

WILL NEVER FORGET SKIN-SUFFERING WHEN A CHILD

Almost Went Crazy, Burned and Itched. Could Not Sleep. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In 3 Months Sores Disappeared.

Davenport, Wash. "When I was a child I had some little round sores on my neck and under my arms. I never shall forget how I suffered with those sores. In the winter they were not so bad but in the summer I would almost go crazy. When I was warm they would start to burn and itch, and it was all I could do not to scratch them. I could not sleep and sometimes I could not eat, because it itched so bad that I had to get out and walk around.

"Then I heard of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I bought them. I got me a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. At night I would bathe with hot water and Cuticura Soap and then put on some Cuticura Ointment, and in the morning I would do the same thing. I did that every night and morning for three months, then I found that the sores had disappeared. Just as soon as I started to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment the itching and burning stopped and I could sleep at night. I never use any other soap for my children, and I think that no mother should." (Signed) Mrs. C. D. Marlett, June 29, 1911.

For treating poor complexion, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair, Cuticura Soap and Ointment have been the world's favorite for more than a generation. Sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-page book. Address "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should share with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

Experimental Army Balloon Alights at Burlington Junction

Balloon No. 11 of the army signal corps, which ascended from the grounds at Fort Omaha Wednesday noon landed at Burlington Junction, Mo., coming to earth at 8 o'clock that night. None of the men, five in number, including Pilot Assmann, sustained any injuries or discomfort from the flight. The balloon was packed up and will be expressed back to the fort.

Assmann and the men boarded a train, Assmann bound for his home at St. Louis and the men to Fort Leavenworth, where they are stationed.

This is the last of the balloon flights for Major Reber, the instructor in charge, returned to New York. Fifteen officers of the signal school from Fort Leavenworth also left for their station.

BANCROFT CHILDREN HOLD MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES

Memorial day was appropriately observed at Bancroft school by patriotic songs and recitations from representatives of the eighth grade down to the little folks. The guest and speaker of the day, T. Bowerman, who is a member of George Crook post, and who enlisted from DeKalb, Ill., in 1861, was listened to very attentively by his young auditors while he gave them some of his own experiences as a soldier. He told them he was under Benjamin Harrison and that he served nearly three years and only stopped then because of the close of the war.

Mr. Bowerman said, "You children will be the people's sons," and when he added the girls would vote when they were grown he was interrupted by a hearty and prolonged burst of applause in which the teachers also joined enthusiastically.

A little girl presented Mr. Bowerman with a large bouquet in token of the appreciation of his heavers for his interesting speech and also of this yearly reawakening of patriotic thought to which he and his comrades so largely and unselfishly contribute.

HOWARD KENNEDY SCHOOL CHILDREN GIVE PROGRAM

Students of Howard Kennedy school gave a program of drills, folk dances and songs and recitations for their parents Wednesday. Parents of 800 students witnessed the program. Miss Frances Eaton, principal, gave the students permission to put on the program for the parents in the evening after it had been given for the school in the afternoon.

The forty graduates of the school will go to Fairmont park, Council Bluffs, Saturday and hold a picnic. Yesterday the class gave the school a picture of Santa Barbara.

Misses May Wahler, Carol Marhoff, Ada Sherrar, Lillian Bondeson, Dora Bantel and Maude Smith, teachers, drilled the girls of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades who gave the entertainment. Pink ice cream and cake was served in the class rooms during the evening and $300 was realized which will be used to purchase pictures for the school.

WABASH ROAD IS NOW INSTALLING TELEPHONES

While the Wabash is doing much in the way of improving the western part of the system in the way of reconstructing the line between Omaha and St. Louis and preparing to put into service new and better rolling stock, it is also installing telephone lines and instruments to be used in handling the business.

The Wabash is now erecting poles along the Omaha-St. Louis line and probably will have the system in operation before fall. The circuit will consist of two heavy copper wires that will be used entirely for railroad business. When complete, the telephone will be used for all communications with the dispatchers and for all railroad business between stations and with headquarters.

WHORRY IS ARRESTED FOR KISSING HIS WIFE

That a married man has the right to kiss and embrace his wife at home, upon the street, or in a public place, was the view of E. M. Whorry on Wednesday. Today he is inclined to believe that his opinion is not a correct one.

Whorry was driving an automobile south on Sixteenth street Wednesday night and for several blocks was busily engaged kissing and hugging his wife, Mrs. Anna Whorry. Traffic Officers Wheeler and Emery were shocked at the sight and arrested the couple. They were released upon $50 bonds, which were forfeited in police court yesterday morning.

PATRIOTIC VOICES RING OUT

Hundreds of School Children and Others Sing at Auditorium.

MEMORIAL SERVICE IS HELD

Ceremonies Are Conducted by the Knights of Columbus and Address on Patriotism Delivered by J. L. Webster.

More than 1,500 children of the Roman Catholic parochial schools of Omaha and South Omaha, 800 singers from the many parishes and approximately 1,000 parents of the children and the members of the churches joined with the Knights of Columbus in observing Memorial day in the Auditorium yesterday morning.

The service was a simple one, but the simplicity made it more impressive. The sight of the hundreds of children on the main floor and the young men and women singers on the stage was a sight to warm the blood and quicken the pulse, and the effect of the thousands of voices joining in patriotic and religious songs was to thrill the hearts of all those who attended the ceremonies.

