

Clever Coats and Hats for Your Little Folks

Styles in Children's Coats do not usually vary from season to season as radically as do those for Ladies and Misses, but this season brings a number of decided changes in design and color combinations.

Shepherd's checks, serges and black satin are extensively used, the models are all beautifully tailored and trimmings of contrasting colors are very cleverly applied to collar and cuffs, buttons and braid are also used very effectively.

Many models have detachable wash collar and cuffs which are neat and economical as well. Sizes 2 to 6 years. Prices $2.95 $3.95 $5.00 $6.50 and $7.50.

White Serge Coats and those of White Serge with black pin stripe are stylish and present a very dressy and pleasing appearance, priced at $3.95 and up.

CHILDREN'S HATS—Come in a wealth of dainty shapes which add much to the winsome charm of the childish face. Milan, peanut braid and leghorn in mushroom and Tyrolean shapes and many hand made styles in pongee and fancy braids, priced up from $1.25

The receiver was then jerked from the telephone.

Before leaving the Hall home, the murderers took Mr. Hall's repeating shotgun and a box of shells.

SAYS BANDITS KILLED BLUNT

Sheriff Chase of Sarpy County Gives His View of Farmer's Death.

Grant Chase, sheriff of Sarpy county, says that one of the convicts, either Morley or Dowd, murdered Roy Blunt, in the fight near Gretna Monday.

"I was in the buggy with Chief Briggs and Captain Trouton of South Omaha. We were within forty yards of the convicts when they opened fire on us. We did not reply immediately, but very shortly we answered back and after a few minutes of exchanges, Gray dropped."

"With that, Blunt started to leap from the wagon. We saw one of the two convicts yet in the wagon fire at him at short range and kill him. Of this there is no question, as we were the nearest to the convicts in the fight. It was a cold-blooded murder, if there ever was one. I do not know who fired the shot, but I don't think it was Gray, as I believe he was lying dead in the wagon body."

SCHOOL CHILDREN SEE BATTLE

Bandits Killed in Sight of Pupils of District No. 31.

Adding greatly to the dramatic aspect of the chase's wild finish was the scenery where it occurred. For four miles the full stretch of the pursuit could be taken in at a glance. It was one gradual slope which fell in beautiful undulations to a picturesque wagon bridge over the farm house of Mrs. August Herman.

At the top of the hill where the final stretch began is the home of Charles Bower. Mr. Bower was preparing his team for a trip to Chalco, standing at the side of his house, when bullets sizzling by him gave his first warning of the proximity of the convicts.

When the rumbling army of farm wagons and buggies dashed by his house he went immediately to the telephone and notified Mr. Henry Bell, two miles below him, and prepared her for the sight.

It was at this place that the posse and the bandits had the greatest assembled audience of their chase. More than thirty little school children in district school No. 31 were aroused from their studies by the firing.

CONVICTS WERE REMORSELESS

Movements After Escape from Pen Are Recounted.

The movements of the murderous fugitives from the time they escaped from the penitentiary up to the time they exposed themselves is told best by Elmer Hall, who lives five miles east and three-quarters of a mile north of Havelock.

On Thursday evening of the day they escaped they were invited into the home of Mr. Hickman, a dairyman. They remained until a late hour and then compelled a boy to drive them to Twentieth and B streets in Lincoln.

At 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning when Hall went to his barn to do the morning chores, he was met at the door by Convict Dowd. Dowd's first words were: "Come in and shut the door."

Mr. Hall replied that he had. "Well, we are the three."

When Mr. Hall first entered the barn, Taylor and Morley were not in sight, but they immediately emerged from an oat bin where they had evidently been resting.

Are You Fat?

You know you can not stay fat, don't you? That is, you can not stay fat and be in style. The day when a fat woman was tolerated is passed.

Nowadays all women must be in proportion or be ridiculous. This does not mean you should become skinny, however.

Now, how can this be done? By exercising and dieting? Yes, and no. These two means will bring some results, but not easily nor soon.

