Colorado.

You Must Admit

that land which will produce good alfalfa is the best form of land investment.

If you care to investigate we would like to show you what can be done in the

Arkansas Valley of Eastern Colorado

The land is rich beyond question. Anyone will admit that, and with Colorado sunshine and abundance of water there is no doubt about results.

WE ONLY TALK ABOUT a man clearing $25 to $30 per acre on alfalfa, but that. We quoted a few of these in a public way in last Sunday's papers. We told you of a man who had fifteen acres in alfalfa and had three cuttings for hay and one for seed. If his pasture is worth anything at all, and a man gets about six weeks of pasture on his alfalfa in that country, his fifteen acres produced him better than $1,000.

Do you know anywhere that you can do as well?

We would like to show you that country and the unlimited acres of alfalfa. You will need no arguments. Join us on

We leave Omaha Monday night. Ask us for particulars. We would be glad to write you or talk with you.
