Women Everywhere Know

that their figure is dependent entirely upon their corset and we know that Warner's designs are the dependable corsets.

Know it because each season our sales increase by the million pairs, due entirely to their splendid value.

We have directly traced the sale of dozens of pairs to the proper fitting of one pair.

Why?—because they shape fashionably—fit comfortably and outwear any other corset.

Warner's "Double-Skirts" are the greatest corset invention since rust-proof—they prevent the skirts of long models from tearing or stretching.

We stand back of the merchant who sells you a Warner's Corset. We guarantee them not only to shape fashionably, to fit comfortably, but not to rust, break or tear.

PARASOLS OF LIGHT SHADE

Linen Ones May Be Had for a Small Outlay of Cost.

SOME ARE MORE ELABORATE

Others of the New Styles Are Washable—Some Have Fringe Tassels and Some of the Polka Dot Design.

Any woman—be she rich or be she poor—may have a dainty white parasol this season, for the new linen sun shades are very inexpensive. The cheapest of them sell for 75 cents, and from that the prices soar according to the elaborateness of the trimming.

The delightful thing about the perfectly plain linen parasols is that the clever needle woman may embroider them in as fancy a pattern as she likes and in that way secure a very stunning sun shade for very little money. By doing the hand work herself she also has the opportunity of having it correspond with whatever design is on her suit or gown.

These new linen parasols are washable. The ribs are all white, varnished and the handles are of plain box wood. The long fringed tassels are of cotton. There is nothing about them which soap and water will soil and they come out of the wash looking almost as fresh as new.

Some of the white parasols have polka dots scattered over them and hemstitched borders of plain goods at the edge. Some have blue or pink dots with pink or blue borders to correspond.

One of the richest of the silk parasols is of imported pongee, with a wide border of satin brocaded with blue, tan and green flowers. The handle is large knobbed, in green carved wood and has a long tan silk tassel.

Another gorgeous parasol is of geranium-colored mesaline with an eight-inch border, veiled with black chiffon and with a five-inch black satin fringe around the edge. The border has a full ruche of black chiffon outlining its edge. The handle is plain black ebony.

Van Dyke Points. Purple chiffon draped over white satin forms the body of one of the parasols. The border is formed of deep, Van Dyke points, of black and white striped satin veiled with black shadow lace edged with a ruche of chiffon. A double tassel of purple satin is on the ebony handle.

A striking sunshade of American Beauty mesaline has Van Dyke points of diagonally striped black and white satin outlined with fancy black braid. A very dainty sun shade is made of pique ribbon in Dolly Varden colors alternating with plain pink ribbon.

The new Quaker parasols are simpler. They are of two-toned silk, the outside being of one color and the inside of a contrasting shade. One of the Quaker parasols is of bright green, lined with dainty lavender. The handle is of dark green.

The two-tone effect is being carried out in the new umbrellas, even the black silk ones having cerise, green and blue linings. Some of the umbrellas also have colored borders to correspond with the lining.

Fancy Cuffs and Collars Call Out Big Lace Displays

Neckwear is especially attractive this season. The fad for fancy cuffs and collars has brought in a big line of lace and embroidery sets for both suits and dresses. Some of the finest of these lace sets are to be had at Hayden Bros' store. They are in Irish, crochet, Maltese and carmine. There are some dainty chemises in these same hand-made laces.

These Dutch collar sets, Queen Anne collars and coat sets are made of all kinds of lace—Venice, macrame, Cluny, Flamen. The cuffs are wide and the collars are large. Some of the collars are of the cardinal shade, the square narrowing toward the waist line in the back. Some of the collars are round, some pointed.

Fabrics will be worn until we doff our suits and don our summer dresses. Side effects are most popular in jackets. Fat Johnson, buyer for Hayden Bros, who has just returned from New York, declares that the New York women wear the side-plaited frills with their suits. So, of course, it will continue proper for Omaha women to do so.

