Miss Lucile Park was here Tuesday visiting her brother Mendel and Mrs. Teal.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Flor came from Omaha Sunday for a visit with Waterloo relatives.

C. E. Mock left Monday for Belle Fourche, S. D., where he will engage in shearing sheep.

C. C. Peabody, who is bookkeeper at the Robinson Seed company's office, went to Omaha Saturday.

Mrs. Art Myers was called to Kennard Monday to see her mother, who has suffered a broken ankle.

J. C. Robinson and E. N. Pike made a quick trip to David City last Friday afternoon, on seed business.

Mrs. J. A. Woods was here last week visiting her daughter, Mrs. Benjamin Stenglein, and returned to Omaha Sunday morning.

A banquet and social time was given by Waterloo lodge No. 162, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, Tuesday evening in Masonic temple.

Mrs. G. A. Lindquest of Benson, mother of E. L. Lindquest, visited her son and wife the last week. Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson were also guests at Sunday dinner at the Lindquest home.

Mother's day was observed quite generally in Waterloo Sunday by the people. Many white and pink flowers were worn by the men and women. Special services were held at the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Nelson J. Bell and Miss Rose Coy went to Fremont Wednesday evening to attend the annual meeting of the grand chapter of the Eastern Star, Mrs. Bell being a delegate from the local chapter.

Mrs. George Johnson took her dogs to the kennel show at Fremont last week and entered them for premiums. She was fortunate in getting the first prize for both, in the toy spaniel class, to which they belong.

Miss Kate Shea was home over Sunday visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Shea. This is the first time she has been home for nine months. Miss Shea sustained injuries last summer that kept her from work for some time.

Charlie and Dale Compton drove to Valley Wednesday afternoon to get wire and other apparatus to use in dynamiting on the river Thursday. It is the intention to blow out some of the cuts south of town and the work began Thursday. This will, no doubt, help to get the bends straightened out.

The drainage board met Tuesday at Waterloo and looked after some routine business, as well as making a few changes in work already laid out, and seeking to have the same rushed along more rapidly. The contractors were represented at the meeting by Mr. Pollard and Engineer Nelson was present, as also was Attorney Courtright of Fremont. It seems there are a few of the river cuts that are entirely opened, and a number have obstructions which will have to be removed and there is considerable stumpage yet to be cleared.

Mrs. Cecil Moore and children came up from Waterloo Saturday and were the guests of Mrs. R. R. Steele until Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Weekly and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitmore attend the Eastern Star convention in Fremont Wednesday.

The Woman's Christian Temperance union held the regular monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Curtis. A musical program was followed by a domestic science demonstration. Mrs. W. Taylor, Mrs. S. Lutton and Mrs. H. A. Taylor were received as new members. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. P. Ferris.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church held its third annual meeting and election of officers Wednesday evening at the home of Gladys Condron. The following are the newly elected officers: Miss Philomena Wallstrom, president; Miss May Nichols, vice president; Miss Ethel Ingram, secretary and treasurer.

Tekamah.

Mr. King of Terre Haute, Ind., has been visiting his son, A. King the last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Cornelius were Omaha visitors on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Ford Bowers came in Monday afternoon from Los Angeles for a two weeks' visit with his parents at Tekamah.

Fred Shade, formerly of Tekamah but now of Buffalo, N. Y., was a Tekamah visitor this week, greeting old friends.

H. M. Bogewell and Fred Michael went to Omaha last Friday and returned home via auto and the rainstorm in the afternoon. They realize what it is to try to make time in muddy roads and in a rain storm.

Harry Clark, formerly deputy county clerk of Burt county, was a Tekamah visitor over the sabbath. He was on his way to Grants Pass, Ore., after a couple of weeks visit with his parents at Cagis, Ohio.

The senior-junior reception of the Tekamah High school took place Wednesday evening at Schroeder's hall, and from reports of those who have attended it was one of the choicest entertainments of the kind that has been given in the local high school.

Miss Pearl McCarty was agreeably surprised last Saturday evening by a visit from a number of her school mates. Miss Pearl's home is about a mile west of town and the young folks spent a most pleasant evening at the farm. They presented the surprised one with a gold ring in commemoration of their visit.

