PRINCIPALS TO BE CHANGED
Miss Simonds to Leave Cass School, Kate L. Brown to Succeed.
MISS FITCH GOES TO LAKE
Many Other Changes Will Be Made by the Board of Education at its Meeting Next Monday Evening.

Miss Mary E. Simonds, for thirty-five years a school teacher and one of the most potent educational factors in the city, will retire from the principalship of Cass school at the close of the year. Her place will be taken by Miss Kate L. Brown, present principal of Bancroft.

Miss Mary A. Fitch, principal of Central school, will be made principal of Lake next year. Miss Emma Whitmore, present principal of Lake, will retire, having taught for thirty-five years.

These and other changes will be made by the Board of Education at its meeting Monday evening. The entire list of transfers and changes of principals, submitted to the teachers' committee by Superintendent E. U. Graff, has been approved, according to W. T. Bourke, chairman of the committee.

M. F. Sears, member of the teachers' committee, said the list submitted by Mr. Graff, including the transfers and appointments in the larger schools of Lake and Cass, was approved because it was "a good list and met with no objection from the committee."

With the retirement of Miss Simonds Omaha loses one of the best beloved teachers on the staff. During her teaching experience here she has held the principalship of Cass, where she began when the building was completed, until now, when she retires on pension.

Parents of children who attend Cass school have shown Miss Simonds many favors and have repeatedly expressed their confidence in her.

Miss Simonds came to this city from Burlington, Ia. Her teaching work in Omaha extends over a period of twenty-seven years. During that time she has worked enthusiastically for a better school system, but she modestly requests that her work "be not exploited."

Miss Fitch, who succeeds to the principalship of Lake, the second largest school in the city, has taught for twenty-seven years, beginning in Omaha. She is a graduate of the Omaha High school and has taken work at the Peru State normal.

For eleven years she has been principal of Central, going there from Leavenworth, where she was principal for six years. She was principal of the Dodge street school before it was converted into the city jail. Her first school was in the Pleasant building where she was soon made principal, a position she held for four years.

Miss Fitch is Pleased.
Two years ago Miss Fitch, accompanied by Miss Kate McHugh, principal of the high school, went to Europe and spent several weeks there studying school systems.

She was much pleased when told that the teachers' committee of the Board of Education had approved her for principal of Lake. "I consider it a promotion and am very glad," she said.

Miss Brown, who will be principal of Cass next year has been principal of Bancroft for several years. Her transfer to the head of Cass is a promotion, uncollected by her because she was "greatly enjoying" her work at Bancroft.

Changes in the smaller school principalships have not been made public by the committee. "We think it best to have the entire board act before the list is published," said Chairman Bourke.

"There is a possibility that some changes in the list will be made," said Mr. Graff, "but only a possibility. I think the list will go through as approved." Other members of the board have not been consulted, but those who have seen the list approve it. The members of the teachers' committee are W. T. Bourke, M. F. Sears, C. T. Walker, Dr. J. J. Foster and E. J. Straits.

Assignments Monday Night.
Assignments of other teachers and vice principals will be announced at the meeting of the board Monday night. The list of teachers and principals contains more than 500 names. The school children of the city number 30,000.

Other important changes have been made and will be announced at the meeting of the board Monday night, although members of the committee will say nothing further now. Among other things is the rumor that Miss Mary Henderson of Dupont school will retire, go west and become the wife of a ranchman.

During the week principals and teachers have been waiting eagerly for news of changes. They have been meagerly rewarded by the committee, as the changes are made without consulting them. Several principals have besieged the office of the superintendent in an effort to discover what the board was contemplating.

Lives Two Months On Bread Alone
Subsisting sixty-two days on bread and coffee would make skeletons of many men, but this fare seems to have fastened John Nipnac, an Italian who has been discharged from the county jail. Nipnac was arrested March 17 on complaint of his wife, who alleged that he had abused and threatened her and their children. Ever since Nipnac has been confined in the jail he has steadfastly refused to eat anything but bread.

