

A TREMENDOUS DEMAND THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY

Druggists Are Sending In Rush Orders for New Remedy. HAS A MISSION TO ACCOMPLISH

Is Making Nervous Men and Women in the Whole World Healthier and Happier and Better Able to Cope with Life.

No other preparation has ever been sold in America for which there is such a tremendous demand, as "Tona Vita."

The medicine was unknown in this country until a few months ago, and today the sale of the tonic is so large that it has been impossible to prepare it fast enough to supply the sudden and great demand.

Druggists from all over the country are sending in wires about as follows: "Rush more Tona Vita. Last shipment all gone. Sale tremendous."

No medicine could be so tremendously successful unless it had a mission to accomplish and was accomplishing that mission.

"Tona Vita" is accomplishing its mission. It is making tired-out, debilitated, nervous men and women, hapless, healthier and better prepared to cope with life.

Nervous debility is the curse of this age. It is produced by the strain of modern life. The symptoms of this disease are little vitality or ambition; tired, dragging feeling of both mind and body; nervousness and depression of spirits; stomach and liver trouble, constipation, headaches, poor circulation, and susceptibility to coughs and colds.

"Tona Vita" is relieving thousands of this miserable condition. It will positively do this, where there is not some serious organic trouble, in a remarkably short time.

Very first dose will bring improvement, and each following dose adds health and strength. The tonic must prove satisfactory or the price is returned by our recognized agent. Don't drag around, half dead, any longer. What "Tona Vita" is doing for thousands, it will do for you.

RODGERS IS KILLED BY FALL

First Man to Cross Continent in Aeroplane Meets Death.

WAS FLYING OUT OVER OCEAN

Feats of Skill at Long Beach, Cal., Result in Two Hundred-Foot Fall—Body is Crushed in the Wreckage.

LONG BEACH, Cal., April 4.—Calbraith P. Rodgers, the first man to cross the American continent in an aeroplane, was killed here almost instantly at 3:35 yesterday, when the Wright biplane in which he had been soaring over the ocean, fell from a height of 300 feet and buried him in the wreck. His neck was broken and his body badly crushed by the engine of his machine. He lived but a few moments.

Rodgers for a week past had been making daily flights here and had taken up with him many passengers, both men and women. Today he started from his usual place and soared out over the ocean, crossing the pier and then turned and dipped close to a roller coaster in a beach amusement park.

Seeing a flock of gulls departing themselves just over the breakers, Rodgers again turned and dove into them, scattering the sea fowls in all directions. Highly elated over the outcome of his dive, Rodgers then flew farther out to the sea, all the time gradually rising until he had reached a height of about 300 feet.

He Loses Control. Making a short turn he started at full speed for the pier, then suddenly dipped his planes and his machine began a frightful descent. Rodgers was seen by hundreds of persons to release his hold on the levers and then seemingly realizing that he was in danger, he made strenuous efforts to pull the nose of his machine into a level position. Falling in this he managed to turn the craft further inshore and an instant later it crashed into the edge of the surf, not 50 feet from the spot where on December 10 last, he had finished his ocean to ocean flight.

Many men rushed to his aid. Ernest Scott and James Goodwin, life guards, were the first to reach him. They said Rodgers' head was hanging over one wing of the machine, the heavy engine was on his back and his feet were drawn up, nearly doubling over his shoulders. Blood was flowing from his mouth.

Rodgers was lifted from the wreck and hurried to the bath house hospital. He died on the way.

Examination showed that Rodgers' neck, jaw bone and back had been broken.

Leaves Wife and Mother. A telegram was sent to the aviator's widow, who lives in Pasadena, and a cablegram to the mother, Mrs. H. S. Shweitzer, who is now in London.

The body was prepared for burial and sent to Pasadena tonight.

The machine that Rodgers used today was the one with which he won $1,000 in prizes last summer at the Chicago endurance meet. It is a total wreck, many parts having been swept out to sea by the tide.

Rodgers' cousin, Lieutenant John Rodgers, United States Navy, is attached to the aeroplane section of the navy, stationed at San Diego.

Charles Shaffer, a close friend of Rodgers, who came here on a special train that followed the aviator on his transcontinental trip, witnessed the accident.

