Coroner Prepares Verdict. HALIFAX, April 27.—Documents giving verdicts of "accidental death," were prepared here today in readiness for the coroner's jury, which will inspect the bodies of the Titanic's dead now on their way here on board the cableship Mackay-Bennett.

Stone cutters were set at work today inscribing a number of head stones which will mark the graves of those bodies unidentified or unclaimed, which will be buried in Halifax cemetery.

No further news regarding the position of the cable ship was received here this morning. The latest information is that it will arrive either late Sunday night or Monday morning.

The White Star line officials persist in their refusal to admit to the dock any besides friends and relatives of the dead. More than 100 of the bereaved are already here from various parts of the United States.

Every Facility Afforded. Arrangements have been made with the express companies to permit of the shipment of bodies immediately after their identity has been established to all parts of Canada and the United States. All the formalities in connection with the crossing of the line will be waived.

A full description of the unidentified bodies will be taken and forwarded to the New York office of the White Star line. It is the intention of the company to publish them in papers throughout the United States and Canada. If a body is claimed after burial the mayor of Halifax has promised that there will be no difficulty in getting it exhumed and shipped to relatives.

Extraordinary precautions have been taken to guard the dock at which the Mackay-Bennett will tie up. The coffins which contain the bodies will not be opened until they reach the city morgue. Here they will be placed in charge of a local undertaking company and full opportunity will be given those who prove their right to view the bodies and make identifications. The coroner's jury will make its inspection at the morgue.

The Mackay-Bennett will not arrive here until Monday, according to a wireless from the steamship received here today. It was signed "Mackay-Bennett" and was as follows:

"Confirm bodies of Astor and Straus on board. Due Monday with 139 bodies." As 25 bodies have been picked up it is assumed that 114 bodies were so misplaced that burial at sea was necessary.

Hotel Men Victims of Practical Jokers

While merriment was at its height last night at the dance and ball given at the Home by the Nebraska and Iowa Hotel Clerks' association, Joe Keenan and J. W. O'Brien, both prominently identified at the Henshaw hotel, were "arrested" by Detectives Dunn and Fleming for "doing the bear-cat." Keenan and O'Brien thought the affair was spoiled when they were taken in the patrol wagon to the police station and lodged in jail. Afterwards when they were released upon a bond furnished by F. J. O'Brien and they returned to the dance, they found that the affair was not spoiled, but was only made more interesting as the result of the efforts of some practical joker, whose identity could not be learned.

Keenan and J. W. O'Brien were the prime movers in the arrangements for the ball, and it was largely through their efforts that it was made a success. They became so enthusiastic in their efforts that they attracted the attention of the funny man in the hotel clerks' association and their "arrest" followed.

At the police station both were "searched" and hustled into a cell, and after about ten minutes there they were released upon "bond." Both of the victims made all haste back to the Home to reassure their friends. The last the police

Maennerchoir is to Sing at Commercial Club's Big Rally

The seventy-five male voices of the combined Maennerchor and Orpheus societies, which will give the feature of the entertainment at the Commercial club membership rally in the Auditorium, May 6, will have for an audience not less than 1,500 men.

While these singing organizations have got together and are practicing on a specially prepared program, the various committees of the Commercial club are rounding up acceptances of invitations from hundreds of new and old members to hear them.

Val Peters is the leading spirit in creating spirit among the singers, even though they themselves are surcharged with enthusiasm over the club's membership rally. The announcement of their numbers is the only word the "outside world" has received regarding the nature of the evening's entertainment, the committee working on that being desirous of keeping things quiet in order that the many surprises they promise may be "sprung" with double success. They seem satisfied to let things go with the mere assertion that "there will be lots of music, instrumental and vocal, and enough vaudeville numbers to keep everybody in happy mind throughout a long evening."

Speakers Are Secured. Two speakers will address the assembly and each give out only fifteen minutes of effervescent, pungent remarks about Omaha, Omaha's future and the Commercial club. Who these men will be also is listed in the secrets of the entertainment committee.

The keynote of the whole affair will be "acquaintance and good fellowship," the great number of new members having made the grand rally a necessity. In order that no new member may be overlooked by the outstretched hands, the old and new members are to be designated by badges. Discrimination will be through blue and white cards hung from the laps of everybody there; the blue to be worn by the old members and the white by those recently garnered in the club's membership campaign.

Instructions are being sent out to those who have accepted invitations (and acceptances are coming in while the workers have not yet finished sending invitations out) to notify their wives that they won't be home the evening of May 6. The club does this merely to protect its members.

Will Not Miss It. There are many members who had planned being out of the city at the time set for the rally, but who have changed their plans that they may not miss anything.

Joseph Barker, erstwhile King Ak-Sar-Ben XVII, now chairman of the Commercial club rally entertainment committee, is giving up most other business cares to engineer what he believes will be the greatest rally the club has ever held. He is being assisted by Sidney W. Smith, W. L. Burgess, F. E. Zeller and J. J. Deight.

The musical part of the program is being handled by George T. West, Fred Pattenrath and F. T. B. Martin. It is due to their work and to the friendliness of the Maennerchor and Orpheus and the big drawing card of the rally, the choral numbers of those two organizations, that the success of the affair in the Auditorium practically now is assured.