Just before leaving the jail this morning Nipnac displayed a time of the reverence which a foreigner feels for the ruler of his country by grabbing Jailer Cahill's hand and kissing it twice. The act, which showed the prisoner's appreciation of what the jailer had done for him, caused Cahill to blush embarrassingly.

AD MEN ARE OFF FOR TEXAS
Special Train Leaves for National Convention at Dallas.

MANLEY TO PREACH A SERMON
Each of Local Delegates Wears a Tan Straw Hat Around Which is a Yellow Band with "Omaha" Printed on It.

On a special Burlington train the delegates of the Omaha Ad club left Omaha at 9:35 o'clock yesterday morning to attend the national convention of the Associated Ad Clubs of America at Dallas.

Each of the delegates wore a tan straw hat, around which was a yellow band with Omaha in black letters on it. The Lincoln delegation met the Omaha squad at the depot and all left together in the same Pullman car. They arrived in Kansas City late yesterday afternoon, where a change was made to the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, which will take them into Dallas at 9 o'clock this morning.

Gale is Called Away.
At the last minute, A. L. Gale, president of the club, announced that he had been called east on business and could not make the trip. Gale was to have delivered a lay sermon at the First Baptist church of Dallas Sunday morning. In order that the pulpit might not be vacant Robert K. Manley volunteered to deliver Gale's sermon. Manley will memorize it on the way to Texas. His text will be, "What the Church and Advertising Can Do for Each Other."

Those who made up the Omaha delegation are Victor White and Mrs. White, Frank Bullta, O. E. McCune, William E. Conley, H. E. Mahaffey, A. C. Scott, Harold Thompson, D. R. Mills, J. M. Walsh, Edgar F. Howe, J. A. C. Kennedy, A. B. Wallace, N. J. Baker and Brower E. McCague.

Louis Kavanagh and Omer Sullivan tied for second place in the second division, while Francis Roberts was awarded second place in the first division.

The contest was spirited from the start and the result was much in doubt. There were many different opinions as to the winners, but the large audience greeted the decision of the judges with much applause. The pieces were well chosen and well delivered, showing careful preparation.

Stephen Boyle, winner of first place in the college division, gave an excellent rendition of Edgar Allan Poe's "Haven," while Arthur Dailey spoke a semi-humorous selection entitled "Fiasco." Judge Duncan M. Vischohn announced the decision of the judges. The program was as follows:

Jury Acquits Lindsay of Murdering Mother
After finding James T. Lindsay not guilty of murdering Christina Lindsay, his mother, April 14, last, a jury in district court recommended that he be held in the state insane asylum for three months, until he recovers his mental faculties. Although satisfied with the verdict, Lindsay was not pleased with the string which the jury attached to their verdict. After considering it, however, he said the juryman probably were right, that he should be confined in such an institution for a while so he could gain strength to fight liquor.

"Do you know," exclaimed Lindsay while riding back to the county jail in the patrol wagon, "that nine-tenths of all a man's troubles come from drink? I've been a drunkard since my ninth birthday, but I have taken my last swallow. I want to live down the suspicion and shame that surrounds the death of mother. I did not kill her, or even harm her knowingly."

"They say I'm crazy. Maybe I have been. Drink will make a man crazy. When I think of the fight ahead of me I am glad of the three months in the asylum."

Omaha has used the net heating value method since the gas commissioner's office was created.

YOUNG MAN SLUGGED AND RELIEVED OF CASH
Slugged by two unidentified men, who then robbed him of what small change he had in his pockets, was the experience early this morning of Ed Fitch of 208 North Nineteenth street.

Fitch had just taken two young women to their home, near Twenty-fourth and Crystal streets, and was walking back toward town. At Lake street he was stopped by one man, while another struck him from behind. When Fitch recovered consciousness about thirty minutes later, he was in a restaurant. Dr. Erwood, assistant police surgeon, attended him and had him taken to his home. Fitch could not give a description of his assailants, or the amount of money that was taken from him.
