OMAHA, June 10, 1912. There was little doubt in the minds of the wheat traders that the government seport to be issued today after the close of the market would be less bullish than the popular reports recently received from crop experts. Today's market was a narrow affair, views being divided as to the amount of damage done to winter wheat since the official figures were called in. Conditions in the northwest will be the next feature.

SHEEP-Considerable change in the character of receipts featured the sheep and lamb trade. Instead of numerous case on most days last week the supply range sections. About twenty-five load were received in all, seventeen of which came from California and Oregon. The Californians were spring lambs while the Oregon shipment, involving six loads, was made up of sheep.

Packers apparently needed the big end of the run on fresh killing orders, but most buyers were disposed to wait but most buyers were disposed to war until someone else established a trading basis, producing a slow and doubtful market up until 10 o'clock. Nothing much changed hands during the forepatt of the session, only a few small bands of medium fed stock moving over the scales. Prices paid averaged about steady ing as good as the record-breaking cattle received here, still there were some right good killers, good enough in fact to bring with those in force Friday, the trade in general being quoted quiet and unchanged.

The supply of cows and helfers was ex-tremely small, but all desirable kinds showed about the same advance as beef steers, that is, around 10c higher. The common and interior grades may not have changed.

Practically all of the grassers received were fat and with nothing suitable for feeding among the corn belt offerings, no business in this branch of the market was reported. Last week's purchase o feeders was negligible, only two or three loads going out for a short term. Quotations on shorn sheep and lambs. ### SERMON HEARD BY STUDENTS

High School Graduating Class at First Methodist Church.

WILLIAMS GIVES ADVICE

Each Member of Class is Presented with Bulletins with Appropriate Frontispiece of High School Buildings.

Some 240 students of the senior class of the Omaha High school who graduate this week gathered at the First Methodist church yesterday morning, where Rev. Milton B. Williams delivered the annual baccalaureate sermon. "A Neglected Garden" was his topic.

"If your garden in life is to be a good one you must tend it with painstaking care and vigilance," said Rev. Mr. Williams. "Even a week of neglect will be harmful-a year of poor care will leave it a wilderness.

"There must be no weeds, nettles or dandelions to corrupt the fertility of the soil. Picture to yourself a neglected garden spot. The gate is broken down, the fence unpainted and the ground itself shows signs of decay. On the other hand, turn to a garden that is cultivated carefully from day to day. The vegetation is budding and waving in the sunlight, the ground is fertile and the surrounding wall is strong and well built. We can justly apply the same example to everyday life. If we neglect ours souls and our common duties and lean back to enjoy the luxurious pleasures of life and never stoop to labor we will cease to be an asset to ourselves.

"The world of today is a battleground of forces and success and fortune comes to those who make use of themselves in the vast field of opportunity which the twentieth century boasts. We need not journey to foreign climes for wealth and us and it is up to the hustler and energetic to climb to the top."

Rev. Williams selected his text from the twenty-fourth chapter of Proverbs. Students Are Congratulated.

In opening he touched upon the relation of the church to the school and the importance of both to the younger generation. He congratulated the students of the class of 1912 on their work of climbing to the summit of their high school training and bid them best wishes in their future duties and work. A fitting tribute was also paid to the faculty of the Capitol Hill institution.

The members of the class formed a long line in pairs, stretching along Twentieth from Davenport street to Capitol avenue, before entering the church.

Very appropriate bulletins of the occasion, with a frontispiece picture of the high school building and message of greeting to the class of 1912, were given each senior who attended.

'Can't Come, Ol' Four,' Shout Crap Shooters; Cop Quartet Appears

"Come on you li'l Joe dice! Rip 'er up,

"Dime t'nickel yo don' five! Ya aina comin'! Ain' nobody comin'!" But the forty or more enthusiastic 18-year-old crap-shooters who were engrossed in their operations in an alley in the rear of a hardware store at Twenty-seventh and Leavenworth streets were badly fooled, but just as the youth who expressed his utmost confidence 'that "nobody could come" uttered the words Sergeant Samuelson, Patrolman Nieman and Motorcycle Officers Emery and Wheeler burst in upon the scene.

The youthful gamblers scattered in every direction and the officers were to the station, where they gave the following names: Adolph Anderson, 842 Twenty-eighth street; Albert Harsch, 3644 Pacific street; Henry Homak, 3029 Leavenworth street; Erick Anderson, $24 South Twenty-eighth street; Frank McCarthy, 1613 South Twenty-eighth street, and Stanley Lacey, 1002 South Thirtieth street.

Other raids made yesterday by the police were at the Burke saloon, Tenth and Davenport streets, where thirteen inmates and the proprietor were taken, and a room at 2624 Leavenworth street run by George O'Toole, where four men playing stud poker were arrested.

VILLAIN STEALS WALTER'S PANTS AND CAUSES GRIEF

When Walter Madson, 2207 Woolworth street, sat down rather unexpectedly and with some force on a chair covered with paint, spoiling his hest pair of trousers thereby, his cup of sorrow was filled to the brim. When after rubbing the same with gasoline for an hour to get the paint off, his grief abated somewhat, for the trousers were still in condition to be worn. But when he hung them on a clothes line to dry, while he discreetly went to bed, and some beast in human against him in district court pending on form passed the clothes line and removed