Corage bouquets made of mesaline ribbon in roses, violets and all the flowers are shown in all the local stores.

Latest Styles in Gloves for Summer Will Be Washable

There are a number of new washable gloves this spring shown in Omaha stores. One is called the Velvoo. It is pure white with a smooth surface and will wash like chamois. The doekin gloves are something on the same order and the chamoisette gloves, which look like chamois and cost only half as much, come in both white and yellow. Silk gloves will be good for this summer as in past summers. Some have dainty hand embroidery. Net gloves are also shown. White kid gloves are the smartest thing for street wear before it is time to put on summer gloves. The white gloves are stitched in white, with a few having lavender, black and honey-colored stitching. Black stands second to white for street wear and after that come the blues and tans and grays.

Handbags Are Small and of Varied Skins

The new handbags are small and in black and colors and shown in all the different skins—morooco, saffron, pig-skin, patent leather, pin seal; but the most summery of all are the white bags in leather and in lace. The all-over lace bags are handsomest in Irish crochet and are held taught by a frame at the top or else close with a drawing string. There are also some linen bags with belts to match. A point in favor of these lace and linen bags is that they may be washed.

Shadow Designs Latest in Veils

Shadow designs in the Sheilard finish washable veils in white, black and colors—blues, browns, and greens—are best for street wear. There is a new automobile veil made of chiffon with an elastic band which may either fit the veil down over the face or hold it close to the head in back when it is worn off the face.

What Women Are Doing in the World

OMAHA has had many women of national prominence speak here during the last winter—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the British suffragette leader, Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth, a national prison worker; Mrs. Ella Flagg, superintendent of Chicago schools; Kate Barnard, the Oklahoma whirlwind; Miss Julia Lathrop and Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton, settlement workers at Hull House. This week we are to have a climax to the season of noted women in Miss Pola La Follette, who will give a lecture on "Democracy of Woman Suffrage" in the auditorium of the Young Women's Christian association next Saturday evening at 8:15.

She is described as a young woman of charming personality and brilliant mind. After graduating from the University of Wisconsin she began her career as an actress, during which she has had a varied professional experience ranging from Shakespearean repertoire in Ada Robson's company to her recent part as leading woman in Percy Mackaye's poetic drama, "The Scarecrow." Miss La Follette gives interpretative readings and lectures on the drama and also on the subject of woman suffrage.

The underlying thought in Miss La Follette's lecture Saturday evening is that no group is wise enough or good enough to govern any other group.

Miss La Follette in addition to her own accomplishments has the distinction of being the daughter of Senator and Mrs. Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin. Mrs. George Middleton is the married name of Miss La Follette.

Miss Sara S. Hayden, head of the art department in the University of Nebraska, will be the speaker at the open meeting of the Omaha Woman's club Monday afternoon, when the program will be in charge of the art department of the club, of which Mrs. W. H. Hancock is leader. Miss Hayden's topic will be "London Art Galleries."

Mrs. S. N. Hess will give a group of vocal solos—"The Nightingale," by Stevens; "Waiting," by Millard.

The literature department will vary its program this week with a social meeting combined with its regular study period Wednesday at 1 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Albert Edholm. The program of the last meeting, which was not held on account of bad weather, will be combined with this week's program, making a very full afternoon's meeting. One-half the program will consist of the reading of Ibsen's "Peer Gynt," Mrs. Theodore Mayer leader, assisted by Mrs. E. M. Syfert. Mrs. Edholm will lead the other half of the program, which will include Rostand's "Chantier" and Maeterlinck's "Bluebird."

At the social hour the hostesses will be the leader of the department—Mrs. Millard Langfeld, Mrs. George B. Darr, Mrs. George Bonner, Mrs. C. H. Mullin, Mrs. G. C. Swingley, Mrs. Edholm, Mrs. Mayer. All who expect to be present are asked to telephone their acceptance to the secretary, Mrs. Joseph Polcar.

