City Case Decided.
After a long litigation, City Attorney Murphy received word yesterday that the supreme court had affirmed the decision of the lower court giving the city the right to tax property from Thirteenth to Twenty-fourth on Missouri avenue. The case of Carlson against the City of Omaha questioned the right of the city to levy taxes for the pavement of the street. A lower court decided in favor of the city and now a later decision of the supreme court makes assurance doubly sure.

Miller Sues for Assault.
The day after election August met his neighbor, Krueger, on the street and it is said, accused him of not supporting him for mayor, and that the members of his family had torn up his nice election cards, which did not do him a bit of good. One word led to another until August is alleged to have threatened his neighbor with a large club. This was resisted by Krueger, who started after August and chased him around the block two or three times. In crossing L street August jumped directly in front of a crosswalk car and narrowly missed getting run over. In the excitement he succeeded in getting into his store and barricading the doors and had the constable serve Krueger with papers.

Woman's Foot Found in Missouri River
Lars Christenson, 1215 Canton street, Omaha, found what appeared to be a woman's foot in the Missouri river at Gibson yesterday. A search was made of the vicinity, but with the exception of a few bits of clothing and some stained rags, nothing else was found. The police think the foot has been in the river for at least two weeks, but they are at a loss to know where the remainder of the body is. The foot is nearly severed a few inches above the ankle. Its delicate lines and smallness lead the officers to believe that it is that of a woman.
