaha to vote bonds to develop the water power? Why did he not when state engineer or when a member of the state senate secure this legislation? He was a boy when he began to secure the water works for Omaha. He is now growing gray and we do not yet own these works. His youngest son will be an old man before Nebraska water power would be developed under the process suggested at Lincoln.

The state board has a duty to perform and that is to comply with the law, which says that the right to divert our unappropriated waters for beneficial use shall never be denied. Whatever discretion the state board may have in the matter should be exercised to the end that no water shall be tied up by speculators without capital for full development."

Erin's Patron Saint Will Be Honored in St. Patrick's Church

Religious observance of St. Patrick's day on Sunday will be held with unusual solemnity at St. Patrick's church, Fourteenth and Cass streets. This is the first opportunity the pastor and people have had to commemorate the great feast in their magnificent new church and they are anxious that the observance be in keeping with the dignity of the occasion.

Rev. Peter C. Gannon will deliver the sermon and the Ancient Order of Hibernians of Council 1187, Omaha, and South Omaha, will attend the services in a body.

Special music has been prepared under the supervision of Mrs. R. E. Youm, organist, and Philip McMillan, director, who have charge of a choir of thirty-five voices, which has earned a reputation for itself that insures a musical treat. The following program will be presented.

The Kyrie, Gloria and Credo from Rossini's Mass, Opus 2, with the Benedictus, Hosannas and Agnus Dei from Kretschmer's Mass, Opus 5, will be sung. An offertory, Gullman's "Ave Verum" will be rendered by a double quartet of mixed voices. The "Fidel Creator" by J. T. Guy, will be sung by a double quartet of male voices, and the inspiring hymn to St. Patrick will be offered as a grand finale by a male chorus of fifteen voices.

Additional Salary May Be Received by New Commissioners

Wonder if this will bring out a few more shy and hesitating candidates? "Expectant councilmen under Omaha's new commission plan of government have been counting on a salary of $4,500 a year with an additional $500 for the one lucky enough to be chosen mayor. But now comes a hint of an additional $400 for each councilman, a little over $500 a month, and for mayor $6,000, without speaking of free office rent, telephone and perquisites.

If this proves to be the case, as some good lawyers think it will, it is because a separate law gives members of the excise board $400 a year, and this law is not necessarily repealed as in conflict with the commission plan is. The five members of the police board, including the mayor, now get this excise board salary, and under the new deal all seven councilmen will constitute the license grant board and be entitled to claim the gin money."

Candidates for the thirty-second degree were disposed of during the afternoon. A banquet followed the initiation and lodge work, which was concluded at 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Today is the last day of the reunion and the work will be in charge of Tanglewreath temple, Order of the Mystic Shrine, concluding with a banquet at the temple in the evening.

ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH CONSIDERS NEW HOME

The "Men's" club of St. Stephen's Episcopal mission met Wednesday evening and appointed a committee to confer with Bishop A. L. Williams in regard to plans for the proposed new church at Twenty-ninth and Templeton streets. The club will meet with D. Deinkwater Monday evening to receive report of this committee, at 233 Larimore avenue. Definite steps looking toward the erection of a church home will be taken at an early date.