Charles Wigdams of Dayton, O., whom Rodgers brought here to teach flying, stood on the pier and saw his friend fall while in the air. Mr. Shaffer said he had taken many flights with Rodgers, but the most imposing example of recklessness he had ever seen was yesterday.

"We had risen to a height of about 1,000 feet," said Shaffer, "and were off to the northeast. The wind was strong, but not puffy. Rodgers, feeling he was tired, laid back, folded his hands behind his head and stretched out his feet, seemingly enjoying the scenery. I said to him, 'You better watch out, Cal, the wind might get you.' But he answered, 'Oh, we're all right; she'll ride it now.'"

His Flight Across Continent. NEW YORK, April 2.—Members of the Aero Club of America received the news of Calbraith P. Rodgers' death tonight with expressions of regret. After his epoch-making flight across the continent he was tendered a banquet by the Aero club and honored with a gold medal.

Rodgers' transcontinental flight, begun at Sheepshead Bay race track, Brooklyn, September 12, 1911, was marked on the second day out by a crash into a tree and when within sight of Long Beach, his Pacific coast goal, he had a fall which laid him up for nearly a month.

Interpersed with these more serious accidents there was a succession of mishaps and lucky escapes during the trip, which with long delays due to adverse weather, made it a matter of three months before, on December 10, 1911, Rodgers finally landed at Long Beach and was acclaimed the world's aviation hero.

His persistence and nerve had carried him a distance of more than 5,000 miles. His machine was broken and repaired so many times that only the petrol tank and the drip pan of the original outfit remained when he reached the Pacific coast.

Defined Danger of Air. Rodgers had often talked of the deaths of other aviators. "Ethereal asphyxia or aerial somnolence," he said, "it lurks in the pockets of the upper air strata and acts considerably on the senses of an aviator, lulling him into a dreamy unconsciousness."

Rodgers' death makes 17 aeroplane fatalities since aviation began. He was the twenty-second American aviator to be killed.

ROOSEVELT HITS AT TAFT

Colonel Disputes Statement that President is Progressive.

CROWDS IN KENTUCKY LARGE

Record of Administration Criticized on Basis of Roosevelt's Definition of Progressive—Change in Taft's Supporters.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 4.—President Taft's statement that he is a progressive was disputed by Colonel Roosevelt in a speech here tonight. The former president said Mr. Taft in some of his acts had shown himself to be a reactionary. In support of this contention Colonel Roosevelt went over the record of the present administration in certain particulars and criticized it sharply.

The colonel's speech came at the end of the first day of his week of campaigning through West Virginia, Kentucky, Illinois and Pennsylvania.

He heark his record for speeches for the present campaign, delivering fifteen tonight. All but two were given at railway stations from his car. Everywhere he found large crowds and a cordial reception. The speech tonight was delivered in an auditorium.

The colonel gave his definition of a progressive, on the basis of which he undertook an analysis of the attitude of the administration toward a number of questions. He took up the railroad rate bill, enforcement of the pure food law, the conservation question and other subjects which have engaged the attention of the administration. Four years ago, Colonel Roosevelt said, Mr. Taft was supported by the progressives and opposed "by representatives of special privileges."

Speaking of the courts the colonel asserted that when the president said "those courts which declare that the people have no power to do social justice" that he "shows himself a reactionary."

In West Virginia Colonel Roosevelt spoke at Lonecreek, Hinton, Thurmond, Montgomery, St. Albans, Charleston and Huntington. Crossing the line into Kentucky, his first stop was at Ashland, where his car was switched from the regular train to a special for the run into Louisville. The colonel left the train at this point and spoke for fifteen minutes in a building made of pine board and tar paper, in which revival meetings are being held.

On the way to Louisville he made short speeches at Olive Hill, Morehead, Mount Sterling, Winchester, Lexington, Frankfort and Shelbyville. His speeches were in the main upon good citizenship and the right of the people to rule.

EIGHTH MISSOURI FOR T. R.

Roosevelt Men Refuse to Keep Split Delegation Agreement.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 4.—The eighth district republican convention here this afternoon elected F. A. White of Morgan county and G. A. Brownfield of Cooper county delegates to the national republican convention and instructed them for Theodore Roosevelt.

Roosevelt had sixty-four of the seventy-eight delegates, but under an agreement the national delegation was to have been divided.

Delegates refused to keep the agreement of party leaders and elected Roosevelt men.

