

JOSLYN COURTS PROBING

Says Complaint Against Western Newspaper Union Not Serious.

CHARGE IS SELLING TOO LOW

Mr. Joslyn Says that it is the First Complaint He Has Heard of that Goods Were Being Sold Too Cheaply.

George A. Joslyn is not inclined to regard seriously the proceedings instituted against the Western Newspaper union in order to have it declared a trust.

The agitation has been started by a competitor in business, and I court a most thorough investigation, for I feel certain that such an investigation would demonstrate conclusively that there is nothing in the charges, which are most ridiculous," he says.

"It is complained that we are selling our ready prints at a price that prevents competition. There is no charge that we are selling them too high, but instead too low.

"This is a proposition where we are furnishing the country publisher his wares at living prices, cheaper than he can produce the same articles. They are with us, and so is the public. I have no fears of the outcome."

Mr. Joslyn, who is president of the Western Newspaper union, has just returned from the Pacific coast, where he

MARRIAGE AGENT QUILTS JOB

Tired of Task of Steering Couples to Rev. C. W. Savidge.

DOES NOT LIKE THE WORK

Savidge Says that Civil Marriages Cause Too Many Divorces and He Wants All People Married by Ministers.

Another Effort to Be Made to Open the Burlington Depot

Announcement again is made that the Burlington freight depot, Eighth and Farnam streets, will be formally opened after three different dates for the opening were set by the Commercial club and each was cancelled on account of bad weather and other reasons.

Representatives of the club will confer with General Manager G. W. H. Long and General Freight Agent C. E. Spent in the near future to make plans and a program for the occasion.

A month following a second excursion to the Union stock yards is planned. This trip will be personally conducted by Everett Buckingham, general manager, whose invitation has been before the club for some time and recently was accepted.

Water Bonds Are in Much Demand Among the Buyers

Bond buyers who have been reconnoitering for the Omaha water bonds, expecting to go on the market soon, think they have unearthed a deal by which the Water board was to dispose of the bonds through a preferred syndicate without advertising for bids.

Several syndicates were formed in the east to bid on these bonds, one of them headed by Kountze Bros., being said to have an understanding that its offer of one-half of 1 per cent premium on a 4 1/2 per cent basis was to be accepted.

The report is that the cheapness of money has brought on two other bids, one offering five-eighths of 1 per cent premium and the other three-fourths of 1 per cent premium, which last, on $7,000,000, would be better by $17,500 for the city.

Agents of the bond houses who have been seeking information have, however, been referred by the Water board members to their lawyers, and by the lawyers told that there was nothing yet doing.

Hospital Patients Are Hustled Out on Cold, Wintery Night

The building damaged by fire Wednesday was burned down twelve years ago when it was occupied by the street railway company as a car barn.

The thermometer registered several degrees below zero.

The frame buildings standing south of the present structure was then the Methodist hospital. About twenty patients, many of them very ill, were in the hospital at the time and as the frame structure was threatened firemen carried out the sick.

One woman, who had undergone a recent operation, was forgotten. A fireman was passing through the hall when from behind the door came her plea: "Mr. Fireman, you're not going to leave me, are you? He picked her up and carried her down stairs, the heaviest load he ever carried, for she weighed 220 pounds.

Several street cars were burned and much other damage done, but all the patients in the hospital were taken to places of safety and streams of water turned on the hospital building, which was saved.

Pauls of Florence Are Again in Court

Divorce court did not entirely settle the differences of John S. Paul, former mayor of Florence, and his former wife, Mrs. Nellie Paul.

The court yesterday with a suit against his wife, the issue of contention being the house she occupies at 716 State street, Florence.

Paul retained an action in forcible entry and detainer, asking that Mrs. Paul be forced to vacate the premises. The Paul divorce became fully in effect April 3.

Paul ordered his wife to surrender the house, declaring it his property. She said it was as much hers as his and refused to vacate. The case has been set for hearing Saturday morning.

YOUTH FOUND SHOOTING CRAPS WITH BILLIARD CUE

A frantic mother rushed into the office of the juvenile court yesterday morning. She singled out Mogy Bernstein, probation officer.

"Mogy, Mogy," she cried, "that boy of mine is shooting craps. Won't you come and get him."

She led the juvenile court official to a pool hall. Mogy looked around, but saw no craps shooters.

"Over there," said his mother, "see him by that table shooting craps with a stick."

The proprietor will be prosecuted, as the boy is under age. The mother was given charge of the young fellow and warned him that she would have him "shoot craps no more."

