Slumber Parties at U. of O. Since the close of school, last Tuesday, slumber parties have come into great popularity with the girls of the University of Omaha. Tuesday night the sophomore girls slumbered at the home of Miss Mary Alice Sidwell, and Thursday the girls of the freshmen class spent the night at the home of Miss Ethel Whitley. Sleep has been such a rare treat at the functions that many of the lassies have very appropriately dubbed the affairs "slumberless parties." At the one given Tuesday evening the girls went first to the graduation exercises at the university and immediately returned to the rendezvous, where many stories were spun. Promptly at midnight a lunch was served. Again at 2 o'clock a repast of sandwiches and salad was enjoyed. Those present were: Misses - Ann Roberts, Clara Barnes, Sybil Woodruff, Clara Barnes, Bertha Wilson, Ethel Holmquist, Marilla Case, Lottie Underhill, May Yeates, Madeline Horton, Lucile Hager, Mary Alice Sidwell, Vera Fink. Those present at the freshmen party were: Misses - Mildred Foster, Agnes Nielson, Beulah McCaw, Mabel Kelly, Dorothy Scott, Agnes Stitt, Ethel Whitley.

U. of O. Notes. As a reward of selling the most tickets to the Gala day exercises the junior class was honor guest at a picnic given by the sophomore and freshmen classes Friday afternoon. The picnic was held at the Solomon farm at the intersection of Ames avenue and the Military road. Driven to shelter by the rain, the young pleasure seekers sought refuge under the cherry trees, where lunch was served. The downpour was able to dampen only the

The first of these will be Wednesday, June 12, at the home of Miss Mildred Foster, 206 Pinkney street. Following this one, one will be given every three weeks.

She will land at Liverpool, and from there will tour England, France, Germany, Holland and Italy. She will sail from Naples about the first of October and land in New York. She expects to take the southern trip on her return to Omaha.
