LOCKWOOD ACCUSES DARROW

Attorney Was Approaching Franklin After Money Was Paid.

INSTRUCTED HOW TO LAY TRAP

Account Given Under Oath of Meeting on Street Corner When Lockwood Received the First Payment.

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—The name of Clarence Darrow was mentioned by George N. Lockwood, one of the prosecution's star witnesses, for the first time today in connection with the trial of the former chief counsel of the McNamara brothers for alleged jury bribing. Lockwood declared Darrow was walking toward Bert H. Franklin when the latter was arrested for bribery a few moments after Lockwood had received the first installment of the payment for his prospective vote in the trial of J. R. McNamara.

The day in court was one of excitement from the time of convening until adjournment. Clashes between attorneys, the exchange of charges of attempting to influence the jury, an important ruling for the prosecution on the admissibility of evidence objected to by the defense, and the reappearance of Lockwood on the stand for the resumption of the story of the alleged trapping of Bert Franklin, kept the atmosphere of the court room at fever heat throughout the three hours' session.

A morning newspaper printed an interview with Foster today giving what purported to be the facts concerning the alleged trapping of Darrow in a hotel room by means of a telephonic device. Foster was quoted as saying the instrument would bring about Darrow's conviction. The defense contended the interview was printed with a view of influencing the jury and the prosecution joined in the request for Foster's citation tomorrow.

The ruling by Judge Hutton on the issue raised by the defense Saturday was declared by attorneys for the prosecution a sweeping victory for them as it will enable them to introduce all of the evidence in their possession tending to prove that Darrow had been guilty of attempting to bribe other jurors.

Lockwood smiled when relating incidents which occurred while he was acting under the instructions of the district attorney in the decoying of Franklin, who, he said, had negotiated with him for his vote as a McNamara juror.

An objection was raised by the defense to nearly every question put to Lockwood by the district attorney and but few were sustained.

Continuing from the point at which his testimony was interrupted Saturday, the old soldier said that at his first visit to Franklin's office, Franklin had told him to be careful how his wife spent the money if the deal went through.

"I told him," said Lockwood, "that my wife would be the last person I would want to know about it."

Progressive Candidate in Dakota Makes Statement of Campaign.

KINKAID BILL IS MODIFIED

Measure for Relief of Settlers on Reclamation Projects After Five Years' Residence Changed in Their Interest.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, May 28.—(Special Telegram.)—Thomas Sterling, progressive candidate for United States senator from South Dakota, has certified to the clerk of the United States senate that his personal primary campaign expenses totaled $25,000. Of this amount he contributed $300 to the South Dakota branch of the Progressive League, and he spent $5 for hall rent at Lake Andes.

Through the efforts of Representative Kinkaid, the bill granting patent to claims of reclamation projects after five years' residence, which recently passed the senate, has been modified by the house irrigation committee, reducing the payment to be made from one-half the entire amount to merely the annual installments due at the end of five years.

bill it will be reported favorably to the house.

Representative Lobeck went to Baltimore today to make an address at River View park for the German celebration of Whitesutide. Senator Rayner and Senator Smith of Maryland are among the other speakers.

Establish Buffalo Preserve.
The conferees having the agricultural appropriation bill in charge have agreed to include the appropriation for the establishment of a buffalo reserve in the Wind Cave national park in South Dakota. The bill was originally introduced as a separate measure by Representative Martin of South Dakota. It was afterward made an amendment to the agricultural bill by Senator Gamble. The action of the conferees of the house and senate practically assures its enactment.

Noted Singers Give Fine Rendition of Scene from Martha Alda, Jacoby, Caruso and Journet Sing This Number and Other Artists Entertain with Vocal and Instrumental Selections.

"Flotow's melodious opera 'Martha' has always been a most popular one, and the announcement of a series of four Victor records of the famous Farm House scene sung by so celebrated a quartet as Franco Alda, Josephine Jacoby, Enrico Caruso and Marcel Journet, will be welcomed with delight by the music-loving public. These four Martha records have just been issued with the June list of new Victor Records, and they include the favorite Spinning Wheel and Good Night Quartet. The rendition of all four numbers is extremely beautiful, and it is certain there are no other four artists so well suited to sing the various roles. The instrumental numbers in the double-faced records include five selections by Arthur Pryor's Band, among which is a rousing rendition of that famous two-step, 'King Chanticleer.' A lively piccolo solo is played by John P. Kiburz, the competent flute soloist of Pryor's Band. Two most attractive piano forte numbers are given by Ferdinand Himmelreich and Charles Gilbert Spruss—a transcription of the great 'Lucia Sextette' by the former, and Moszkowski's beautiful 'Caprice Espanol' by the latter. And a charming Bohm number, 'Nordische Romanze,' is gracefully played by that popular 'cellist, Rosario Bourdon.