MILLARD IS IMPROVING. WILL RECOVER SPEEDILY

The condition of Joseph H. Millard was reported to be very much better yesterday morning. Dr. W. O. Bridges, the attending physician, looks for a speedy recovery.

WORKED 50 YEARS WITHOUT SALARY

An Interesting Negro Character Who Didn't Want Wages

HIS ORIGINAL WAY

Solved the Money Question on a Plan of His Own

An old negro who died last year in Richmond occupied a curious position in one of this country's busiest tobacco factories, having worked there for fifty years without salary.

Darvey John had been a slave in the family of the founder of the tobacco company and after the war John "just naturally stayed around," found himself work to do, did it in his own way, and came in time to regard his position as one of much importance.

His authoritative ways were smiled upon by the management and taken as a matter of course by other darkeys who were employed there. In fact, John rather thought the running of the factory depended on him and if he was sick for a day would send word down to lay off his imaginary subordinates until he could get back.

But John's greatest oddity was his attitude toward money. He pretended not to need any. Evidently he would have thought it belittling to draw money like ordinary wage earners.

One day some one asked "What is John's salary?" Whereupon it was discovered that John drew no salary. This looked like a curious oversight until it was learned that John had, with the silent consent of those "higher up," solved the money question in his own way.

When he wanted cash he got it in odd sums and at odd times at the pay window. The orders were to let John have what he wanted, but John's native shrewdness was shown in the fact that he never drew in excess of a reasonable amount.

The arrangement suited him entirely and seemed to help preserve his dignity and importance to the end.

John was always devotedly loyal to his old master and to the great business he had founded. He was a stout champion of "Tuxedo" tobacco. He regarded himself as sharing in the growing fame of the wonderful smoke produced by the Patterson process.

When sales outran the best possible shipments John felt all the anxiety of a full partner in the business. His death removed a familiar picture character.

Son of Hermann the Great to Appear at Beefsteak Dinner

An additional feature has been announced by the Omaha Ad club for its vaudeville show to be held Monday night in the Brandeis Pompeian room.

Don Carl Hermann, only living son of Hermann the Great and sole heir to the secrets of that great confuser, who will give a twenty-minute exhibition of leg-dance and sleight-of-hand.

In the announcement to be sent out by the entertainment committee, members have been warned to "keep their money in their socks and leave their jewelry at home, lest their gold be in another's pocket and their diamonds on another's shirt front; for Hermann does just that sort of thing."

Hermann has lived in Omaha more than a year, although he calls Vienna, Austria, his home. He has an art studio here.

Another feature of the Ad club's beefsteak vaudeville, as has been announced, will be the appearance of Max Martin, violin virtuoso. He is modestly announced as the second Kubelik and is well known throughout the country, having played on a number of theatrical circuits.

Omaha and Lincoln Highs Are to Debate Here This Evening

A handsome silver trophy cup, donated by the local Alumni association of Amherst college, will be competed for by the debating squads of the Lincoln and the Omaha High schools at the Creighton university auditorium this evening.

The Capital City lads have won the trophy twice in succession during the last three years and if they succeed in securing the judges' decision in this year's contest the cup will become their permanent property.

The immigrant question will be discussed. The purple and white squad, composed of Edwin Landale, George Grimes, Barney Kulakofsky and Carson Hathaway, alternate, will uphold the negative. The Lincoln team has not yet been announced.

Vice Principal C. E. Reed has announced the following judges for the event: Superintendent George E. Martin of Nebraska City, Superintendent C. Ray Gates of Blair and Principal Allen H. Congdon of Fremont.

Taxpayers Turn in $20,000 in One Day

Taxpayers turned in $20,000 to the city treasurer Wednesday and 5,000 more receipts were issued than on the same day a year ago. Real estate taxes become delinquent May 1 and property holders are now appearing to pay them, thus avoiding interest.

Ordinarily it has taken from ten to twelve days to get receipts out when the annual rush to avoid delinquency began, but Treasurer W. G. Ure announces that all will be served as soon as they apply this year and urges promptness in paying up.

Take Warning. Don't let stomach, liver nor kidney trouble down you, when you can quickly cure them with Electric Bitters, 50c. For sale by Beaton Drug Co.

Home from Pilot Trip

Fred Philpott of the Union Pacific's advertising department is home from the Pacific coast, whither he went to pilot the last of this season's tourist trains.

REGISTER NEXT SATURDAY

All Must Do So Who Would Vote at City Election on May 7.

THOSE MOVED MUST TRANSFER

Voters Who Were Sworn In at the Recent Primaries Must Also Be Registered Before They Can Vote.

Interest in the election May 7 is increasing and an effort is being made by civic organizations, interested business men and the candidates to poll the largest number of voters ever cast at an Omaha election.

