I.-STANDING BY THE GUN.

Desperate Desmond is in the Cuban fort, and stands by the loaded gun ready to fire it. Claude Eclair and Rosamond are in a boat with the United States marines, and they all expect that the fort will fire a salute for them. Little do they guess that Desmond stands by the loaded gun.

IL-ROCKING THE BOAT.

Even heroes have their moments of folly, and here we see Claude in his most foolish momen. Our hero is actually rocking the boat to frighten Rosamond. Rocking a boat is as great a risk as pointing a gun at a person, and saying at the funeral, "Didn't know it was loaded."

III.-FIRE!

Desmond, thinking the boatload of marines is now at the right distance. fires the huge cannon at the unsuspecting party. Expecting a salute, the marines do not become suspicious when they see a man ready to fire one of the guns from the fort, as they think it is merely a ceremony in their honor.

IV .- A LUCKY MOMENT.

As the natural result of Claude's horseplay, the boat in which he played the fool is capsized, and the entire party thrown in the water. This time, however, the accident is lucky. Just as Desmond's shot is reaching the boat, everybody goes into the water and the lives of all are

V .- IN THE WAVES.

Rosamond, although cast into the water so suddenly, has not the least fear of being drowned, for her hero, Claude, is with her. Claude, with powerful strokes, swims with the beautiful girl towards the land, where he expects to find friends. He little suspects the presence of Desperate Desmond.

VI .- THE VILLAIN'S TRIUMPH.

"I'm the boy!" cries Desperate Desmond "and I'll sink this fellow in a second." The villain, instead of trying to rescue the lovers, aims a gun at Claude's head from the cliff above. There is nothing in sight to save the lovers now. Tomorrow we shall see if they escape.
