SAUNDERS IS REAPPOINTED

Warden of Fort Madison Again Named by Board of Control.

SUSTAINED AFTER INQUIRY

Aged Woman, Suffering From Appendicitis, Carried From Burning Home in Des Moines on Stretcher.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 22.—(Special Telegram.)—Warden Saunders of the state prison at Fort Madison was today reappointed by the State Board of Control. The term is for four years and his first term expires May 1. He has had a somewhat stormy time in his position and last year was the subject of bitter attacks in a part of the press of the state, largely instigated by former convicts at the prison and political enemies. Attorney General Cosson appointed a commission of investigation, which is soon to make a report, but it is known the report will not denounce Saunders. When fire broke out in the residence of the Misses Clara and Bertha Heydingfelder, 311 Woodland avenue, this afternoon, the aged mother of the girls had to be carried out of the burning building on a stretcher. The mother, who is 59 years old, is suffering from appendicitis and is in a serious condition. She was brought to Des Moines Sunday from Des Moines, Mo. The house, a three-story structure, was practically destroyed.

FRANKLIN HOLDS BACK THE NEWS

ary alarm. I was told, however, that the story already had been sent." "No basis for Reassuring Statements." The reassuring statements sent out by the line in the early hours of the disaster next were made the subject of inquiry. "Tell the committee on what you based those statements," directed Senator Smith. "We based them on reports and rumors received at Cape Race by individuals and by the newspapers. They were rumors and we could not place our finger on anything authentic." "Had you heard from the Carpathia at that time?" "No, sir."

Mr. Franklin declared that the Olympic was sent this message: "Hadcock, Olympic: Rumored here Titanic sunk. Cannot confirm here. Expect Virginia alongside.—Franklin."

"At 2:00 p. m. we wired Hadcock to endeavor by all means to ascertain the whereabouts of Mr. Ismay and to advise us as soon as possible," continued Franklin.

"We followed this dispatch with another to Hadcock, in which we urged: 'Do your utmost to ascertain condition of Titanic; advise us fully disposition Titanic's passengers and where they will be landed.'"

Tells Morgan and Steele. "At 2:30 and 3:30 Monday evening," Mr. Franklin continued, "a message was received telling the fateful news that the Carpathia had reached the Titanic and found nothing but boats and wreckage; that the Titanic had foundered at 2:30 a. m. in 41:38 north, 50:24 west; that the Carpathia picked up all the boats and had on board about 65 Titanic's survivors, passengers and crew. This message was from Hadcock also.

"It was such a terrible shock that it took me several moments to think what to do. Then I telephoned two of our directors, Mr. Steele and Mr. J. P. Morgan, Jr. Then I went downstairs to the reporters. I began to read the message, holding it high in my hand; I had only read to the second line, which said that the Titanic had sunk when there was not a reporter left. They were so anxious to get to the telephones. "After that we got another message from Hadcock stating that 'Yamsi,' meaning Ismay, was on the Carpathia." Mr. Franklin then explained how the company wired the Olympic to get the names of the survivors and to stand by and relay them from the Carpathia.

"I want to say that during the entire day on Monday after our first message concerning the Titanic we considered the Titanic absolutely unsinkable. We never dreamed of such a thing and that there had been loss of life never entered our minds until we got Hadcock's awful message at 6:30 that evening."

Denies Censoring Wireless.

One by one Mr. Franklin read the telegrams that had been hurried through the air from shore to racing ships and from them back to the anxious ones on shore. All hope that some other vessel besides the Carpathia had picked up some of the Titanic's survivors was dispelled when the Olympic flashed word that neither the Italian nor the Tunisian had any of the Titanic's people aboard.

Senator Smith at this juncture sought to discover who had been tampering with the wireless operators or had been responsible for the failure of the wireless to get the news to shore earlier. Mr. Smith repeatedly asked the witness whether he had not had a conference Monday morning with Mr. Marconi or Mr. Sammis, chief engineer for the Marconi company.

"No, most emphatically," said the witness. "In no way did I attempt or cause to be attempted any censorship of the wireless."

"When you went aboard the Carpathia when it docked Thursday night," suggested Senator Smith, "did you see either Mr. Marconi, Mr. Sammis or the wireless operators?"

"No, I did not. I went direct to the Captain's room and asked to be shown to Mr. Ismay's room. He took me there. I talked with no one else."

Ismay Wanted Cedric Held.

"Did you receive at any time from anyone a request that the Cedric be held at New York until the arrival of the Carpathia?"

"Yes, sir." "What time was it received?" "At 5:23," said the witness, who said the telegram asked that the Cedric be held because the sender considered it "most desirable that the members of the crew be sent back on the Cedric, and declaring his intention of sailing on that ship himself. The sender also asked that clothing and shoes be brought to the dock for him when the Carpathia got in." "By whom was that signed?" asked Senator Smith.

"Yamsi." "Do you know who Yamsi is?" "Yes, sir. It is cipher for Mr. Ismay's signature. I sent in reply the following: 'Yamsi, Carpathia: Have arranged forward crew Lapland, sailing Saturday at Plymouth. We all consider most unwise to delay Cedric considering circumstances, Franklin.'"

No Order to Break Records.

Mr. Franklin read rule 33 of the White Star line, which instructed captains to disregard speed and distance in guarding against danger, and to remember always that the safety of the lives and property entrusted to their care was paramount.

"None of the commanders that I have ever had communication with ever got the idea from me that our company wanted records broken," said Franklin.

