

POWELL CHECKS CAR WEIGHT

Nebraska Expert Finds Marks on Sides to Be Wrong.

TRAFFIC SCALES ALSO DIFFER

Road in Many Instances Lose by Error and Cheat Themselves Out of Large Sums of Money.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, March 23.—(Special Telegram)—Railroads may have their business down to an exact science as is often asserted, but figures compiled by V. G. Powell, expert rate man for the Nebraska railway commission, would not indicate it. He has been digesting up some facts concerning weights to present to the Interstate Commerce commission at Chicago.

The custom of the roads is to mark on cars the weight of the cars, which marks are permanent. When a loaded car is weighed this amount is taken from the total to get at the contents. Out of 1,000 cars weighed by the commission on tested scales 432 showed a variation for correct weight from 600 to 7,300 pounds, the others varying in lesser amounts. The one which was off 7,300 was a Northwestern car and the stencilled weight was that much less than its real weight, the company thereby cheating itself out of that much on each carload if it weighed up to the maximum.

In others the stencilled weights were too great, the whole showing there was no design in the incorrect weights. In weighing 300 cars of coal four different scales were used and differences in scales amounting to as high as 12,000 pounds were discovered in one instance.

Cambridge Files Complaint. The city of Cambridge has filed a complaint against the Burlington road in which the allegation is made that the road discriminates against the town and gives smaller and less important pieces of better train service and better accommodations for passengers. The complaint sets out that Cambridge is the largest and most important place on the Denver line of the Burlington between Holdrege and McCook and on the St. Louis line between McCook and Red Cloud; that it has a population of 1,900, has a beautiful natural lake and a fine park which is the pleasure resort of southwestern Nebraska; that it is the home of many traveling men and of the judge of the district court and the common meeting place for many conventions and public gatherings. It is set out that the fast through trains of the road do not stop there, though they do stop at Oxford, a much smaller city. It is also asserted that the Cambridge depot is old, dilapidated and entirely too small for the purpose, is poorly lighted, poorly supplied with drinking water and that the freight room is so small that crates of butter, eggs, fruit (sometimes decayed), poultry and other things are piled in the waiting room and that the company refuses to give better facilities, while Alma has a fine brick depot and other places on the line are favored with adequate facilities.

The Commercial club, which filed the complaint, wants the board to order all trains stopped at Cambridge and a new and adequate depot provided. The complaint will be referred to the company and time granted to file an answer, after which a date will be set for a hearing in case the company and the residents of Cambridge cannot get together on a solution of the trouble.

More than half the state banks have sent in their reports in response to the recent call, which the banking department considers a good record, especially if the remaining ones will hurry up.

Bethany Complaint Heard. The hearing on the Bethany complaint on street railway charges, after being on all day yesterday and about an hour this morning was postponed to a date not yet fixed to make for a hearing on Rock Island switching charges, which was set for Friday. The company wants a switching tariff abolished so far as it relates to certain parties not on the line of its tracks and where it relates to handling cars brought in by other companies. The company asserts that the business handled under that tariff is all interstate and beyond the jurisdiction of the state commission, and further that it is a general rule among roads not to switch cars brought in by other roads to a wagon track of a competitor and that no other road in Lincoln has such a rate as the one this company seeks to have abrogated.

Religious Census Figures. Figures taken from the religious census recently made show that one man out of each six in Lincoln and its suburbs is employed by the railroads, or a total of 242. Of this number the Burlington employs 228. The Roman Catholic church claims by far the largest membership of any denomination, with the Lutherans next. Eight per cent of the employees of the headquarters own their own homes, the comparatively small number as related to other classes being attributed to the fact the percentage of single men is greater in the headquarters. Of the engineers and conductors 80 per cent are home owners, 29 per cent of the roundhouse men, 29 per cent of the track men, 10 per cent of the switchmen, 25 per cent of the yard officers, 10 per cent of the roundhouse officers, 10 per cent of the signalmen, brakemen and baggage-men.

Books for Teachers. At the meeting of the Nebraska State Teachers' reading circle board held in Lincoln Friday, March 22, the following books were adopted for the year 1912-1913: McMurry's "How to Study and Teaching How to Study," published by Houghton Mifflin Company; "The Personality of the Teacher," published by Row, Peterson & Co. for teachers in city schools (publication 5) and 10; "The American Rural School," published by the Macmillan Company; and "The Personality of the Teacher," published by Row, Peterson & Co. for teachers in rural and village schools (publication 4). These books represent three lines of work: "How to Study and Teaching How to Study," pedagogical; "The Personality of the Teacher," inspirational or cultural; "American rural schools," vocational training. Members of the board are: Superintendent Edith A. Lathrop, Clay Center, president; Prof. Fred M. Hunter, school of agriculture, University of Nebraska, vice president; Superintendent J. M. Matlen, President, Superintendent J. E. Dill, Wilber; State Superintendent James E. Deibel, Lincoln, manager. The board of supplies is busy looking over estimates for supplies for state institutions. Bids will be opened next Monday. Fishermen Worried. The duck hunters is not the only branch of the sporting fraternity which is worrying. The opening of the fishing season is April 1, but with the amount of snow on the ground and the time required to get the snow water out of the lakes and streams it will be long after April 1 before the angler can hope to enjoy much sport.

Woodmen Called to Meet Monday to Perfect Plans

HASTINGS, Neb., March 23.—(Special.)—The executive committee elected to carry out the program formulated by the state insurgent convention of Modern Woodmen of America has been called by President Boght of this city to meet in Hastings Monday, March 25. The details of the adopted plan of insurgency will be worked out at this meeting and probably another conference will be held in Omaha or Lincoln a week later preparatory to the making of formal demands on the head officials of the order.

The resolutions adopted by the convention commit the insurgent Woodmen to the following line of action: 1. To secure the submission of the rate question to the entire membership for a referendum vote. 2. Failing in the first, to endeavor to secure a meeting of a newly elected head camp for a reconsideration of the rate question. 3. Failing in the first and second, to institute legal proceedings to prevent the enforcement of the new rates pending consideration of the question by the next regular head camp. 4. Failing in all these, to call another convention to take such action as the circumstances may require. The committee charged with the duty of carrying out this program is composed of the following: Dr. J. V. DeHolt, Hastings, president; Alexander McFarland, Friend, vice president; P. G. Devoe, Omaha, secretary; G. W. Phillips, Columbus, treasurer; J. R. Thompson, Grand Island; Nathan Bernstein, Omaha; F. A. Anderson, Holdrege; M. L. Corey, Clay Center; Lon Colin, Oxford. The convention was attended by 376 delegates, representing 219 of the 602 camps of the state.
