

CITIZENS' UNION FIXES SLATE

Announcement is Made of Candidates to Be Supported by It.

MEMBERS HOLD WARM MEETING
Each Member of Committee Had a Favorite Slate, but After Considerable Discussion List is Finally Agreed Upon.

CITIZENS' UNION SLATE

William A. Redick, republican, 2116 Emmet; resides in Twelfth ward; former judge of the district court.

George W. Thummal, republican, 404 South Thirty-sixth avenue, Eleventh ward; lawyer, former clerk of United States circuit court, now master in chancery in the federal court.

John A. Swanson, democrat, 4025 Iard, Eleventh; formerly with King-Swanson Clothing company, now in California visiting.

John L. Neble, democrat, 2782 South Tenth street, Second ward; sells brick and contractor's supplies; is with Mark Hansa a Realty company, member of the Board of Park Commissioners.

M. F. Funkhouser, democrat, 124 North Forty-first street, Ninth ward; insurance; is city councilman from Eleventh ward.

Frank A. Furry, republican, 522 North Twenty-sixth street, Ninth ward; former city treasurer, now in real estate business.

John J. Byler, republican, 2423 Merdith, Twelfth ward; former state state-attorney and labor commissioner, now secretary of the Omaha Public Library board and inspector under the state child labor law; newspaper man.

Citizens' Union Explains.

The announcement of the above names of those selected by the citizens' union for positions on the commission slate was accompanied by the following explanation for the signature of the publicity committee:

"Above are the men who have been recommended by the citizens' union for commissioners. To prevent any possible misunderstanding, it is deemed wise to state definitely the method adopted in selecting them.

"In the first place, the entire registration of the city was gone over and a list made of those who seemed most eligible. The greatest difficulty was experienced in selecting only seven from the multitude of able men at hand.

"The executive committee wishes it distinctly understood that the absence of a name from the above list does not indicate that the members of the committee did not think such men qualified for the position. Such commission means that in the final balance of contending forces, some other man seemed more favorable.

"It is most important that the city of Omaha be well governed that the ambition of any one man be realized. The men who desire to control the affairs of this city for their own gain will not allow personal friendship to influence their votes. The men who desire this city to be governed in the interest of the public ought to be equally unbiassed.

Concentration of the selfish voters requires concentration of the unselfish. The citizens' union, by its action, offers an opportunity for the latter. We ask the voters of this city, in carefully and impartially weighing this ticket to place public welfare ahead of personal choice."

Some Are Surprised.
Several surprises were sprung when the slate was announced, as many had expected to land whose names did not appear on the list.

John A. Rine had expected C. J. Smyth to be able to take care of him and keep his name on the slate, but Mr. Smyth could not deliver.

Already there is some question of some of the candidates named refusing to run, on conditions under which some consented to have their names presented included on an entirely new deal on nonpartisan lines.

Three democrats and four republicans are named on the list handed out by the union.

Been Taken Out Petition.
John P. Breen, who drafted the commission plan of government, and City Comptroller Cosgrove took out petition Friday morning before the slate of the Citizens' union was announced.

"I am not very anxious to run," said Mr. Breen, "but if I see that there is a crowd of men likely to win that I can work with I will enter the race."

It is generally rumored that Mr. Breen is scheduled by the citizens' union to take any vacancy caused by a republican withdrawing. Judge W. A. Redick, it is understood, has refused to become a candidate.

Comptroller Cosgrove, democrat, is reported to be slated for another expected vacancy.

DEATH OF MRS. TUFFIELD IS PURELY ACCIDENTAL
Evidence brought out in the inquest held Friday morning into the death of Mrs. E. J. Tuffield, who drank cyanide acid Thursday afternoon, showed that death was purely accidental. Mrs. Tuffield had been suffering for several months with neurasthenia and was probably seized with a nervous fit during which she took a bottle of supposed medicine to steady her nerves and accidentally got the wrong bottle. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon from the late residence at 228 North Twenty-sixth street. Interment will be in the family lot at Forest cemetery.