These splendid records have just been issued and thousands of people are even now enjoying them. Every one can enjoy them, for any Victor dealer will play any selection you wish to hear and be glad of the opportunity to acquaint you with this wonderful instrument and its delightful music.

Balloonists Fail To Win Lahm Cup

ST. LOUIS, May 28.—Albert Von Hoffman and Captain John Berry, both of this city, were forced by a storm to land the balloon St. Louis at Roseville, Ill., at 5 o'clock tonight. They left San Antonio, Tex., at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in an effort to win the Lahm cup, now held by Alan R. Hawley.

John W. McDonald of Lincoln Dead

LINCOLN, Neb., May 28.—A private message received tonight from New York tells of the death there this evening of John W. McDonald, a pioneer banker and capitalist of Lincoln, Ill., who recently underwent an operation in a New York hospital for stomach trouble. Mr. McDonald was a heavy property owner of Lincoln and one of the wealthiest men of the state. He was president of the Lincoln Traction company until the reorganization three years ago.

Street Lights for Omaha.
OMAHA, Ia., May 28.—(Special.)—Omaha will soon install a sixteen or twenty-light electric system of its business street. The matter of a better lighted business district was recently taken up by the Omaha Civic Improvement League, organized but a few months ago, and committees were appointed to raise the necessary funds by popular subscription. As a result about $1,500 has been pledged. The Commercial club at its last meeting voted $200.

DANNER BECOMES "WILD" TO GET SENT TO JAIL

DAVENPORT, Ia., May 28.—Pleading guilty to being a "wild man," as he expressed it, Pat Danner, who claims the record of having been arrested more times than any other man in Iowa, today received the much coveted sentence of ten days in jail. Vagrancy was the technical charge.

Danner had been presenting himself in police court every ten days during the winter and spring and asking for the vagrancy sentence. He was refused admission to the jail at the expiration of his last sentence.

Yesterday he went out into the country and laid down under a tree. When people passed, he made strange sounds and signs, and was soon rushed to the town under close guard. Today after he had been sentenced, he smiled, appreciatively at the judge.

Witness Unable to Swear to Anything
WASHINGTON, May 28.—George M. Watson, a Scranton, Pa. lawyer, who was an active participant in coal negotiations with the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad, which have involved the judicial conduct of Judge Robert W. Archbald of the court of commerce, was a witness before the house judiciary committee today for three hours.

The witness' story of activity in the Scranton coal deals, his reply to questions and his refusal to commit to members of the committee kept the room in a buzz of laughter or argument during the afternoon. Late in the day Representative Norris of Nebraska pinned him down to a categorical answer and asked him to swear to his reply.

"I cannot swear positively to anything," said Mr. Watson.

Late in the day Representative Norris of Nebraska pinned him down to a categorical answer and asked him to swear to his reply.

"I cannot swear positively to anything," said Mr. Watson.

Prior to this Mr. Watson had had a wordy war with Representative Webb over his memory.

Early in the hearing the witness admitted that he had been in bad health and could not remember everything that had happened a year ago.

Mr. Webb reminded him of this infirmity when he remembered minor details of transactions, but was hazy on more important ones.

Rejected Suitor Ends His Own Life

CLEAR LAKE, Ia., May 28.—(Special Telegram.)—Nels W. Nelson committed suicide last night by shooting himself through the heart. He was 25 years old and was a rejected suitor of Mrs. Laura M. Jones. He left a letter to his parents residing in Denmark, assuring as a reason for committing the crime: "The one I love I cannot get." He left about $2,000 in money and insurance.

IOWA MERCHANT FOUND WITH SKULL FRACTURED

QUIMBY, Ia., May 28.—James Yerd, a hardware merchant at this place, was found in an unconscious condition from a fractured skull at the home of Jack Sutley this afternoon. Surgeons called to care for Leyda pronounce his condition serious. The man has a hole in his skull made by some sharp instrument.

Sutley was arrested and taken to the county jail at Cherokee.

It is alleged there was a quarrel at the Sutley home and as a result Leyda received his injury. Sutley refuses to talk or give any explanation of the trouble.

Sutley is a retired farmer.