To this end attention is being called to the fact that voters who have not registered must register Saturday, when registration boards will sit in all election precincts at the regular polling places.

Voters who failed to register last fall may register Saturday and voters who have not registered and have moved since the last election must register at their new voting place.

Voters who registered last fall but have since moved must secure transfer slips from the registration boards and their new voting place.

Those who were "sworn in" at the recent primaries are not registered and to vote must register. City Clerk Dan Butler is notifying a large number of voters to register Saturday if they desire to vote.

The Commercial club is also urging all to register. It is using large sized mailing cards.

Meningitis Causes Bill Karpis' Death

Another victim of spinal meningitis—Bill Karpis, 35 years old—died at the Omaha General hospital Wednesday.

There had been two or three weeks. Special serum had been used and an improvement noted, but death followed after a relapse. Karpis was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Karpis, 613 South Fifteenth street. His funeral will be private, in conformance to orders issued by the health department.

There is now but one other case of spinal meningitis known to be in the city. Precautions against other cases have been taken by physicians, who are co-operating in preventing further fatalities.

In the existing case the serum, supposed to be the only known remedy, has been used and recovery is probable.

Omaha Club Takes On White Waiters

A new deal at the swell Omaha club, greeted the members when they came in to lunch and found a "new corps of white waiters in the dining room, in place of the colored boys who have heretofore attended the tables.

The white waiters have been especially imported from Chicago, and are likewise distinguished by white canvas uniforms. The displaced colored waiters are supposed to be hunting other jobs at the different hotels and restaurants of this city.

GOLD DUST makes dish-washing easy

The use of a little Gold Dust in your dish-water will make your dishes whiter, sweeter and cleaner than they ever can be without it.

Unlike soap Gold Dust does more than clean the surface. It goes deep after germs and hidden food particles, and sterilizes everything it touches.

Gold Dust does all the hard part of the work without your assistance, because it begins to dissolve and clean the moment it touches the water.

When you have to wash dishes 1095 times a year, the Gold Dust method of saving half your time and half your labor means something.

Gold Dust is sold in 50 size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work"

DUBUQUE

is now one of the largest woodworking centers in the Middle West.

The Woodworking Factories employ over 1,500 men. There is work for 1,000 more. Two large Saw and Door Mills. Two big Coffin Factories. Two Church Furniture Shops.

In addition to this, practically all the other woodworking shops have increased their plants and manufacturing facilities and require additional help.

Any Millman or Cabinet Maker can get work in Dubuque. No Commission Charged. Address DUBUQUE INDUSTRIAL CORPORATION, Dubuque, Iowa

WORKED 50 YEARS WITHOUT SALARY

An Interesting Negro Character Who Didn't Want Wages

HIS ORIGINAL WAY

Solved the Money Question on a Plan of His Own

An old negro who died last year in Richmond occupied a curious position in one of this country's busiest tobacco factories, having worked there for fifty years without salary.

Darvey John had been a slave in the family of the founder of the tobacco company and after the war John "just naturally stayed around," found himself work to do, did it in his own way, and came in time to regard his position as one of much importance.

His authoritative ways were smiled upon by the management and taken as a matter of course by other darkeys who were employed there. In fact, John rather thought the running of the factory depended on him and if he was sick for a day would send word down to lay off his imaginary subordinates until he could get back.

But John's greatest oddity was his attitude toward money. He pretended not to need any. Evidently he would have thought it belittling to draw money like ordinary wage earners.

One day some one asked "What is John's salary?" Whereupon it was discovered that John drew no salary. This looked like a curious oversight until it was learned that John had, with the silent consent of those "higher up," solved the money question in his own way.

When he wanted cash he got it in odd sums and at odd times at the pay window. The orders were to let John have what he wanted, but John's native shrewdness was shown in the fact that he never drew in excess of a reasonable amount.

The arrangement suited him entirely and seemed to help preserve his dignity and importance to the end.

John was always devotedly loyal to his old master and to the great business he had founded. He was a stout champion of "Tuxedo" tobacco. He regarded himself as sharing in the growing fame of the wonderful smoke produced by the Patterson process.

When sales outran the best possible shipments John felt all the anxiety of a full partner in the business. His death removed a familiar picture character.

Omaha Club Takes On White Waiters

A new deal at the swell Omaha club, greeted the members when they came in to lunch and found a "new corps of white waiters in the dining room, in place of the colored boys who have heretofore attended the tables.

The white waiters have been especially imported from Chicago, and are likewise distinguished by white canvas uniforms. The displaced colored waiters are supposed to be hunting other jobs at the different hotels and restaurants of this city.

