Roosevelt Sweeps Nebraska.

With but partial returns, the indications are none the less unmistakable that Colonel Roosevelt has swept Nebraska in the presidential preference primary by a majority over all his competitors.

Mistakes and Motives.

The world is freer to criticize a mistake than to consider a motive. It is working the fiddle-strings of popular applause for all they are worth.

Saving Time in the Home.

One of our economists, in discussing scientific management in the home, lays particular stress—and perhaps none too much—upon the element of time as a vital factor in economic efficiency.

dentals that are always crowding in unceremoniously upon a housewife or her servant. And yet, of course, since we name the home as woman's most natural sphere, we should like to see her attain all the skill and efficiency possible in maintaining it.

Resisting the Prosaic.

This is the season of spring fever. It is a very general malady, common to no particular section, and it attacks energetically healthy persons as freely as others.

Misuse of the Mail.

The federal government has never sanctioned the misuse of its mails, but it has endured a great deal of it. It is becoming more and more jealous on the subject, though, and exerting a very diligent effort to protect itself from this abuse.

Looking Backward This Day in Omaha

Thirty Years Ago—

The smallpox scare has broken loose again, and an appeal to the city council to take some radical measure has been signed by James A. Woodman, Howard Kennedy, J. H. Dumont, B. J. Cranston, Henry P. Rhoads and forty others.

Twenty Years Ago—

Stanley P. Hostwick and Miss Ella J. Reed were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Reed, 1099 South Twenty-ninth street at 5 p. m.

Ten Years Ago—

Rev. James Haynes, aged 75, a resident of Omaha since 1875, and well known to the Methodists of Nebraska and Iowa, died at his home, 289 Poppleton avenue.

People and Events

The battling average of the pace that kills now crowds the crepe-fringed score boards. Tears and honors for the men who stood aside that women and children might live.

THE PACE THAT KILLS.

Pittsburgh Dispatch: Does the hunger for speed and size compel the ignoring of safety? It certainly seems that this is a question of the utmost importance and may lead to an answer that requires the strong enforcement of the laws.

SECULAR SHOTS AT PULPIT.

New York Herald: The Montana man who excluded from a share in his estate members of the family who became clergymen was nearly a century removed from Stephen Girard and without any of Girard's reasons for this prejudice.

THE RUMS.

I saw a furnace where the roaring blaze Made heat to fashion things that folks demand. From precious metals, tools of every sort Thought out by brain and wrought by skillful hand.

SIZED UP BY EDITORS.

New York Post: As a presidential candidate Speaker Clark would be one of the most absurd figures ever seen on the stump. Success would be impossible for his party.

THE ICEBERG TERROR.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Only one-eighth of the weight of an iceberg is above the water line. A collision with the floating mountain below the surface is a fearful shock for the strongest ship.

REWARD FOR DEVOTION.

The dogs on the various polar expeditions are highly prized for their work, seal and fidelity. And as a reward for this devotion their masters killed and ate them. No wonder the animal creation has such a poor opinion of humanity.

OBLO POINTS A WAY.

Ohio's proposed constitution will have a provision that no law or no part of a law shall be declared unconstitutional except by a unanimous vote of the court of last resort.

DOMESTIC PLEASANTRIES. Catterton—Notice how Carster's wife makes up of late. Should think he would stop her.

Mrs. Groxx—Have you given up your automobile? Mrs. Bluffem—Yes. They're getting so common; I was arrested three times last week for speeding and my name didn't appear in the papers once.—Philadelphia Record.

"Why," asked the foreign suitor, "do you prefer this plain American to me, a man of titles?" "So is he a man of titles," replied the fair young betrothed, "and his titles have the advantage over yours, that they can stand an examination by a guarantee and trust company."—Baltimore American.

"Tom—that Miss Biggles is the poorest conventionalist I ever met. His Hovoes—is that so?" "Tom—Yes. The only thing she said to me the whole evening was, 'No,' and I had to promise to her to get her to say that."—Indianapolis News.

Agnes—What are you writing, Ethel, you will? Ethel—No. I'm writing my won't. Jack proposed last night and I told him I'd answer by mail.—Boston Transcript.

"Gerald, dear, suppose some friend of yours should ask you if you're not younger than you are, what would you say?" "Sweetheart, I'd say yes of course." "But that would be a lie and you would be punished for it some day." "Well, it would be lying in a good cause and I'd take the punishment cheerfully."—Chicago Tribune.

"He's the most careful man I ever knew." "That so?" "Yes. I asked him if he could change a $10 bill the other day, and what do you suppose he did?" "I don't know." "He made me show the $10 before he'd commit himself. Said he'd been touched for $5 that way before."—Detroit Free Press.

Percy—Miss Jane, did Moses have the same after-dinner complaint my papa's had? Miss Jane—Gracious me, Percy! What ever do you mean, my dear? Percy—Well, it says here the Lord gave Moses two tablets.—Lippincott's Magazine.

"They say a laboring man cannot choose a job, but must take what he can get." "Well, isn't that so?" "Yes, and it's odd, because as a matter of fact he can always take his pick."—Baltimore American.

KNOWING something about construction is worth a great deal when buying a piano. Each make of piano we sell show in their construction that the manufacturers have not been content to let "well enough" alone, but have gone ahead making improvements wherever possible, until they have attained the utmost degree of excellence.

Mason & Hamlin The Stradivarius of Pianos With the tension rod and sounding board rim, gives absolute assurance that the tone quality which is admired when the piano is new will remain a permanent attribute to the instrument.

Kranich & Bach containing the improved violin scale, doing away with the depression bar, is a most important advancement in the art of piano building.

The Krakauer, Hallet & Davis, Bush & Lane, Cable-Nelson and Kimball all have special features in construction that bring them within the class of high grade pianos.