The household economics department of the Woman's club will hold its annual election of officers Thursday morning. There also will be a discussion on the work to be taken up by the department next year.

The social science department will elect its new officers Monday, April 5.

Mrs. Halleck Ross will be leader of the lesson of the art department of the Woman's club Thursday morning. She will be assisted by Mrs. A. B. Somers. The artists studied will be Albert Neuhus and William Roelofs.

The literature department of the South Omaha Century Literary club will have a Walt Whitman meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bruce McCullough, 1021 North Twenty-second street. Mrs. McCullough will read a paper on "Whitman, the Artist." The department will discuss Whitman as a prophet of nature. Selections from Whitman's works will be read by Mrs. A. D. Majors and Miss Louise Schindel.

The oratory department of the Woman's club will have a Scotch program Tuesday morning in the studio of the leader, Miss Lillian Pitch, when Miss Margaret Thompson will give readings from Barrie's stories and Burns' poems.

The Imogen club of Florence, will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. M. C. Coe and Mrs. R. H. Olmsted. Mrs. R. A. Goiding and Mrs. F. H. Reynolds will report current topics.

"Stories to Cultivate the Imagination," will be the subject of the Story Teller's league Thursday afternoon in the public library under the leadership of Miss Isabel McMillan. Among the stories told will be Dickens's "A Child's Dream of a Star," and Maeterlinck's "Bluebird." A talk will be given on the life and poems of Robert Louis Stevenson.

The Dundee Woman's club will meet Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. W. R. Howard. Mrs. W. E. Rhoades will be leader, and Thomas Bailey Aldrich's "Story of a Bad Boy," will be reviewed. Mrs. J. A. Perry will report current events.

The Omaha chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will hold its regular meeting Monday afternoon at 2:30 at the residence of Mrs. John J. Foster, 207 South Thirty-fifth avenue.

Among the social events to be given in Washington, D. C., at the twenty-first national congress of the national society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which the Omaha women who are delegates will attend are the reception at the White House April 15, the reception given at Continental hall, April 15, by Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, the president general, and the entertainment by Susan MacManus, the Irish story teller, at Continental hall April 15.

The Benson Woman's club will hold a library meeting Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Charles Tracy, president of the club. Current events will be discussed by Mrs. A. R. Cuyler.

Plans for the summer school of missions to be held at the University of Omaha next summer by the women of the churches, are crystallizing into shape. The latest addition to the list of lecturers is Hans T. Freese, son of an apostate Mormon slave, who will speak on "The White Slave of Mormonism." Mr. Freese recently worked his way through the University of Columbia.

Mrs. E. L. Barr, president of the North Side Mother's club, has called a special meeting of the club for Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. O. Ames, 1618 Locust street, for the purpose of planning a social affair for mothers and children.

COMBINATION SUITS FOR ALL

Two and Three-Piece Styles Are Now Being Superseded.

PETTICOATS DO NOT RUSTLE

Soft, Clinging Material is Used and Midlady Will Wear as Few as Possible During Warm Months.

However elaborate the undergarments may be, they are all made on straight and narrow lines in order that no extra fullness be added to midlady's costume, according to the styles shown in the Omaha stores.

The woman in charge of the petticoat section in one of the stores said that there is just half as much goods being used in the petticoats this season as there was two or three years ago. The double ruffle and puff ruffles have been entirely done away with, a plaited flounce being the only fullness at the border. Some of the petticoats have a border of silk fringe the color of the silk.

Most of the petticoats are made with the Jersey tops, with an elastic around the waist. The soft, clinging mesaline is being used more than any other silk. The day of the stiff, rustling taffeta petticoat has gone along with hips and full skirts. The underskirts are in plain and changeable silks and should match the suit.

The idea of soft, clinging materials, and as few as possible of them is carried out in all lingerie more than ever this season. There is a new wash petticoat called the skeleton petticoat. It is cut on straight lines with hardly any flare toward the edge. It has no flounce whatever, being finished with rows of insertion and lace, put on without a bit of fullness.