Cash C. Barrows of Billings, Mont., visited over Sunday in Tekamah, a guest of the Chris Jeep and the Goll homes. Mr. Barrows had come to Omaha with his mother, who was on her way east for a visit, and he came up to Tekamah to visit friends and relatives. Years ago he was in the general merchandise business here.

Irvington.

Mrs. Charley Gilbert is improving quite rapidly.

Miss Beth Kratz visited from Friday till Sunday with Miss Hazel Switzer.

Contests Are to Be Started for Places on County Tickets

Contests for the last place among the democratic nominations for state senator will be started by Richard S. Horton and James O'Hara Saturday. P. Haarmann probably will start a contest for last place on the republican ticket against F. S. Tucker.

Canvass of the Douglas county vote will be completed late this afternoon. The totals will put C. B. Liver in the last place on the democratic ticket with a lead of about five over Horton. Horton still have a lead of between twenty and thirty over O'Hara. Tucker will have a small lead over Haarmann, who has been supposed to have beaten Tucker for the last place.

FIRE IN SARPY COUNTY LEAVES FAMILY DESTITUTE

Fire totally destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turek, on the Coffin Springs road, in Sarpy county, at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Three small children were in the house at the time of the fire, but managed to escape the flames.

When the fire broke out Mrs. Turek was in the field, out of sight of the house and did not know that her home had been destroyed until informed of the fact by her neighbors. Mrs. Turek was in South Omaha. All clothes in the house and furniture were destroyed by the flames and the family is left destitute. The unfortunate parents and children were cared for by neighbors last night.

FLAG CONTEST AT THE COUNTRY CLUB SATURDAY

The "flag" contest which was to have been a feature of the opening of the country club last Saturday afternoon and which was postponed due to the rain, will be played this afternoon. Several of the country club golfers have entered for this event which will prove to be very interesting.

Burglars Rob Shack and Ravish Hermit's Store of Valuables

Burglars came too late to bother Peter Enders, a lowly garbage hauler, who died of injuries. His little home, a shack at the foot of Nicholas street near Fifth, was desolate and silent Thursday night for the first time in years when masked men crawled through the window.

Enders' own team had run over and broken his back in the afternoon, and as the burglars scouted his house the frail old man lay dead in the coroner's morgue.

And now no one knows how much the burglars profited and no one cares, for no relative nor close friend had Enders. A little memorandum says a Woodmen of the World insurance policy for $2,000 was stored in the hermit's shack, and neighbors believe there was a large sum of money. But none knows nor cares since the old man has gone.

Striking Tinsmiths Returning to Work in the Open Shops

There is very little change in the strike of the Brotherhood of Sheet Metal Workers, neither the employers' union or the strikers giving in to each other's demands. The tinners are striking for a minimum scale of 47 cents an hour for all Omaha workers and a half holiday on Saturday eight months of the year.

About seventy tinners are out and about fifteen of this number are working in shops not belonging to the Master Sheet Metal Workers' association, which has agreed to pay all the members of the Omaha union 47 cents an hour.

The shops are able to take care of all the work with the aid of nonunion men and outside help. At present there is not much tin work to be done.

The strikers are willing to arbitrate with the employers' union and even take less than a 5-cent increase.

Stage Folk Decide to Dance Together All Through Life

Arthur J. Miller of New York City and Miss Ethel Simmons of Brooklyn, a suburb of New York City, who are at the Orpheum with a dancing number this week, have succeeded so well with their "fifteen minutes in one" that they have resolved to dance through life together, hand in hand and foot in foot, as it were.

They secured a marriage license from the county court office yesterday and hied them to the office of Justice of the Peace Barker. He tied a good, hard nuptial knot, Miss Simmons helping by "holding her finger." Then the justice added a few more knots to make sure, applied a lot of red hot sealing wax and sent the Millers dancing out of the office like a pair of young colts.

Arthur is 26 and Ethel is just turned 21.

