ANY local club women are in-M terested at present in national Conventions of the organiza-tions and societies to which their local societies are af-fliated. Mrs. Arthur Crittenden Smith, who is president of the Nebraska chapter of the Colonial Dames, and Mrs. Lowrie Childs, a member of the society, are both attending the national convention of this organization in Washington, D. C.

Smith and Mrs. Childs, both of whom are prominent members of the Omaha Society of Fine Arts, will remain at the national capital to attend the ma-tional convention of the American Federation of Arts, which opens next Thurs day and lasts until Saturday. Mrs. Smith will act as delegate to the convention in case Mrs. C. W. Russell, president of the Omaha society, is prevented from attending.

The other delegate to the arts cor vention from Omaha is Mrs. Z. T. Lindsey, who also may not be able to go. Her alternate is T. R. Kimball, who is an associate of the Omaha society. An Omaha member who has planned definitely to attend the national convention is Mrs. Clement Chase, who leaves Tuesday for Washington. Mrr. Halleck Rose may join the Omaha delegation at Washington. Other Omaha women are interested in church conventions. Mrs. 1. S. Leavitt left yesterday to attend the quadriennial meeting of the Methodist Episcopal church, being held this month in Minneapolis.

Next Saturday Mrs. J. E. Dodds will leave for Chicago to be present at the annual convention of the Women's General Missionary society of the United Presbyterian churches of North America, which will be held May 14 to 17.

Many of the larger women's clubs have held their annual business meetings and elections of new officers and have disbanded for the summer: Monday the Omaha Woman's club had its last open meeting, at which reports of officers, de partment leaders and chairmen of stand ing committees were read. The current topics, philosophy and lit-erature departments all held their closing meetings last week, which ends the de partment meetings with the exception of the French class, which will continue to tudy for another month.

When the Woman's club takes up its activities again next year under the new president, Mrs. C. W.
