BROWN PITCHES GREAT BALL

Sioux City Twirler Has the Rourke Family at His Mercy. GAME PLAYED IN BAD WEATHER Errors by the Home Guard Made in Last Inning After Pitchers Become Numb—Hall is Hard Hit.

Sioux City, 6; Omaha, 6. Paul Brown, Sioux City's mound artist, by his gilt-edged hurling, held the Rourke ruckus in yesterday's game, while his teammates, with timely hits, managed to bat in six runs off Mark Hall's benders. It was Brown from the very beginning, and only three safe ones were garnered off his delivery. These came in the eighth inning, but did not materialize into tallies. Score, 6 to 6.

Weather is Chilly. The weather was cold and dismal and real ball playing was almost out of the question. Brown's wonderful pitching kept the Sioux City players from working very hard in the field, while the Omaha boys had to keep on the jump all the while. Omaha rolled up four errors, but three of them came in the last inning, when their fingers were almost numb with the cold. A good stand was turned out despite the unsettled and chilly atmosphere.

Only one man tried to steal during the game. Brooks in the second inning got to first on a hit and tried to steal, but was caught by pitched ball. Brooks struck out by pitched ball. Brown's passed ball: Arbogast. Wild pitch: Hall. Left on bases: Omaha, 3; Sioux City, 1. Umpires: Kinsale and Carter. Time of game: 1:45.