Governor Hadley addressed the convention, asking the delegates to stand by the agreement and elect W. C. Irwin a delegate, but Irwin was defeated when his name was presented under instructions for Roosevelt. Irwin represented President Taft in the agreement for a split delegation.

Irwin was then nominated as an alternate, but declared he would not accept the nomination under Roosevelt instructions. He said no effort had been made in his district for the support of the president because of the agreement and charged the Roosevelt leaders with having broken their pledge.

PRICE OF HOGS KEEPS CONTINUALLY ON THE RISE

CINCINNATI, April 4.—(Special Telegram.)—Price Current says there is a further moderate movement of hogs to the markets, the receipts being curtailed in part by the bad condition of the roads in many localities. The total western slaughtering were 400,000 hogs, compared with 400,000 the preceding week and 520,000 last year. From March 1 the total is 2,200,000, against 2,400,000 a year ago, a decrease of 200,000 hogs.

Prices of hogs have been further advanced, the general average for further markets at the close being about $7.50 per 100 pounds, compared with $7.35 a week ago and $6.00 a year ago.

TAFT STRONG UP IN CEDAR

Sentiment Among Farmers Favors the President.

LAUREL REPUBLICANS ORGANIZE

Business Men and Farmers Unite in Expressions Favoring Renomination and Endorsement of Administration.

LAUREL, Neb., April 4.—(Special.)—From a Taft standpoint, Cedar county looks good. The same conditions which show a general trend of opinion toward Taft are shown here. The Taft petition for the formation of a Taft club was quite generally signed in and around Laurel and contains the names of most of the republican business men of the town and many of the farmers close by.

Everybody reports that Mr. Taft has made very perceptible gains during the last few days.

Jasper Knight, a retired farmer who now lives in Laurel, said: "I think the administration of President Taft on the whole has been beneficial to the farmer and generally satisfactory to them. I know of no one among my farmer acquaintances who affiliates with the republican party who wants a change politically."

W. F. Burton, living on a farm two miles from Laurel, said: "I have been for President Taft from the first, because I believe he tries to do what is for the best interests of the country as a whole, and it would be a serious mistake not to give him a second term."

Another influential farmer outspoken in favor of the president was C. E. Bessire. "I am for Taft first, last and all the time," said he. "I think him a mighty good man and has made good in every sense of the word. Since his inauguration as president of the United States he has been beset with difficulties which would have discouraged many men, but in spite of these he has met problems fearlessly and honestly and has generally solved matters right."

Otto Danielson another influential farmer of Cedar county, believes in the administration of President Taft. "Mr. Taft is honest and tries to do what is right. That is the kind of men we want. I do not know of any of my republican neighbors who will not vote for him. They are all pretty loyal republicans around where I live."

A democratic farmer who did not care to have his name mentioned said: "President Taft will get the nomination and will be elected, because he has made good."

Jury Renders Verdict For Hatters' Union

DANBURY, Conn., April 4.—A jury in the superior court today, by verdict answered negatively a question whether trade agreements between hat manufacturers and union hatters, in which the manufacturers agreed to employ only members of the union in their shops, were contrary to public policy in that they deprived non-union journeymen hatters from earning their living. The decision of the jury is claimed to be a victory for organized labor.

The case was that of Dominick O'Connor against Patrick H. Connelley and the Danbury hatters' union. O'Connor, formerly a member of the union, was suspended for non-payment of assessments at the conclusion of the strike in 1910, and lost his position in a local factory for that reason.

Mr. Connelley, who is now state labor commissioner, was formerly secretary of the hatmakers' association.

O'Connor sued for $5,000 damages, alleging that the loss of his position was due to an illegal conspiracy. The case involved the legality of the agreement entered into by twenty hat concerns in Danbury and Bethel and the United Hatters of North America as the basis upon which the strike was called off and work resumed in 1906 and 1910.

Nature's Way Is The Best.

Buried deep in our American forest we find bloodroot, queen's root, mandrake and stone root, golden seal, Oregon grape root and cherrybark. Of these Dr. R. V. Pierce made a pure glyceric extract which has been favorably known for over forty years. He called it "GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY."

This "Discovery" purifies the blood and tones up the stomach and the entire system in Nature's own way. It's just the tissue builder and tonic you require.

Dr. Pierce says:—"Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heartburn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on-coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken." Sold by all principal dealers in medicines.