Howell Tells of Threats to Keep Witnesses Away

Investigation of the federal grand jury which convenes next month probably will not last more than three days, according to United States Attorney Howell, although he declares he expects at least twenty indictments.

With the exception of some white slave cases, the investigation will be simple. Attorney Howell has his evidence and his witnesses practically ready now to go before the jury.

At least sixty witnesses will be called, some of whom already have been subpoenaed. Of these the United States attorney says he wants to be sure, having done a little sleuth work and found that attempts have been made at intimidation and coercion.

Now that these witnesses have been served, should those who have been threatening them continue if they are in excellent position, the attorney says, to be convicted and sent to the Leavenworth penitentiary for interfering with or thwarting the ends of justice.

In the white slave cases particularly, he declares, attempts to intimidate and coerce witnesses have been made.

Two Families at Bellevue Have Narrow Escapes

The recent thaw, assisted by an ice surge in the Pappo creek below Bellevue, has turned a flood over the bottom lands adjacent to the creek and hundreds of acres are inundated. Fences in some places are under water. The rise was sudden and several families in the vicinity were surrounded in their homes before they realized the situation.

An aged man by the name of Brokaw and his wife were left for a day and a half without food or fire, and when discovered and taken away in a skiff they were nearly exhausted. The water in the house had forced them to take refuge on a table.

Another family living on the bank of the creek improvised a raft out of planks and logs and launched out on the swollen current. Reaching the Burlington bridge over the creek the mother and two boys made a desperate leap from the raft as it was being whirled under the bridge, caught the timbers and struggled to safety over a spot where the water is twenty feet deep.

The crusade will be for the purpose of gaining enforcement of the state law against the sale of cigarettes and of stirring up a popular sentiment against the use of tobacco in any form by minors.

Superintendent E. U. Graff of the public schools will give an address on the subject from the standpoint of the school man. Mrs. James Tallafiero will speak on the "Physical Effects of Tobacco on Minors." Mrs. May Finley will speak on the mental, moral and economic effects.

Hull-McKeen Case is Set for Today

Hearing of C. W. Hull's motion for an order restraining Mrs. W. R. McKeen, his former wife, from collecting a $500 alimony installment, due April 1, was postponed until this morning in Judge Troup's equity division of the district court. Five affidavits in support of the motion will be read by Hull's attorneys when the hearing is called. The affidavits are intended to show that when Mrs. McKeen induced her former husband to enter into the alimony contract she already was in love with McKeen and was planning to wed him.

DR. HAMILTON TO TELL METHODS OF FIRST AID

The seventh lecture in the Young Women's Christian association course in first aid to the injured will be given by Dr. H. B. Hamilton this evening. The subject deals with common emergencies, swelling of poisons, burns, scalds, how to act when clothing takes fire, acute indigestion, vomiting, constipation, diarrhoea, colic, cramp, chill from exposure, application of external dressings and use of internal remedies.

A new class in shorthand making started Saturday afternoon, and registrations for it at the usual terms will be received during this week. The course will consist of fifteen lessons, following the outline given in the prospectus for this subject.

The question of having next summer the open air camp for heat sick babies which was carried on in Riverside park during the summer of 1910 and 1911, will be decided next Friday morning. W. Farnam Smith has offered to supplement the open air camp with a home nearby in which the nurses may live more comfortably than in past summers and where the babies may be taken in cases of serious illness.

Grand Jury Makes Trip to Florence to Study Conditions There.

OLD PAVEMENTS ARE DUG UP

Court House Construction Matters Also Take Up Part of the Time of the Investigators During the Day.

Further investigation of matters in connection with the construction of the new county building occupied a part of the time of the Douglas county grand jury Friday. An hour was spent considering the information secured by the grand jury Thursday when it examined paving excavations in Omaha. The balance of the time was spent examining witnesses in routine police cases.

Nothing can be heard regarding the view the grand jury takes of facts disclosed by the paving inspection. J. A. Bruce, a grand juror and formerly an employe of the city engineer's office, took the measurements of the pavements examined and made copious notes of the character of the material used.
