Leyden says that Simpson was known as Charles Miller in

WAPPICH TELLS WORK DONE

Secretary of Fire and Police Board Issues Final Statement.

MAKES SOME RECOMMENDATIONS

Suggests that Salary of Chief of Police Be Raised—Says Board Has Been Made the Goat of Entire City.

William F. Wappich, in a detailed and lengthy report as secretary of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, recounts the work of the board during its existence and makes several recommendations, among them that the salary of the chief of police be increased from $2,500 to $3,000. Among other statements the secretary lays claim in the name of board to the following:

The 8 o'clock closing law has given the board much trouble and engendered bitterness against the board.

Laws have been observed and rigidly enforced by the police department and bootlegging joints have been abolished.

During their three years as an excise board $200,000 was collected for the school fund.

Saloons have not increased in number since 1909.

Wholesale druggists selling liquor have been compelled to pay license.

The Albert law may have been a wise one, but it has scattered the denseness of the red light district over the residence part of town and has failed to stamp out the evil.

Charges against the chief of police, the mayor and the board, preferred in 1909, have been "allowed to rest."

Stolen Property Recovered.

Omaha's crime record has been good and $200,000 worth of stolen or lost property has been returned.

Motor patrol wagons have been substituted for the horse drawn patrols.

Repairs and rebuilding of motor cars is done in the police department's own machine shop.

Traffic police have been inaugurated and all police have up-to-date uniforms.

The police pension fund has increased from $9,000 to $40,000.

Many requests were received to prohibit golf playing, moving picture shows, theaters, base ball games, etc., on Sunday, and also protests against the Elk club, Field club, University club and Omaha club have been received, but no action "encroaching on personal liberty" has been taken.

Hints on Care of Your Hair

Quick, Harmless Treatment to Restore the Former Color and Lustre to Hair.

Every woman realizes that when her hair turns gray or becomes streaky her beauty is seriously imperiled, but instead of using dyes or hair "shaders," she should— if she is a brunette— get a small, original package of barbecum from her druggist and steep it in one pint of water. Each night the hair should be combed thoroughly with the comb slightly moistened with this harmless tea, and in a short while her hair will regain its former rich color and gloss.

Faded blonde hair can be restored to its original golden shade by washing in a tea made by putting an ounce of arbane in one pint of boiling water; and Auburn or Titian locks will quickly regain their radiant shade and satiny lustre when washed with a tea made from ordinary cambré.—Adv.

made the goat for every shortcoming in Omaha.

No matter what took place this board was blamed for it. If taxes were high or street improperly paved or barricaded this board was answerable, and so long as the fire could be kept on this board the shortcomings of others were overlooked.

Board Blamed for Everything.

In concluding his report to the board the secretary says:

"This board and the chief of police were today in Omaha than on property in Denver, St. Paul, Des Moines or Sioux City.

"Time will come when the people of Omaha will say that this board had much to contend with in severe legislation to do away with a condition that had existed for half a century, and to throw the board into the breach and expect an immediate reform was expecting too much from the citizens who refused to be bound by the law, and it required patience and energy to bring about the results this board has. The incoming administration will find matters in good shape."