GOLD DUST makes dish-washing easy

The use of a little Gold Dust in your dish-water will make your dishes whiter, sweeter and cleaner than they ever can be without it.

Unlike soap Gold Dust does more than clean the surface. It goes deep after germs and hidden food particles, and sterilizes everything it touches.

Gold Dust does all the hard part of the work without your assistance, because it begins to dissolve and clean the moment it touches the water.

When you have to wash dishes 1095 times a year, the Gold Dust method of saving half your time and half your labor means something.

Gold Dust is sold in 50 size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work"

DUBUQUE

is now one of the largest woodworking centers in the Middle West.

The Woodworking Factories employ over 1,500 men. There is work for 1,000 more. Two large Saw and Door Mills. Two big Coffin Factories. Two Church Furniture Shops.

In addition to this, practically all the other woodworking shops have increased their plants and manufacturing facilities and require additional help.

Any Millman or Cabinet Maker can get work in Dubuque. No Commission Charged. Address DUBUQUE INDUSTRIAL CORPORATION, Dubuque, Iowa

WORKED 50 YEARS WITHOUT SALARY

An Interesting Negro Character Who Didn't Want Wages

HIS ORIGINAL WAY

Solved the Money Question on a Plan of His Own

An old negro who died last year in Richmond occupied a curious position in one of this country's busiest tobacco factories, having worked there for fifty years without salary.

Darvey John had been a slave in the family of the founder of the tobacco company and after the war John "just naturally stayed around," found himself work to do, did it in his own way, and came in time to regard his position as one of much importance.

His authoritative ways were smiled upon by the management and taken as a matter of course by other darkeys who were employed there. In fact, John rather thought the running of the factory depended on him and if he was sick for a day would send word down to lay off his imaginary subordinates until he could get back.

But John's greatest oddity was his attitude toward money. He pretended not to need any. Evidently he would have thought it belittling to draw money like ordinary wage earners.

One day some one asked "What is John's salary?" Whereupon it was discovered that John drew no salary. This looked like a curious oversight until it was learned that John had, with the silent consent of those "higher up," solved the money question in his own way.

When he wanted cash he got it in odd sums and at odd times at the pay window. The orders were to let John have what he wanted, but John's native shrewdness was shown in the fact that he never drew in excess of a reasonable amount.

The arrangement suited him entirely and seemed to help preserve his dignity and importance to the end.

John was always devotedly loyal to his old master and to the great business he had founded. He was a stout champion of "Tuxedo" tobacco. He regarded himself as sharing in the growing fame of the wonderful smoke produced by the Patterson process.

When sales outran the best possible shipments John felt all the anxiety of a full partner in the business. His death removed a familiar picture character.

Omaha Club Takes On White Waiters

A new deal at the swell Omaha club, greeted the members when they came in to lunch and found a "new corps of white waiters in the dining room, in place of the colored boys who have heretofore attended the tables.

The white waiters have been especially imported from Chicago, and are likewise distinguished by white canvas uniforms. The displaced colored waiters are supposed to be hunting other jobs at the different hotels and restaurants of this city.

GOLD DUST makes dish-washing easy

The use of a little Gold Dust in your dish-water will make your dishes whiter, sweeter and cleaner than they ever can be without it.

Unlike soap Gold Dust does more than clean the surface. It goes deep after germs and hidden food particles, and sterilizes everything it touches.

Gold Dust does all the hard part of the work without your assistance, because it begins to dissolve and clean the moment it touches the water.

When you have to wash dishes 1095 times a year, the Gold Dust method of saving half your time and half your labor means something.

Gold Dust is sold in 50 size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work"

DUBUQUE

is now one of the largest woodworking centers in the Middle West.

The Woodworking Factories employ over 1,500 men. There is work for 1,000 more. Two large Saw and Door Mills. Two big Coffin Factories. Two Church Furniture Shops.

In addition to this, practically all the other woodworking shops have increased their plants and manufacturing facilities and require additional help.

Any Millman or Cabinet Maker can get work in Dubuque. No Commission Charged. Address DUBUQUE INDUSTRIAL CORPORATION, Dubuque, Iowa

WORKED 50 YEARS WITHOUT SALARY

An Interesting Negro Character Who Didn't Want Wages

HIS ORIGINAL WAY

Solved the Money Question on a Plan of His Own

An old negro who died last year in Richmond occupied a curious position in one of this country's busiest tobacco factories, having worked there for fifty years without salary.

Darvey John had been a slave in the family of the founder of the tobacco company and after the war John "just naturally stayed around," found himself work to do, did it in his own way, and came in time to regard his position as one of much importance.

