Official Crop Report. RUN IN CORN WILL NOT LAST Quotations of the Day on Various

Bears Argue that Reserves Will Come Out as Soon as the New Crop Begins to Give

OMAHA, June 7, 1912.
Unless something new comes into the stuation it is expected there will be a narrow range to wheat until the official crop report is given out next Monday. The western map has improved by recent rains, that is the harvest promise the large terms of the comerning condition. is better because the lowering condition of the drouth has been checked. But there has been much damage already over Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska which can't be made good.
There is a good fighting market in corn, the bulls taking the position that present liberal run to market will last. The stand is having late start Bears argue there are good own reserves which will come out as soon as the new crop is promising. Cash demand will be slow during the summer and with short interest the market is open to atack by bear leaders. Specialists in the oat trade are not in-clined to press the selling side of the late heavily discounted months, because chance FROVISIONS—Pork, steady; mess, $20.50 (221.00; family, $20.00@21.00; short clears, $19.25@21.00. The prices received for the property are being kept secret. There are some mortgages involved.

LATENSER AFTER BUILDERS

Will Insist County Occupy Court

House for October Term.

CONTRACTORS FAIL TO SIGN UI Lynch Says Contract May Be Taker Away from Caldwell & Drake

Unless They Agree to the Occupancy.

Another effort to have the county building general contract taken away from Caldwell & Drake will be made by John Latenser, county building architect, and County Commissioner John C. Lynch unless the general contractors agree to let the county occupy the building when the October term of court opens, regardless of whether or not it is completed.

Three months ago, when the county almost took the contract away, the county board listened to the general contractors' plea that they had been in hard luck and would rush the building to completion. The board decided not to carry out its threat to declare the contract forfeited at that time. The general contractors then were called upon to let the county occupy the building as soon as it should be reasonably near completion, the county to sacrifice none of its rights against the contractors by such occupancy. Caldwell & Drake never have signed the agreement.

"We are going to get into that building by October," said Mr. Latenser, "unless the contractors within the next few weeks agree to let us in by the time for the beginning of the October court term radical steps will be taken to see that we get in-that is, they will be taken if there are enough votes in the county board to take them.

"The asphalt driveway to the jail entrance is not even started and so far as we know the general contractors have not even let a contract for this work. Three months ago they told us they
