AFFAIRS AT SOUTH, OMAHA

Gillin is Suffering at Hands of His Own Party.

GRAND JURY STIRS UP TROUBLE

Democratic Gangsters See Conditions that Have Prevailed So Long React and Undermine Their Position.

Among those who know the true state of affairs in the democratic camp, City Treasurer John Gillin's repeated protests of his own official immaculateness in the face of the fight that is being made upon him by his own party has created amusement. Through the columns of the World-Herald Gillin is accused of running mates at whom he shouts his old "holier than thou platform."

In his own personal and official organ Gillin brazenly denies that he has won the antagonism of many members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. President J. J. O'Donnell is now alleged to have said that he had nothing to do with the opposition to Treasurer John Gillin. President O'Donnell was never mentioned in connection with the reported fight and his protests in favor of the usage treasurer has not stamped out the dissatisfaction among many members of the Hibernian order.

Within the last two days two different leading members openly stated that Gillin's hold on the organization had been lost because of his action in appointing an Omaha man to a place claimed by a member of the organization.

County Pays Deputy.
In the second place the republicans and democrats both point out that Gillin's bald claim to a blameless official life is openly contradicted by the report of the special auditor, who found more fault with the books of the city treasurer than with any other department of the city. He has laid claim to a virtue of having paid a deputy county treasurer $100 out of his own pocket. As a matter of fact the republicans have shown that the sum in question is paid by the county and not by Treasurer Gillin. City Treasurer

Gillin is further accused of having increased the wave of extravagance that has swept over the city hall in the last two years by adding another man to his office force. This man is expected to hold the votes of a large social organization against Perry Wheeler, republican candidate and a member of the same body.

William Queenan and Henry Ryan, both democratic leaders in close touch with the uptown forces, insist that Gillin did seek help from Omaha last week. His appeal was denied. The name of Sheriff McShane is said to be used as a whitewash brush to strengthen the treasurer.

Fear of Grand Jury.
There was much perturbation among the gangsters of South Omaha last night when it was learned that the grand jury had obtained evidence of alleged vice conditions in South Omaha that would probably destroy the last hope of the men who have been expressing their certainty that the grand jury would never return an indictment against South Omaha officials.

The fight on conditions in South Omaha has been waged by Attorney Dean Ringer, who is beginning to loom large in the public eye as a persistent fighter, not to be bought or cajoled into a surcease of his efforts to get the gangsters of South Omaha under the law. Recently the women of the city began to take notice of the conditions and now, even in the west end where the gang boasted control, the women are aflame over the alleged conditions in political and social life.

The result is that Ringer is nearer to winning out than ever before and the further action of the grand jury will be watched with eagerness by the general public.

Move Spreads to This City.

WESTERN UNION ANNOUNCES EMPLOYEES' PENSION PLAN
NEW YORK, March 29.—Theodore N. Vall, president of the Western Union Telegraph company, announced this afternoon the adoption by his company of a pension plan for employees. Pensions ranging between $25 and $100 a month, he said, had been granted employees retiring after from twenty-five to forty years of service. The maximum pension, he added would be 50 per cent of the salary at the time of retirement, but would not exceed $100 a month.

TAGGART QUEST GOES OVER

Inquiry Into Western Newspaper Union to Be Delayed.

LUMPED WITH OTHER PROBES

Congressman Kinkaid Secures Aid for Water Users of Mitchell and Morrill—Fight Over Home-stead Bill.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 29.—(Special Telegram.)—No further action is likely to be taken by the house on the resolution of Congressman Taggart of Kansas to investigate the business of the Western Newspaper Union of Omaha to determine whether it is underselling its service to destroy the business of its competitors, the Publishers' Newspaper Union of Kansas City, for the reason, as stated by Mr. Taggart today, that he has been advised that a blanket resolution is to be passed authorizing the interstate commerce committee to investigate all cases that may be a violation of the anti-trust law.

Mr. Taggart tried yesterday to have his resolution acted on by unanimous consent before the rules committee to which it was referred had reported it, but his motion was declared out of order. He has secured the consent of the chairman of the rules committee, Mr. Henry, to a hearing on the bill. The date has not yet been set. Only Mr. Taggart will appear before the committee at this time.

Settlers Unable to Pay.
Congressman Kinkaid learned this morning that a number of settlers in the North Platte project in the vicinity of Mitchell and Morrill had been unable to meet their payment of $1 per acre due March 15. The information came partly through a letter from James T. Whithead of Mitchell, president of the Water Users' association, and partly from inquiries made by Mr. Kinkaid at the department.

The congressman went to the department this afternoon and had a conference with Mr. Newell, the director of the reclamation service, and the secretary of the interior, placing the matter before them and urging that relief be given to those who through no fault of their own were liable to lose their buildings through non-payment.

It was shown to the officials that the colony of water users had made a united effort to enable all to meet the payments, loans having been made by some to their struggling neighbors, and in some instances settlers having sold their horses to secure sufficient funds.

In spite of this about one-fifth were unable to pay, the number being between forty and fifty.

Through the efforts made by Mr. Kinkaid it was finally agreed that before any adverse action is taken the department will choose a committee of probably three experienced men from irrigation states, who will visit the delinquent individually and make a report to the department. It is understood that this committee is to be selected in the near future.

This concession from the department comes as the result of the efforts of Congressman Kinkaid, who has worked indefatigably all winter to secure favorable action on all matters affecting the settlers on the North Platte project.

Williams Makes Inquiry.
F. E. Williams, a lawyer of Bridgeport, Morrill county, is in Washington for a few days. During his stay here he will look into the question how to secure water for lands in his section. The tri-state canal, if its plans are carried to completion, would link with the government ditch at Bridgeport. Mr. Williams said that the people in the section from which he comes would prefer to receive water from the government instead of private corporations on the supposition that it would be more regular. However, he proposes to ascertain what the reclamation service contemplates for the people of Morrill county.

To Amend Borah Bill.
It is understood that a strong effort will be made on the part of the ultra conservationists to secure the adoption in conference of some of the amendments offered in the house to the Borah three-year homestead bill. It is known that this element is sorely disappointed over the speaker's failure to name Representa-
