

PLEASANT GIRL DISCOVERED

She Says "Thank You" in Real Earnest When One Buys Stamp.

IS EMPLOYED AT POSTOFFICE

Minneapolis Newspaper Man Impressed with Her Sincere Courtesy and Tells Fraternal Brother About Her.

Employed at the postoffice there is a young woman who says "thank you" when you purchase a stamp. She has been discovered by F. H. Halbert, a Minneapolis newspaper man who spent a few days in Omaha during the week.

"Imagine it, saying 'thank you' to the stranger who buys perhaps no more than one cent's worth of letter transportation," exclaims he. "The thanks are not a slip-pant because 'have-to-greeting,' but a sincere, honest 'thank you' that causes the stranger to pause and note that he has been personally addressed.

"Omahaans are spending a lot of money to let each other know what the town is doing in the way of advancement. Its object is to publicly make known to its residents and strangers that Omaha is a town that is good to live in because it offers opportunities that are, in a great number of instances, better than any other city in the country.

Creates an Impression. "What all this publicity cannot do is to let the stranger know the spirit of the people who live in Omaha. A single bright 'thank you' can do that. It helps to create an impression of the city that all the other publicity cannot begin to create.

"Omaha may boast of her $5,000,000 more per capita bank clearings, her $15,000,000 live stock industry, her $30,000,000 dairy business, her large implement business, her grain business and paved streets, but one truly welcoming 'thank you' will do more to influence transient guests to an enthusiastically favorable impression of the city than all the statistics that can be quoted to him in a day.

Right Spirit Helps Most. "A spirit of cheerful, consistent optimism together with a real sense and appreciation of our interdependence can do more for the advancement of Omaha than the most pretentious publicity campaign that can be conceived. Not that publicity does not help, but the right spirit helps most.

"The spirit of the postoffice employe is the spirit that has helped to bring Omaha where it is; it is the spirit that will advance the city to its rightful place among the leading cities of the United States.

"When the next data is compiled concerning the resources of Omaha let the statistician find that the spirit that causes the woman in the postoffice to say 'thank you' is so infinite that it is impossible of computation. That is Omaha's greatest asset."

Omaha Women with Notable Ancestors

long friendship of the Indians with Viele they would have transferred their support to the French."

Mrs. George B. Darr, president of the local chapter of the Daughters of 1812, can boast of a fighting Scotch ancestor who fought in both the revolution and the war of 1812. This was Alexander McCoy, who braved the briny deep for fifty-three days before beginning life on American soil. Soon after landing he married Frances Katherine Sutherland, who had been a passenger on the same sailing vessel from Scotland. A pocket calendar of the period tells that this lassie brought with her across the sea the wheel and metal parts of her spinning wheel and carried them on her back as she walked to her new home in the forest of inferior Pennsylvania.

Whenever a war was on an ancestor of Mrs. William Archibald Smith was in the thick of the fray. Her great-grandfather, Daniel Crawford, enlisted at 19 years of age and fought through the revolution. While stationed at Stony Point in 1779 he was captured by the English and imprisoned in New York nine months. But he escaped. Mrs. Smith's grandfather, Joseph Sniffen, served in the war of 1812, and her father, William Griffin, was in the civil war on the union side.

Mrs. Charles M. Wilhelm is descended from George Stocking of Suffolk, England, who came to America in 1824, settled in Cambridge, Mass., and became a member of Rev. Thomas Hooker's company, which founded Hartford, Conn. Mrs. Wilhelm is a member of the Society of Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America through Deacon Samuel Stocking, one of three signers of the Indian deed, of Middletown, Conn., who was ten times sent as representative to the state general assembly. His wife was Betha Hopkins, granddaughter of Samuel Hopkins, one of the signers of the Mayflower compact.

Through Captain George Stocking of the Connecticut militia Mrs. Wilhelm is a member of the Society of Colonial Dames. The captain's wife was named Mercy Savage. Mrs. Wilhelm is also a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution through Captain Abner Stocking, who assisted at the siege of Bunker Hill, was with Arnold at Quebec, was one of the leaders at the Point Judith expedition and was commissioned captain in the Connecticut militia alarm.

