SHOW OMAHA THROUGH FILMS

Motion Pictures Will Be Feature of New Advertising Campaign.

MANY EXHIBITS TO BE MADE

During "Know Omaha" Week Manufacturers Will Add Interest by Giving Away More Than $1,000 in Prizes.

"Look pleasant, please. Turn your head a little to the right and watch for the film."

Moving pictures of everything of interest to Omaha will be taken down to be used in the motion picture theaters during the Know Omaha week, and it is the duty of Oscar A. Albrecht, the photographer, to have everything and everybody looking at his best.

F. T. B. Martin of the general committee, promoting Know Omaha campaign, has prepared to have 1,000 feet of motion photographs of the shopping, manufacturing and jobbing districts of the city, with a little run around the parks and boulevards thrown in. Pictures of the packing houses also will be taken.

These pictures will be started the first of the campaign, which runs from June 3 to 8, on the rounds of the various motion picture theaters.

The manufacturers will add interest to the project by offering more than $1,000 in prizes for guessing contests to be held in conjunction with the window displays of Omaha made goods.

The retailers are enthusiastically co-operating with the manufacturers, and present indications are that about 200 separate exhibits will be made. In some of the windows, what are termed "live exhibits" will be made--mechanical models in actual operation. There will be demonstrations showing different products in the process of manufacture. Many of the feature displays are being kept secret, so the manufacturer will have a surprise to spring when his particular display is "unveiled."

Funeral Directors Here Next Month

The funeral directors' annual convention will be held in Omaha, June 12 to 14. It is expected that it will be the largest ever held. Invitations have been sent out to dealers in western Iowa, Missouri and South Dakota, besides all those in this state. An exhibit will be given at the Auditorium.

AGREED THAT FOOD IS UNFIT

Commissioners Make Reports on Complaints of Prisoners.

ELSASSER'S DICTION STRONG

In the Main He Agrees with Best, but Letter Intimates Politics is Being Played in Jail Food Matter.

Reports that some of the food served to prisoners in the county jail has been unfit to eat and that other food has been good were made to the county commissioners yesterday by Members Best and Elsasser, the committee appointed to investigate the prisoners' complaints. The reports will be taken up in committee of the whole early next week, probably Monday.

Commissioners Best and Elsasser could not agree upon a report. The difference between the two is that Elsasser's reference to the food are couched in stronger language and are made in an oratorical style of diction, and Best's report criticizes the jail authorities for reporting alleged improper feeding to a partisan newspaper.

The reports agree that the commissioners visited the jail, talked to the prisoners and were told the food was unfit to eat; that they inspected some of the meat and found it first-class; that they found the bread and milk good; that the meat condemned by Inspector Fleishman was spoiled and was rightly condemned.

In speaking of the food which was found good, Mr. Best uses the expressions, "O. K." and "all right." Mr. Elsasser uses the word "fine." In speak-

Ad Club Pays Fine of Speeders Who Drove Waterloo Club

Chauffeurs who were pinched Thursday night by the blue cops when they were carrying the Waterloo town officers over the city as guests of the Omaha Ad club, experienced no suffering for their violation of the speed laws.

The Omaha Ad club went into its treasury for the fine money. The treasurer says the funds of the club were almost entirely depleted, but the fun they gave the Waterloo crowd was well worth the price.

The Waterloo Town Officers were enroute to the Ad club convention at Dallas. They are making stops along the way, and Omaha probably gave them the best reception they received.
