LEE PUTS HEARING OVER

Broom Man Objects to Action in Governor's Absence.

ALSO OBJECTS TO PUBLICITY

Belief is Objection to Employing Many Convicts Will Be Unsatisfactory Working Conditions at Penitentiary.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, May 3.—(Special.)—Clinton R. Lee of the Lee Broom and Duster company, met the members of the Board of Public Lands and Buildings this morning to discuss matters connected with the employment of prison labor under the contract his firm has with the state. Ever since the trouble at the prison he has been employing from 125 to 175 whereas his contract calls for 225 daily and the state has proffered him that number, with the exception of a few days following the trouble. Mr. Lee has refused to take them, but declines the reason is his company is overstocked with manufactured goods. It was to settle the question of employment that the meeting was called. At the outset Mr. Lee, observing the presence of newspaper men, asked if the hearing was to be an open one. Being informed by Land Commissioner Cowley, and backed up by the other members present, that it was, Mr. Lee offered decided objections. The board members asserted they had nothing to conceal, but Lee insisted that the newspaper men misrepresented him and his concern and wanted an executive session, which the board declined to grant. Then Mr. Lee took another tack and asked that the meeting be postponed until tomorrow afternoon, owing to the absence from the city of Governor Aldrich, who is a member of the board, and this was granted. Incidentally Mr. Lee fortified himself for the hearing by paying on account of his contract $4,027.35, which squares up for January and February, leaving March and April still due. It is for these latter months that the controversy arises over the charge for time of convicts contracted for, but not used by the firm.

Conditions Unsatisfactory. The hearing did not proceed far enough today to develop definitely what defense the contractor will offer for not working the men, but from remarks dropped at the meeting and elsewhere it is thought his contention will be that conditions at the prison render it impracticable to work the full force and it is also understood that he will claim the present officials and guards, by reason of their inexperience render it unsafe and that he cannot get foremen to supervise the work and that working conditions are therefore unsatisfactory. The board, however, insists there has never been a time in the history of the prison when discipline was better or as good and there has never been so capable a set of officials, taken as a whole, as now, and that this is particularly true of the guards, upon whom principally lies the responsibility for handling the convicts while at work. Board members say they will insist on compliance with the terms of the contract, not only to safeguard the financial interests of the state, but for the good of the prisoners. Another matter, which is taking the attention of the board at present is the proposed action of the state against the bondsmen of the contractor for the building erected at the Norfolk hospital for the insane. The state was compelled to take over and finish the work and the cost of this, added to what was paid the contractor, was approximately $20,000 more than the contract price of the building. Former Treasurer Brian and former Secretary of State Junkin, who were on the board at the time, have been at the capital this week assisting the present board to figure out the amount the state is out in order that the suit may be brought. The Board of Public Lands and Buildings is advertising for bids for the erection of a large barn on the state experimental farm at Curtis.

Half Minute Store Talk—

Here's something perhaps you've often thought of—but it's doubtful if any one, even your shoeman, has ever been able to explain to you. "What is meant by the size of a shoe?" A size is 1/3 of an inch. The smallest size is 6, infant's size—which according to an adopted standard is 3 1/2 inches long. They run up to 12—which is approximately 8 1/4 inches long. Men's sizes start from there and each size represents 1/3-inch in length. There is 1/4-inch difference between widths. It is not known why or where this size standard was adopted. Our shoe stock contains every size and width a man or boy wears.

Central City Couple Charges Fraud in Real Estate Deal

CENTRAL CITY, Neb., May 3.—(Special.)—Charging that they were the victims of a real estate swindle, Benjamin Jackson and Ida Jackson, his wife, colored, and ex-slaves, have brought suit in the district court of Merrick county against Axel C. Thompson and Joseph Larson of Wheeler county. The plaintiffs claim that in their old age they went onto a homestead in Wheeler county and finally proved upon a section of land under the provisions of the Kinkaid law. In the summer of 1910, they say, the defendants approached them and represented to them that they owned a fine forty-acre tract in Oklahoma, which they desired to exchange. They represented the Oklahoma land, so the petition alleges, as being a fine little farm of very rich and fertile soil, with ten acres of fine timber, with many fine fruit trees thereon and with a house and barn and outbuildings of a substantial and valuable nature. On these representations the Jacksons say that they exchanged their Wheeler county homestead for this Oklahoma tract, receiving a cash difference of $175. They claim that their homestead had about $1,000 worth of improvements on it and that it is worth $2,000. They allege that the fertile forty-acre tract had no improvements but a rotten little dugout, the land was poor and barren, there was no fine timber and no fruit of any kind. They claim that the place was worth no more than $50. They ask a judgment against Thompson and Larson for $2,500, which they claim is the difference in value between the Oklahoma land and their homestead. The Jacksons have been making their home in Central City for the last few months.

Echtencamp Insists That He Feared Flegge

PENDER, Neb., May 3.—(Special Telegram.)—Albert Echtencamp resumed the witness stand this morning in the case of William Flegge. He persistently stuck to his story about the shooting at the Flegge home and although questioned over and over as to why he did not report it sooner, he gave but the one answer "That he was afraid of William Flegge." The state rested its case at the conclusion of Echtencamp's testimony. The first witness put on the stand by the defense was Chris Wischoff, a neighbor of the Flegges. Mr. Wischoff was census enumerator in the precinct where the Flegges live and testified that while taking the census in April, 1910, he took dinner at the Flegge home, and spent some time there. He found the relations existing between William Flegge and his sister, Louise, to be very pleasant in every way. Fred Flegge, a brother of the accused man, was next called. He also stated that his brother and sister got along pleasantly together and testified what took place after his arrival at their home on the day of the murder. The deposition of George Bannon, a mail carrier at Wakefield, who carries mail through the Flegge neighborhood, was admitted. In it he states he passed the Flegge home about 2 o'clock on the day of the murder and saw Albert Echtencamp coming out of the cornfield with a team. Mrs. Henry Frewert, sister of the defendant and the murdered woman, was called to the witness stand and bore testimony to what took place at their home on the evening of the murder after her arrival. She testified to the finding of her sister's pocketbook which was reported stolen.

BERWYN MAN CHARGED WITH WIFE ABANDONMENT

BROKEN BOW, Neb., May 3.—(Special.)—William B. Meeker of Berwyn has been arrested on the charge of abandoning his young wife. According to his wife's statement to the county attorney the two are first cousins and owing to the fact they could not be married in this state, but went to Colorado three years ago, where the ceremony was performed. They returned to Berwyn and in last January, it is alleged, her husband disappeared, leaving her entirely without support. County Attorney Beal finally located Meeker at Comstock, this county, and Sheriff Wilson went over there the first part of the week and arrested him. When taken before County Judge Holcomb, the defendant refused to entertain any proposition regarding reconciliation or contributing toward the support of his wife. He was accordingly placed under $200 bonds to appear for preliminary hearing May 12. Bonds were furnished by the defendant's father.

Despondency Causes Man to End His Life

HARTINGTON, Neb., May 3.—(Special Telegram.)—L. Stingsfield, commonly known as "Doc," hung himself at Coleridge this morning. He came from Laurel, where he ran a pool hall, but was closed out. He attempted unsuccessfully to open one at Coleridge and despondency over his bad fortune, was probably the cause of his committing suicide. He was 45 years old and had two children living in Kansas. His wife is dead. He had $200 life insurance and he told his landlady at Coleridge today that he would be worth more dead than alive. Coleridge people saw him passing with a rope this morning, but thought nothing of it. The body was found in the Benson elevator with the feet just touching the floor.