SNICKERING DEFENDANT CALLED DOWN BY JUDGE

That no one has the right to laugh at the testimony of a witness in police court was what Acting Magistrate Altstadt indicated when he threatened to fine C. Reese of 813 South Eighteenth street for contempt for snickering.

Reese was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Hicks, 1719 Leavenworth street, that a cocker spaniel dog belonging to Reese had bitten her little daughter. Reese made fun of Mrs. Hicks and other witnesses' testimony, laughing aloud. Judge Altstadt interrupted his merriment by inquiring what was funny. Reese made a flippant reply and the court laid down his ultimatum.

Reese was ordered to have the dog shot.

BIKE COPS BAG BIG SPEEDERS

Seventy-Five Waterloo Visitors Stopped on Pleasure Jaunt.

GOULD DIETZ IS OVERHAULED

He Fails to Show Up in Police Court and a Bench Warrant is Issued for His Arrest—Other Speeders Fined.

In showing seventy-five members of the Waterloo Ad club a good time Thursday night thirty-five Omaha automobilists violated the speed laws, according to Traffic Officers Wheeler and Emery. They arrested three of the drivers for running cars from thirty-five to fifty-five miles an hour on Thirty-eighth avenue.

W. J. Kline of 1613 Elm street, who has been arrested for speeding before, was fined $50 and costs for driving the second car of the parade over fifty miles per hour.

R. H. Woodworth of 305 Dewey avenue was fined $5 and costs after pleading guilty. He then tried to appeal, but could not after having pleaded guilty.

Dietz Fails to Show Up.

Gould Dietz, lumberman and prominent member of the Commercial club, was also arrested. He failed to show up in police court and a second warrant was issued for his arrest.

Other automobilists to be fined were E. L. Scott, 4229 Franklin, N. H. Nelson, $5 and costs each, and Roy Cohen, 1624 North Eighteenth street, $10 and costs.

The Waterloo visitors arrived at 5 o'clock, an hour late, and to show them the beautiful boulevards and parks of Omaha the drivers were asked to "speed up." They did so, never supposing that the motorcycle officers would stop them. Woodworth created a laugh in court when he referred to their arrest as a "disgusting piece of business."

Falls Four Stories Into Pile of Debris of Burned Building

Charles Kineman, a house wrecker, employed by Philip Kunz, a contractor, engaged in dismantling the Ames building at Sixteenth and Farnam streets, fell from a scaffold to the ground yesterday morning and received probably fatal injuries.

Kineman was working on the fourth floor. One of his guy ropes became caught against a jagged brick and wore in two precipitating him to the ground below. He struck a lot of brick and timbers and was unconscious when picked up. He was hurried to St. Joseph's hospital. An operation was performed at noon, but his recovery is considered doubtful.

TRUSTING RAILROADER HAS HIS FAITH SHATTERED

Until Thursday night Glenn Telley, a car worker for the Chicago Great Western, had all the confidence in the world in his fellow man. He thought that he could trust a receipted pay check or large sums of money with anyone. Now he thinks differently.

Late Thursday afternoon Telley was busy, and when he saw Arthur Futner doing nothing he endorsed a check for $40.46 and asked Futner to go and cash it for him. That was the last he saw of either Futner or the check. He notified both the Council Bluffs and Omaha police of his misfortune.

Serpentine Crepe

Saves Laundry Bills

This fact is one of the strong points of Serpentine Crêpe, and appeals to the average woman of intelligence. Just imagine what a saving of patience and time this means in the summer months.

Here is a fabric, handsome in design, in a variety of patterns, selling at a popular price. In fact, the most economical housewife can afford to have several waists or gowns made from Serpentine Crêpe, and not be extravagant. And, best of all, they will never require ironing. Just wash, shake out and hang out, and when the garment is dry it will look fresh and bright, and is all ready to wear.

Serpentine Crêpe is commanding the largest sale of any printed crinkly fabric in the world, because no other fabric gives so much beauty, wear, and style for so little money.

A large assortment of patterns and colors to suit the most fastidious are on exhibit at leading department stores at surprisingly low prices.

Always look for the words "Serpentine Crêpe" on selvage, and thus protect yourself from securing Inferior imitations when buying.