For this purpose nothing is less expensive, safer or simpler than Marmola Prescription Tablets.

When Millard was reached the Omaha officers received their first news of a battle with the bandits. Merely rumors were affixed in Millard and on the party telephone lines that there had been heard shooting in the vicinity of Chalco.

Hiring rig's Chief Devereese's posse hurried to Chalco, where definite news reached them of the battle.

The train bearing the sheriff's posse and Morley to the penitentiary passed through Lincoln without stopping.

SHERIFF HYERS TELLS A STORY

Says Only Four Officers and Himself Were in Battle.

Sheriff Gus Hyers of Lancaster county, when seen at his home in Lincoln Monday night, was pretty well exhausted by the excitement of the chase and the long strain which he has been under night and day since the murder at the penitentiary.

In speaking of the chase which led up to the killing of the two convicts, young Blunt and the capture of Morley, he was unostentatious in his praise of the courage and coolness of Crawford Elkenberry, the penitentiary guard, Sheriff Chase of Sarpy county, Chief John Briggs of the South Omaha police and J. C. Trouton, deputy fire marshal, who were participants in the final battle.

Hyers also gives great praise to Manager Pollock of the Plattsmouth Telephone exchange, who put the service of his entire system at command of the sheriff and aided in every way possible in keeping the posse informed of the movements of the desperadoes.

Hyers says the fight covered a distance of about a mile and a half. In addition to himself the only participants were Chase, Briggs, Trouton and Elkenberry. Hyers had charged horses six times during the chase.

Hyers says one of the convicts fired twice at him with a shotgun and, though he was not hit, he says he could hear the shot whistle near him.

found practicable. When asked whether he had selected anyone for the vacant place of deputy warden, he said that he had not given the question serious thought as yet, but now that things had settled down the matter would be taken up soon.

The question who fired the shot which brought down Convict Gray was a pertinent topic in Lincoln. The Lincoln papers have given the credit to Sheriff Hyers and the Omaha papers, taking their stories from those who returned to that city by the chase, give it to Chief John Briggs of South Omaha.

Hyers' friends here insist that the Lincoln sheriff is the one to whom credit is due. Another question which is agitating the people is who will get the reward.

It is a matter of common talk that while she was not present at the capture, no small share of the credit for overthrowing the outlaws is due to the widow of the unfortunate Blunt, who made a getaway from the convicts and telephoned the news to Plattsmouth that the men were at her home.

MORLEY TO BE TRIED IN APRIL. Will Be Charged with Conspiracy with Intent to Murder.

Charles Morley, the living member of the trio of convicts, was captured after a four days' hunt Monday, and which killed three men in making their attempt to escape from the penitentiary, will probably be given his preliminary hearing in the latter part of the week in Lincoln. The charge which will be filed against him will be that of "conspiracy with intent to commit murder."

"We have filed an information against Morley, Dowd and Gray, charging murder in the first degree," said Deputy County Attorney G. E. Haas, Lancaster county, Tuesday morning. "But we will be unable to rely on that as we have no proof as to which convict fired the fatal shot. The charge of conspiracy with intent to commit murder covers the same offense and meets with the same penalty as the first degree charge, but the elements of the crime are different."

Morley's trial will probably occur second on the criminal docket in the April term of court about April 23. The trial of Albert Prince for the murder of Deputy Warden Davis on February 11 occurs April 23, the first day of that term. The authorities assert that both men, if convicted will probably hang together.

Morley is at present in a solitary cell at the penitentiary next to that occupied by Prince.

Search of the bodies of the convicts brought out articles of personal property hardly in accord with the desperate character of the men. Dowd was a dandy. He had clothed his body in fine underwear and in his pocket he carried a tooth brush and a tube of pasta. Gray had also secured quite a number of articles of finery, including silk handkerchiefs and socks. The two men had less than $3 between them and most of it was in small coin. Dowd having eighty-five pennies.
