NEWSPAPER UNION PROBE

House Judiciary Committee to Make Inquiry in Omaha.

BILL INTRODUCED BY TAGGART

Matter May Be Investigated Without Special Appropriation—Bureau of Soils to Make Survey in Otoe.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 10.—Special Telegram.—It is now proposed to have the judiciary committee of the house investigate the affairs of the Western Newspaper Union of Omaha to determine whether it has been conducting its business in violation of the anti-trust laws or in restraint of trade.

This is the action proposed by Representative Taggart of Kansas who introduced the bill today. Several weeks ago he offered a measure requiring that an investigation of a similar character be made by the Interstate Commerce commission and asked an appropriation of $5,000. Mr. Taggart stated today that his present measure required no appropriation and that the judiciary committee was authorized to conduct the investigation because it could do so without funds, jurisdiction already having been conferred upon it to probe such matters. He said further that he would ask for a hearing upon the matter and expected that his request would be granted.

Representative Stephens recently received an invitation from the president of the National Good Roads association Arthur C. Jackson of New Orleans, to make an address at their convention to be held at New Orleans, May 15 to 18. Mr. Stephens cannot be present, but at the request of Mr. Jackson will send an address on good roads which will be read before the convention.

Soil Survey of Otoe.
The bureau of soils, Department of Agriculture, has sent an expert to Nebraska City to make a soil survey of Otoe county this summer. The action is taken following the request of Representative Maguire, who says that he has received the promise of the director of the bureau ultimately to make a soil survey of all the counties in his district not heretofore surveyed. The work will probably take all summer.

Omaha is very much to the front just now in Washington with representative citizens of the Gate City here on a multiplicity of duties, social as well as business.

John A. Munroe of the Union Pacific, Conrad E. Spent of the Burlington and Samuel F. Miller of the Northwestern are here interested in the so-called intermountain rate hearings going on before the Interstate Commerce commission. Mr. Munroe is accompanied by Mrs. Munroe and Miss Elder, who are taking opportunity to see Washington at its best in May time.

Mrs. Clement Chase, C. W. Hamilton and T. R. Kimball are at the Willard, delegates from Omaha to the American Federation of Art, now meeting in annual session at the National museum.

Lee O'Neil Browne

Cut Off From Cash; Ties Up Legislation

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 10.—Lee O'Neil Browne, minority leader of the house of representatives, aided by half a dozen followers, tied up the work of the special session today and for the time being defeated the passage of the appropriation bills, including those for repairing the storm damage done to the capitol and at the state fair grounds more than a year ago.

The action of Browne and his followers in refusing to vote on the appropriation bills nullified the work of a campaign which had been made to get a two-thirds membership of the house present to pass the appropriations. They were incensed because the senate leaders had agreed that it was unnecessary. In view of the second and third special sessions running in conjunction with one another to pass a $35,000 appropriation bill for the payment of the mileage and postage allowance to which each legislator is entitled to for attending special sessions.

In saving the bills from actual defeat, by moving to postpone further consideration of them, Chairman Shanahan of the house appropriations committee made the situation plain to the house.

Witness Repeats

Judge's Last Words

WYTHEVILLE, Pa., May 10.—"I'm dying; Sid Allen did it," Judge Masie's first words as he fell mortally wounded during the pistol battle that killed four others in the Hillville court house on March 14, were repeated today at the trial of Floyd Allen, one of the men charged with the five murders.

Daniel Thomas, a country man, who was the first to reach the dying judge, detailed the scene and fight. When he repeated Judge Masie's words his eyes filled with tears and he gave way to his emotions. "Sid" Allen has not been captured.

One other incident, though it occurred outside the court room, touched the day's proceedings with the dramatic. Campbell Crowder, a friend of the Allens, was talking with some witnesses on the court house green, when he exclaimed: "I hope the Allens will shoot up this court worse than the one at Hillville."

Crowder was immediately taken before Judge Staples, who told him that any more such talk would mean a term in jail. The man had been drinking, but the incident served as a reminder that the Allen gang is not without friends.

Insurgent Woodmen Lose in Committee

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 10.—Insurgent Woodmen lost their fight in the senate insurance committee tonight, when by a margin of one vote, the committee reported the Donohue bill out with the recommendation that it should not pass.

The action followed an open session of the insurance committee, lasting through two afternoons and one evening, during which every angle of the Woodmen rate war was threshed out for the benefit of the legislators.

The unfavorable report came as a surprise to the sponsors of the measure, in view of the comparatively easy sailing they had with it in the house. On the motion to report the measure unfavorably the committee divided nine to eight, with Chairman Lundberg not voting.

The committee action gave the sponsors of the bill their first notice that powerful influences outside the lines of the Woodmen were working against it.

It is said that some of the largest fraternal insurance societies in the country now are fighting the Donohue bill, which would prohibit an increase in fraternal insurance rates until January, 1915.

No Spring Chicken for Mr. Furshay

NEW YORK, May 10.—Special Telegram.—Charles Furshay of David City, Neb., has written letters to New York newspapers asking them to find a wife for him. Charles' desires are modest; he isn't looking for any French-heeled dazzer with a pair of gold ingots away from her seashell ears, for such an one won't do at all; neither is he in search of a chicken. The seeker after marital bliss says the woman he marries must be poor, economical and over 20 years of age and a willing worker.

GENERAL YOUNG HEADS CONFEDERATE VETERANS

MACON, May 10.—After creating the title of life honorary commander and bestowing it on General C. Irvine Walker, retiring commander-in-chief, the United Confederate Veterans in their session today elected General Bennett H. Young of Louisville, Ky., commander for the next year.

Aside from the election, the annual parade and review of the fast thinning ranks of the confederacy was the feature today. Fully 7,000 old soldiers were in line.

Tonight the veterans' annual ball to the sponsors, matrons and maids brought reunion week to a close.

Not a veteran died during the present reunion, which is said to be a record unsurpassed by any reunion of the past.

Although a warm sun shone throughout the day and the line of march of the parade was sixteen blocks long, it was said tonight that not a veteran was cured for by the ambulance corps or at emergency hospitals.
