RYDER GETS ALDRICH'S VIEW

Governor Expresses Himself about the City at Informal Meeting.

FEELS KINDLY TOWARD OMAHA

Believes City Should Have Full Opportunity to Work Out Commission Plan and He Will Not Interfere.

"Having a chance to break away for a few hours from the trouble incident to public office, I went to Lincoln Wednesday morning as the guest of Governor Aldrich in his car," said John J. Ryder, superintendent of police.

"While there we called on Governor Aldrich at his office and afterward had lunch with him. The governor naturally inquired as to the situation in Omaha under the new regime. He was given the facts of the situation so far as they have developed.

"Governor Aldrich expressed the thought that a good deal of misapprehension has arisen, from one cause or another, as to his attitude toward this city. He asserted, and I believe him, that he desires to be known, not as an enemy, but as a friend, deeply interested in seeing Omaha hold her position as one of the great cities of the country, and urge ahead to the point where she will be known as one of the best governed cities of the nation. He was told that in the hope of the new council, from the mayor down the line, and had some commendation to offer for the start already made.

Warm Advocate of Plan.

"The governor indicated to me that, while he was a warm advocate of the commission plan and is a thorough believer in its efficiency, he has no disposition to use his position in the slightest degree to hamper the new administration. Omaha is entitled to the moral backing of the whole state, in the governor's view, and to the positive encouragement of those in authority, while it is putting the new plan in operation and testing its merits.

"He frankly admitted it will require time and the test of a fair period of experience to show what can be done in bettering the methods of doing public business and handling the perplexing problems that confront us.

"I was glad to learn that Governor Aldrich takes a broad view of the new departure. He said to me, in effect: 'Omaha should have full and free opportunity to work out its own salvation, and it will have it so far as my office is concerned. Your people are the best judges of the problems they have to deal with, and my hope and belief is they will deal with them wisely and in a way that will give publicity to the attitude of the governor, and I don't think he will quarrel with me for doing so, because he was frank and hearty in his expression.'"

MOVING PICTURE HOUSES PROTEST AGAINST AIRDOM Down town moving picture proprietors are determined to put the Airdoms fraternally out of business in one way or another. They have already tried the plan of inducing film exchanges to refuse service to open air theaters in the residence districts, but they have been told that Airdom money looks just as good to them as any other coin of the realm.

Defeated in this move several downtown proprietors held a meeting yesterday to discuss means of putting their uptown competitors out of business, but they will not say what their plans are, or what action has been taken. It is said on reliable authority that the next move will be to induce the city council to revoke the license of the Airdom proprietors.

Getting the Dust Out
One of the greatest problems the Dry Cleaning industry has ever had to solve was getting the dust out of garments that had been dry cleaned.
Cleaning garments, all garments, seems and a good part of the cost, but heavy garments remain a certain percentage of the dust that can only be removed by leading and brushing.
A little over a year ago the Dry Cleaners' Trade was put on the market, and as usual the Patterson was slow to accept it. This machine takes out every particle of dust, lint and eddies, raises the nap and makes the goods look fresh and full of life. The quality of our work is 10 per cent better than it was before we installed the tumbler 1 April 1911.
Our plant is open for inspection any afternoon.
