NOTED PHILANTHROPIST DIES

Dr. D. K. Pearsons Expires in Sanitarium Near Chicago.

VAST SUMS

Amazzed Great Fortune and Ther Decided to Dispose of it All Before He Passed Away, and Succeeded.

CHICAGO, April 25.-Funeral service for Dr. D. K. Pearsons, the aged philan thropist, who died early today at a sani-tarium in Hinsdale, Ill., will be held next Tuesday afternoon. Interment will be at Hinsdale.

Scores of college presidents whose in stitutions received gifts from Dr. Pear sons will attend the services. Before sons will attend the services. Detore his death Dr. Penrsons gave $5,000,000 to small colleges in different parts of the country, it being his desire to dispose of his entire fortune before he died.

He suffered with pneumonia for nearly a week and appeared to be improving shortly before the end came. He died with a prayer on his lips.

Daniel L. Pearsons, one of the greater western philanthropists, and a firm be liever in the wisdom of every rich man becoming his own administrator and executor, was born in Bradford, Vt. April 14, 1830, descended on both sides from Scotch-Irish revolutionary ancestors. On his mother's side he was a descend ceived a good education which, at the age of 16 years, enabled him to become a school teacher. He followed that occupation for five winters and, at the age of 21 years, entered Dartmouth college, where he remained two years.

Fellowing this he pursued a course of medical study at Woodstock and after graduating moved to Chicopes. Mass. where he engaged in the practice of medicine. There he married Miss Marietta Chapin and contrived to save $5,000, with which capital he went west in 1867. For a while he lived in Ogle county, Illinois where he had purchased a large farm and then he went to Janesville, Wis., to practice medicine again. But the life of a doctor did not appeal to him and he decided to seek a large field for his energy and ambition

Was Money Lender.

He went to Chicago and engaged in the real estate and money-lending business. He handled large tracts of land for corporations and private individuals and sold more than 1,000,000 acres of land in Illinois alone. In seventeen years he in tillinois atome. In seventeen years he loaned upward of $30,000,000 for capitalists who employed him as their agent. But in 1877 his own business has assumed such proportions that he was obliged to give it his exclusive attention. A firm be-liever in the ultimate prosperity of Chicago he bought city property freely dur-ing that period of depression following the panic of 1873 and carried it until the rise in values netted him an enormous profit on his original investment.

When the financial condition of Chicago was at the lowest ebb Dr. Pearsons rendered valuable services to the city by actually saving the credit and reputation for honosty of the city. Elected adder-man from the First ward, Dr. Pearsons was appointed chairman of the finance committee. He found the city treasury empty, depleted by acts of great extrava-gance. The city's indebtedness was greatly in excess of the constitutional limit and to meet the demands upon it the city had issued certificates, the legal ity of which was disputed in the courts Many of these certificates had been taken by eastern bankers and other capitalists who became alarmed at the situation.

Aids Chicago. In this emergency Dr. Pearsons went to New York to confer with the financial powers on Wall street. His earnest manner and straightforward course produced a good effect. He had come officially as a member of his city's com-mon council and privately as a capitalist and man of honor, to assure them that Chicago meant to pay its debts. He pledged his individual word and that of his city that, no matter who might be in power, and no matter how the courts might decide, Chicago was sure to mee its certificates of indebtedness, principa and interest, promptly on time, dollar for

He succeeded in allaying the fears of with the knowledge that Chicago's credit was fully restored. It may be added that, although the courts decided that the much discussed certificates were practically only waste paper, the city never repudiated them, but, as Dr. Pearsons had pledged his word would be the case, all were paid in full.

Gives Wealth Away.
In 1877 Dr. Parsons retired from active business and announced his intention to devote the rest of his days to giving away his wealth, acquired by hard work and unusual shrewdness, so that it would do the most good. "To know how to make money," he said on one occasion, "is one science; to know what to do with it when acquired, is another science, and the latter should be carefully studied by the possessor of wealth before he divides his groperty. For a man on his death-bed to scatter his fortune in a haphasbed to scatter his fortune in a haphan-ard, goody-goody way to a dozen objects of very different merits, is unreasonable. All this should be done with a clear brain, after careful thought and in the brain, after careful thought and in the vigor of his own best years."

Unlike many other men of wealth he practiced what he preached and during the years following his retirement from business he distributed more than $6.00,-000 among more than twenty-five small colleges, mostly located in the west and south, hospitals and a few seminaries, the latter nothwithstanding the fact that church. He was among the founders of the Vermont Society of Illinois and one of its first presidents. He also was an active member of the Chicago Historical

toddard=Dayton 1912 Line

Successful motor-car manufacture demands continual improvement of proven products, and either increased values or lower prices year by year.

Enhanced values or lower prices are possible only by economies effected by better manufacturing and selling methods and facilities, and by quantity production.

To this end the United States Motor Company was formed by successful makers.

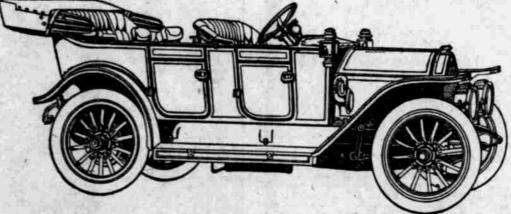

With an already wonderful car, with a wonderful record and reputation, the Stoddard-Dayton, since joining the United States Motor Company, has been able in two years to effect economies and improve its cars until in 1912 each dollar buys half as much again as was possible two years ago.

We gratefully recognize the satisfaction our cars have given in the past eight years, and are proud of the pride of ownership expressed by Stoddard-Dayton owners.

But we are confident they will regard 1912 Stoddard-Daytons as the most extraordinary values ever offered in QUALITY CARS.

The lines of all the body designs tend toward extreme simplicity. The effect is striking. The use of running-board toolboxes does away with all unsightly battery boxes, gas tanks, etc., that mar the appearance of the usual car. Neatness and simplicity are carried to a still further impressive state by removing from the dash everything except the gasolene and oil pressure gauges and the small cover of the coil.

The forward part of the bodies has been widened considerably, giving ample space for the working of control and brake levers inside the body. The front seats of the "Knight" and "Saybrook" Touring cars and Torpedo models are adjustable forward and back, to accommodate drivers of various leg-lengths who have found no car that exactly fitted them.