Seats Are Filled Early

Long before the hour of the service the balconies and the galleries were well filled with friends and relatives of the children and other members of the churches. The main floor was divided into sections, to each of which the children from some school were assigned. Shortly before 10 o'clock the seats on this floor began to fill, and by 11 o'clock had been transformed into a great garden of children, arranged in orderly fashion as one might arrange the flowers of varying kinds in a floral garden. Here was a section of little boys, darkly garbed next a square of little girls, daintily in white or light colored frocks; now a group of older boys; again a division of elder girls, contrasting their light colors with the dark wear of the lads; and so on to the very rear of the floor. Each child carried and waved a small American flag. The sight was one to beggar description.

Father Stenson Leads Prayer

The invocation, the Lord's prayer, was said by all, Father J. W. Stenson leading. Then all joined in singing "America," under the leadership of Th. Rud. Reese, the orchestra joining in. After an effective reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address by Louis Kavanagh of Creighton university, "The Star Spangled Banner" was sung.

Webster on Patriotism

John L. Webster delivered an address on "Patriotism." Father Stenson offered a prayer for the soldier dead and the service closed with the singing in union of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," and a benediction. Mr. Webster said:

Patriotism is the soul of the nation. It must have its beginning in the education of the children. When the youths of the land are inspired by patriotism they will prove a stronger protection to the perpetuity of the country than garrisons and guns, than forts and fleets. Patriotism is the religion of the country. It should be taught in the churches and in the schools. It has its birthright in the spirit of American history. It dwells in the hearts of all our country's defenders and is revived in the names of all her supporters. It entwines itself around the memories of all our soldiers who died upon the field of battle and is associated with the names and achievements of all our soldiers living.

The selection of Memorial day for this patriotic demonstration has enhanced its value. This is a patriotic day, a day filled with recollections of all the battles for the union. It is a day held in sacred reverence by the veterans of the Civil war. It is a day filled with proud and tender memories of the past. It is a day made sacred to the tradition of liberty. It is a day when the sons of freedom may drink from the fountains of patriotic enthusiasm. It is the supremest day of all the year for these children in the national songs in the fullness of the spirit of patriotism.

The primary department gave their program at 1:30, followed by that of the other grades. D. M. Haverly of Omaha, six-county clerk, gave the address of the afternoon. Special music was one of the features. All old soldiers of Benson were invited and attended in a body. An audience which packed the rooms was present.

GOVERNMENT OFFICER TESTS WATER SUPPLY

Dr. A. J. McLaughlin of the United States marine hospital service is making a series of tests of water purity and sewage pollution in the city. He has taken up his residence here and will determine the per cent of pollution in the water before he leaves. He will make a survey of the water shed.

Wednesday he went with City Engineer Craig, the city bacteriologist, and the health commissioner to visit pumping stations, the Florence plant and the river. Each day in June and July he will take samples of water at Florence and at the Burr street station and at the Union Pacific bridge below the Jones street sewer.

WILL TRY BUTTS FOR UNLAWFUL GARNISHMENT

Clarence O. Butts will be tried in police court today on a charge of unlawful garnishment. It is alleged that Butts assigned to Joseph H. Strook of Council Bluffs a note executed by Martin E. Allbaugh, an employe of the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway company, for $200. Strook tried to bring suit for the collection of the note in Council Bluffs and as Allbaugh lives in Nebraska the action was null. Butts' arrest then followed.

BUSINESS MEN TALK OMAHA

C. C. Belden, Chairman, Has Assigned Speakers to Schools.

PART OF KNOW OMAHA SCHEME

Ad Club Takes an Especial Interest in the Movement—Gives Prizes for the Best Essays on Omaha.

Omaha will be preached to the school children this morning by Omaha business men. C. C. Belden, in charge of speakers for the Know Omaha campaign, has outlined a schedule whereby a speaker will appear at each school at 10 o'clock. A majority of the talks will be made by members of the Omaha Ad club, which has taken unusual interest in the Know Omaha campaign, not only by volunteering personal work, but by subscribing $300 for prizes to school children who enter the Know Omaha essay contest.

The speakers and schools at which they speak follow:

LITTLE GIRLS ARE IN TEARS WHEN PET DOG IS SHOT

When Judge Foster ordered the pet dachshund dog of James Merk, a city fireman, living at 1011 Pacific street, shot yesterday, he caused Merk's two little step-daughters to burst into tears. Merk was arrested on a charge of harboring a vicious dog. Mrs. Grace Sturs of 128 South Tenth street was the complaining witness. She declared that the dog had attacked her on May 21 and bitten her on the right leg. She exhibited a skirt, showing how the dog's teeth had torn it. She said that the dog's teeth had penetrated through her outer garments and made a wound upon her leg.

THE BEST THING JOHN BURROUGHS EVER WROTE

The famous naturalist was asked by a clergyman to speak to his people on the gospel of nature. It set Mr. Burroughs to wondering whether nature had any gospel in the clergyman's sense of the word. Then he wrote the "Gospel of Nature" as he saw it.

Here are some of the things he told the people—now for the first time published in the June Century.

"THAT I am a sner, healthier, more contented man, with truer standards of life, for all my lotterings in the fields and woods, I am fully convinced." "THE fossils in the rocks did not mean much to the earlier geologists. They looked upon them as whims of the creative energy, or vestiges of Noah's flood. They were blinded by the preconceived notions of the six-day theory of creation." "MY friend Thompson-Seton claims to find the biological value of the Ten Commandments in the lives of the wild animals. I cannot make this reasoning hold water, at least not much of it." "NATURE is not benevolent; nature is just, gives no measure, never tempers her decrees with mercy, or winks at any infringement of her laws."