The petticoats, princess slips, combination suits and night gowns are made of the finest kind of materials—sheer nainsooks and India linens, crepe and voiles.

The newest and daintiest of underwear is made of crepe de chine. Lace has entirely superseded embroidery as trimming for underwear, because it is so much softer, although on the French hand embroidered pieces, of course, lace and embroidery are combined. Even the medallions which used to be used in embroidery are being used in lace instead. Cluny lace remains the favorite on lingerie, with Valenciennes—French and German—also a great deal.

The combination suits—corset cover and petticoats and corset cover and drawers—have entirely done away with separate articles of underwear and with the chemise, chiefly because they do away with unnecessary fullness.

The young woman at the lingerie counter in one of the stores who is just back from a buying tour in the east says that American women refuse to wear the chemise, and that the French makers of hand embroidered underwear are now making the combination suits especially to please the women in this country.

Some of these combination suits are being shown in Omaha stores for the first time this spring. The combination with night gown to match in material and ornamentation, form a set, and bid fair to supersede the French hand embroidered sets of chemise, drawers and night gown.

An entirely new article of underwear is the Knickerbocker drawers, which are straight and scant. They either tie at waist and knee or are fastened with elastic.

Night gowns are made of the same soft materials as the other lingerie and are made on kimono and slip-over lines. They are trimmed with lace and hand embroidery. Sleeves are very short and ruffled.

Colored ribbons are still used in lingerie. But although black and dark colors are used by eastern women, only pink and blue ribbons are in the lingerie shown here. Blue is the favorite color. "We buy twice as many sets with blue ribbons as with pink," said the head one of one of the lingerie departments. The ribbons are made into soft, dainty bows and flowers, the large, heavy bows being seen no more.

Nobody is Too Old to learn that the sure way to cure a cough, cold or sore lungs is with Dr. King's New Discovery. 50c and $1.00. For sale by Beaton Drug Co.

Kimono Sleeves Are Gone from the New Style Waists

There are many new notes in waists, chief of which is the new coesack blouse, which has a deep plenum below the waist line. In the chiffon, mesaline, marquisette and crepe waists shown at Hayden Bros. bertha and scarf effects seem to take precedence and all are elaborately trimmed with lace. They have high and Dutch necks and three-fourths sleeves. The kimono sleeve has gone, all this season being set in.

The lingerie waist holds its own against all innovations and none is prettier than the all-over lace waists. Kilpatrick's have some handsome waists of Irish crochet lace made in one piece. Irish crochet lace is on most of the nicest waists and Valenciennes, macrame and Venice laces are also combined with hand embroidery.

In crepe waists there is a new crepe shirt which ought to be very popular, since it is plain and comfortable, being made exactly like a man's shirt, and will wash as well as a cotton fabric. These shirts have turnover collars and turnback cuffs and are white striped with black, blue, lavender and other colors.

Another very comfortable style for summer is the linen waist with low neck and sailor collar and elbow sleeves with turnback cuff. They have either one broad plait at the shoulder or a group of narrow plaits down the front. The collars are of different shapes and some are made from different materials from the waist. Some have plique collars and cuffs, or cotton corduroy of black and white, blue and white or lavender and white striped goods.

The regulation tailored white linen waists are being elaborated down the front and in the cuffs with hand embroidery.

Navigating the Mountains. When the Armenian massacres were commencing the interest and sympathy of the civilized world, a newspaper correspondent rushed excitedly one day into the office of Assistant Secretary of State A. A. Adee with the question: "Mr. Secretary, will you tell me definitely whether or not the United States government will send any battleships to Armenia?"

"No ships will be sent there," replied Adee, with great gravity. "Navigation, I am informed, has not been good in the vicinity of Ararat since the time of Noah's ark."—Popular Magazine.
