ALDRICH'S WORDS DISTORTED

Governor Says Irresponsible Paper Has Misconstrued Speech.

Secretary J. A. Piper Pays Visit to State Penitentiary and Finds Institution Running Smoothly -Mellor Takes Vacation.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, June 6-(Special.)-"Its a lie and the whole thing a mess of garbled stuff." was the reply Governor Aldrich made to a Bee representative in the executive office this morning when asked about the report published by the World-Herald regarding his address at the University of Omaha. "I never said what the World-Herald publishes and its attempts to make political purposes. The state university heart and any attempt to make the people believe otherwise is false. The governor feels quite badly over what he considers an attempt to put him in bad with an institution in which he he did say is so far removed from what the report says he said that there is no relation whatever between them. "It only goes to show," he said, "how easy it is to make a mountain out of a molehill." Governor Aldrich went to Omaha tonight to speak before the meeting of the State Building and Loan association.

Secretary Mellor of the state fair board will leave tomorrow for a week's visit with his family, who are spending the summer in Alexander, Minn. Quite a number of people from different portions of Nebraska are stopping at the same

Piper at Penitentiary. Secretary J. A. Piper of the board of charity and corrections went to the penitentiary yesterday to look over that institution. He reports that he found nothing to complain of, but much to commend. The cells are being painted and the ceilings brightened up while the food is exceptionally good and well cooked. The supply of water which ran low a few days ago is getting all right again and he thinks with the sinking of another well outside the prison for emergency purposes that the problem of water supply will be solved. Secretary Piper makes his visits unannounced and drops in on the institutions when he is not expected. "In that way," he said, "I discover the true conditions as they exist and they are not fixed up awaiting my visit."

Reavis Leaves Committee. Frank Reavis of Falls City has tendered his resignation as a member of the bar committee and W. H. Barnes of Fairbury has been appointed in his place. Mr. Reavis gives as his reason for resigning pressure of business.

Hanging Jaw Whitelance, a full blooded Sioux Indian, who lives on the Rosebud reservation, but who has been sojourning in the federal penitentlary at Leavenworth for the last two years, as an incidental to a little adventure with government cattle that were illegally sold, told the police last night that a dusky dame on Capitol avenue relieved him of his pocketbook containing $40.

Whitelance was released from the prison Monday morning and with his penitentiary $5 and $45 that he had saved he came to Omaha to begin all over. On Capitol avenue he fell in with a coy damsel of color, who robbed the Indian after he had bought her some supper and a pair of new shoes. Detectives were seeking the woman all night, but at 2 o'clock they failed to bring her in.

"A noticeable feature of our anniversary sale is the large number of buyers from surrounding towns and the farming districts. The sale is really bringing many outsiders to the city. Sales have been enormous in all lines, showing that buyers are keenly appreciative of the values which are given during this anniversary week.

Cooper Will Tell About Keokuk Dam

Invitations have been sent out by the public affairs committee of the Commercial club for the lecture to be given tomorrow noon by Dexter P. Cooper, superintendent of the water development on the Mississippi river at Keokuk.

The address will be on the evolution of water power from the earliest times to the great achievments of the present day. He will lay special stress on the economics of the subject and the relations of cheap water power to commercialism and industrialism.

Cooper has acquired a reputation as a speaker through his ability to make an engineering and economic subject interesting to everybody.

He is well acquainted with his subject. having studied water power in Switzerland after graduating in Germany. Besides he has had large experience as a constructing engineer in this country under his noted brother, Hugh Cooper, the builder of the great Keokuk dam.

His lecture will be illustrated with rare views showing water power development and the Mississippi river project particularly. A screen and stereopticon machine will be fitted up in the Commercial club rooms to show these pictures.