Mrs. Frank Crawford holds membership in five societies through her illustrious ancestry. She is a member of the Mayflower society through three ancestors—William Bradford, first governor of Massachusetts; John Alden and Priscilla Mullins, being eleventh in descent from John Alden. She belongs to the Daughters of Colonial Governors, through William Bradford, the younger; John Alden and Matthew Ally, Mrs. Crawford is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution through Gamaliel Whiting, and a member of the Daughters of 1812 through Horace Whiting. She belongs to the society of Americans of Royal Descent and is now in New York working on a genealogy of her family.

Mrs. Mary E. Emerson has so many illustrious forefathers—governors, judges, educators, ministers and leaders in war—that it would take a good many books to tell all about their accomplishments. And in fact many books have been written about them. By right of descent from Governor Thomas Dudley, one of the historic founders of the Massachusetts Bay colony, she is a member of the society of Daughters of Colonial Governors. She is also a member of the Daughters of Patriots and Founders, Society of Colonial Dames and Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. R. E. McKelvy is president of the Major Isaac Sailer chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which is named after her revolutionary ancestor of that name. Mrs. McKelvy's great-great-great-grandfather fought with General Braddock at Fort du Quene against the French and Indians and about 100 years later she was born at that very place, which had been changed to the city of Pittsburgh.

Enos Clapsaddle, the great-grandfather, and William Clapsaddle, the grandfather of Mrs. Samuel Rees, fought side by side in the revolution and came out of the war, one a major and the other a colonel. Mrs. Rees' daughter, Miss Henrietta Rees, is adept at tracing ancestry and has followed that of her mother back to Roger Williams, even farther, to Martin Luther, and even farther than that, to the time of Charlemagne.

Mrs. George W. Covell, president of the Daughters of the Confederacy; Mrs. F. E. Bryant, Mrs. Edgar Allen, Mrs. J. J. Stubbs, Mrs. A. K. Gault and many other Omaha women come of illustrious ancestry.

Mrs. Bernard Capen and Mrs. Sidney Smith will give a bridge party Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Foran, 104 South Thirty-fourth street.

The Columbian circle will entertain Monday afternoon at their hall, Twenty-second and Locust streets. The hostesses will be Mrs. P. J. Moore and Mrs. F. A. Squires.

Mrs. John M. Griffith will entertain at a Kensington Tuesday afternoon at her home in Florence in honor of her sister, Mrs. William W. Beebe of New York. A week from Tuesday Mrs. Griffith will entertain again for the same guest.

Miss Ulah Renner, who has been spending the winter with her aunt, Mrs. W. L. Yetter, entertained at dinner at the club last evening for the regimental officers of the Omaha high school regiment. Covers were placed for:

Messes—Lois Howell, Claire Patterson, Adelyn Wood, Helen Fogue, Ulah Renner, Katherine Davenport. Messrs—Malcolm Baldrige, Beryl Crocker, Everard Childs, David Bowman, Sievers Susmann, George Grimes.

BEAUTIFUL HANDS AND ARMS

A FAMOUS BEAUTY GIVES HER SECRET TO THE WORLD.

A Free Prescription You Can Prepare at Your Own Home.

Many women take perfect care of their face and clothes, yet neglect their hands. Rough, red hands are almost as unattractive as ill-kept teeth.

It is a simple, easy matter to keep your hands smooth and beautiful. The following prescription, which you can compound at your own home, is famous for the marvelous, instantaneous result it gives:

Get from your druggist one ounce of Kalum Compound. Put it in a two-ounce bottle, add quarter of an ounce of witch hazel, fill with water and shake well.

You will be surprised at the result when applied to your hands, arms or neck. Blemishes of every kind disappear as if by magic. Freckles, tan, rough skin, coarse pores, yield instantly to this application. This is the private prescription of a famous Parisian beauty.