"The captain of the Carpathia," said the witness in answer to a question by Senator Bourne, "testified that when the Titanic struck the ice it was just exactly in the position it should have been according to the charts."

Asked what the speed of the Titanic was at the time of the collision Mr. Franklin responded: "I don't know."

"Wasn't it twenty-one knots an hour?" "I have absolutely no means of knowing."

No One Is Responsible.

"Has anything been done with the equipment of other ships as a result of the disaster?" asked Senator Bourne. "Most emphatically," answered Mr. Franklin. "On last Friday Mr. Ismay authorized that all our vessels be equipped with boats and rafts sufficient to take off every passenger and every member of the crew in case of accident." "Do you know of anyone, any officer or man or any official, whom you deem could be held responsible for the accident and its attendant loss of life?" "Positively not. No one thought such an accident could happen. It was undreamed of. I think it would be absurd to try to hold some individual responsible."

Senator Smith then returned to the subject of the messages exchanged on the day of the disaster. "Did you send any by cable?" he asked. "I did. They did not refer, however, to anyone aboard the Carpathia."

Senator Smith ordered the cablegrams placed in the record. They were not read. Mr. Franklin then was excused, but it was intimated that he would be recalled later.

Third Officer Testifies.

J. B. Boxhall then was called and questioned as to his duties. He said that as fifth, sixth, then third, and eventually fourth officer, his duties always consisted of assisting the senior officer in charge.

Senator Smith entered into a fire of questions dealing with the duties of the various officers. Gradually he worked up to his leading questions.

"Were there any drills or any inspection before the Titanic sailed?" he asked. "Both," said the witness. "The men were mustered and the lifeboats lowered in the presence of the inspectors from the Board of Trade."

"How many boats were lowered?" "Just two, sir."

"On each side of the ship?" "No, sir. They were both on the same side, sir. We were lying in dock."

The witness said he did not know whether the lowering tackle ran free or not on that occasion.

"In lowering the lifeboats at the test did the gear work satisfactorily?" "So far as I know."

Boxhall said that under the weather conditions experienced at the time of the collision the lifeboats were each supposed to carry sixty-five persons. Under the regulations of the British Board of Trade, in addition to the oars, there were in the boat water breakers, water dippers, bread, bakers, mast and sail and lights, and a supply of oil. All of these supplies, said Boxhall, were in the when the Titanic left Belfast. He could not say whether they were in when the vessel left Southampton.

"Now," repeated Senator Smith, "suppose the weather was clear and the sea untroubled, as it was at the time of the disaster, how many would the boat hold?" "Really, I don't know. It would depend largely on the people who were to enter. If they did as they were told I believe each boat could accommodate sixty-five persons."

Many people suffer from weak hearts. They may experience shortness of breath on exertion, pain over the heart, or dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals or their eyes become blurred, their heart is not sufficiently strong to pump blood to the extremities, and they have cold hands and feet, or poor appetite because of weakened blood supply to the stomach. A heart tonic and alternative should be taken which has no bad after-effect. Such is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which contains no dangerous narcotics nor alcohol.

The ingredients, as attested under oath, are Stone root (Collinsonia Canadensis), Bloodroot (Sanguinaria Canadensis), Golden Seal root (Hydrastis Canadensis), Queen's root (Stillingia Yuccifolia), Black Cherry bark (Prunus Virginiana), Mandrake root (Podophyllum Peltatum), with triple refined glycerine, prepared in a scientific laboratory in a way that no druggist could imitate.

This tonic contains no alcohol to shrink up the red blood corpuscles; but, on the other hand, it increases their number and they become round and healthy. It helps the human system in the constant manufacture of rich, red blood. It helps the stomach to assimilate or take up the proper elements from the food, thereby helping digestion and curing dyspepsia, heart-burn and many uncomfortable symptoms, stops excessive tissue waste in convalescence from fevers; for the run-down, anemic, thin-blooded people, the "Discovery" is refreshing and vitalizing. Stick to this safe and sure remedy, and refuse all "just as good" medicines offered by the druggist who is looking for a larger profit. Nothing but Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will do you half as much good.

Bishops Assemble for Meeting Today

LINCOLN, Neb., April 22.—Twenty-four bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church are in Lincoln tonight preparatory to their semi-annual meeting, which begins tomorrow and will continue a week. Of the twenty-four bishops fifteen are residents of the United States and nine of foreign lands. The official residences of the latter are in China, India, Malay, Argentina and Switzerland. Those present are: Bishops Warren, Waldon, Cranston, Moore, Hamilton, Berry, McDowell, Bushford, Burt, Wilson, Neely, Anderson, Neelson, Quayle, Smith, Lewis, Hughes, McIntyre, Bristol, Hartwell, Warner, Scott, Oldham and Robinson. Bishop Harris of Seoul, Korea, is the only active church dignitary unable to reach America in time for this meeting.

The gathering is regarded important, as it is preliminary to the quadrennial general conference of the church which will begin a month's session at Minneapolis May 1. At the Lincoln meeting the individual bishops will make reports of the progress of work in their different fields.

Bishop Bushford, who represents the China station, stationed at Peking, is expected to make an interesting report. In an interview this evening Bishop Bushford said he was reasonably sure the newly formed republic in China would live. In any event, he said, there never would be a return to the former order.

A constitutional monarchy was a possible compromise, but he believed the retention of a republic the more probable.