His authoritative ways were smiled upon by the management and taken as a matter of course by other darkeys who were employed there. In fact, John rather thought the running of the factory depended on him and if he was sick for a day would send word down to lay off his imaginary subordinates until he could get back.

But John's greatest oddity was his attitude toward money. He pretended not to need any. Evidently he would have thought it belittling to draw money like ordinary wage earners.

One day some one asked "What is John's salary?" Whereupon it was discovered that John drew no salary. This looked like a curious oversight until it was learned that John had, with the silent consent of those "higher up," solved the money question in his own way.

When he wanted cash he got it in odd sums and at odd times at the pay window. The orders were to let John have what he wanted, but John's native shrewdness was shown in the fact that he never drew in excess of a reasonable amount.

The arrangement suited him entirely and seemed to help preserve his dignity and importance to the end.

John was always devotedly loyal to his old master and to the great business he had founded. He was a stout champion of "Tuxedo" tobacco. He regarded himself as sharing in the growing fame of the wonderful smoke produced by the Patterson process.

When sales outran the best possible shipments John felt all the anxiety of a full partner in the business. His death removed a familiar picture character.

Omaha Club Takes On White Waiters

A new deal at the swell Omaha club, greeted the members when they came in to lunch and found a "new corps of white waiters in the dining room, in place of the colored boys who have heretofore attended the tables.

The white waiters have been especially imported from Chicago, and are likewise distinguished by white canvas uniforms. The displaced colored waiters are supposed to be hunting other jobs at the different hotels and restaurants of this city.

GOLD DUST makes dish-washing easy

The use of a little Gold Dust in your dish-water will make your dishes whiter, sweeter and cleaner than they ever can be without it.

Unlike soap Gold Dust does more than clean the surface. It goes deep after germs and hidden food particles, and sterilizes everything it touches.

Gold Dust does all the hard part of the work without your assistance, because it begins to dissolve and clean the moment it touches the water.

When you have to wash dishes 1095 times a year, the Gold Dust method of saving half your time and half your labor means something.

Gold Dust is sold in 50 size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work"

DUBUQUE

is now one of the largest woodworking centers in the Middle West.

The Woodworking Factories employ over 1,500 men. There is work for 1,000 more. Two large Saw and Door Mills. Two big Coffin Factories. Two Church Furniture Shops.

In addition to this, practically all the other woodworking shops have increased their plants and manufacturing facilities and require additional help.

Any Millman or Cabinet Maker can get work in Dubuque. No Commission Charged. Address DUBUQUE INDUSTRIAL CORPORATION, Dubuque, Iowa

I am offering a splendid non-fading, shine-proof blue serge made to order for $20. This offer also includes some nice grays and browns. Every garment stylishly tailored and perfect fitting. WILSON MacCarthy-Wilson Tailoring Co 304-306 South Sixteenth St.

BLATZ THE FINEST BEER EVER BREWED An Honest Wholesome Beverage for the Family Served with the meals it helps the appetite and digestion. BLATZ COMPANY 802-810 Douglas Street, Omaha, Neb. Phone: Douglas 5623

FIRST APPLICATION DARKENS GRAY HAIR You don't have to have gray hair or faded hair if you don't want to. Why look old or unattractive? If your hair is gray or faded, you can change it easily, quickly and effectively by using Weych's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. Apply a little tonight, and in the morning you will be agreeably surprised at the results from a single application. The gray hairs will be less conspicuous, and after a few more applications will be restored to natural color. Weych's Sage and Sulphur also quickly removes dandruff, leaves the scalp clean and healthy, and promotes the growth of the hair. It is a clean wholesome dressing which may be used at any time with perfect safety. Get a fifty cent bottle from your drug-gist today, and see how quickly it will restore the youthful color and beauty of your hair and forever end the nasty dandruff, itchy scalp and falling hair. All druggists sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if you are not satisfied after fair trial. Special agent, Sherman & McConnell.

Stays in Season

Water Bonds Are in Much Demand Among the Buyers Bond buyers who have been reconnoitering for the Omaha water bonds, expecting to go on the market soon, think they have unearthed a deal by which the Water board was to dispose of the bonds through a preferred syndicate without advertising for bids.

Hospital Patients Are Hustled Out on Cold, Wintery Night The building damaged by fire Wednesday was burned down twelve years ago when it was occupied by the street railway company as a car barn.

MILLARD IS IMPROVING. WILL RECOVER SPEEDILY The condition of Joseph H. Millard was reported to be very much better yesterday morning. Dr. W. O. Bridges, the attending