Twenty Cannibal Kings Proposed To One American Girl!

In The Omaha Sunday Bee

this young woman will tell how this score of African potentates went about it. The story, illustrated, will occupy a full page.

Harry Furniss

The famous London cartoonist, has analyzed the faces and the features of Americans. It takes a full page to give the details and pictures of this important event.

"Traitor Nerves"

That famous beauty, Mme. Lena Cavalieri, has given this title to her beauty talk which will appear in the magazine section of The Sunday Bee.

"New Spring Draperies"

The woman who knows the "last word" in affairs of the fair sex, has prepared another of her exclusive articles for The Sunday Bee. Every woman in Omaha will want to read this article.

"Fashions 70 Years Ago"

Everybody is interested in the styles of today, but many would like to know what their ancestors wore. This feature article describes the clothes that delighted American women of the early forties.

Spring Fashion and Easter Number

A special section is devoted to articles on men's and women's clothes. Beautiful pictures are used in illustrating these stories. Talks from Paris and other fashion centers and detailed notes and illustrations of what men will wear, are included in this department.

Four Pages of Comics

The colored comics seem to grow better each week. This Sunday finds all the characters in richest vein of humor. The children of Omaha and Nebraska look anxiously forward for these funny fellows.

Delightful Mutt and Jeff

These national fun makers surely are constantly growing more popular, and no one is up-to-date unless he knows what they are doing. They will be in the four-page pink section next Sunday.

There will be many other features in The Sunday Bee. To be sure of a copy order from your dealer NOW!

If a man buys only one Omaha paper he buys The Bee. If an advertiser uses only one Omaha paper, he should use The Omaha Sunday Bee. It reaches more Omaha homes than all the other Omaha Sunday papers combined.
