OMAHA BANKS PROSPEROUS

Big Increase in Both Loans and Deposits is Noted.

BANKERS ARE WELL PLEASED Say that the Statement is an Indication of the Healthy Condition of Business—Comptroller Issues Call.

Bank deposits in Omaha's banks are $2,975,844 greater this June than at this time last year. The total amount of money deposited in the national banks, according to the statement made in response to call of the national comptroller of the currency for June 14 was $55,964,618, while the statement in response to this call last June showed but $52,988,774.

Not only do the deposits show an increase over last year, but the loans also. The increase over last year is $4,651,879. The Omaha banks do not show an increase in the deposits over the last call on April 12. At that time the total deposits were $55,639,941, or a difference of but $324,877. The loans, however, show an increase over the last statement of about $1,400,000.

This increase over last year in both deposits and loans is regarded as a most substantial growth of Omaha banking concerns and business in general. The increase in loans is caused by the borrowing of money by country banks. It shows that the farmers are expectant of a large crop due to the recent rains and are drawing hard on the country banks. The Omaha bankers are highly elated over the condition of affairs and look for an unusually good run of business for the year.

Following is the table of comparison of the present statement in respect to the deposits and loans a year ago, and on the last call, April 12.

WOMAN SMASHES WINDOW THROUGH WHICH MAN WINKED

Emulating the example of another militant energy of Damon Run, Mrs. Jennie Richardson, 2623 California street, picked up a cobble stone yesterday afternoon at Sixteenth and Chicago streets and smashed a $300 plate glass window in the Safe saloon. To down the demon, however, was only an incidental object. To hit a leering face was her purpose and she was so careless in aiming that she hit an innocent drinker, her husband. Some one told Mrs. Richardson that her husband was in the saloon and when she went to see for herself, a man standing near the window, mistook her inquiring glance and winked. She then threw the brick and when the patrons of the place rushed out to see what had happened, she picked up another rock and threw it at her husband. She was arrested and charged with disturbing the peace and disorderly conduct. In police court Mrs. Richardson said her husband did not contribute to either her support or that of their small child. She said she would rather be in jail than live with a drunken man, and that she did not care what the judge did with her. She was discharged. Richardson was given ninety days in jail.

ST. LOUIS MAN DISCOVERED UNCONSCIOUS IN SO OMAHA

John Scott of South Omaha last night found a man lying in the Rock Island railroad yards at Twenty-fourth and W streets in an unconscious condition. He appeared to have taken a drug of some kind. He was sent to the South Omaha hospital and is in a precarious condition. Papers on his person indicate he is Otto Harrison of St. Louis. He is about 30 years of age.

NEW OCCUPATION TAX PLAN

City Attorney is Drawing Ordinance to Include New List.

ALL COMMISSIONERS FAVOR IT

Tax is to be Levied on All Business and Professional Men in the City—New Wheel Ordinance Up.

An occupation tax, to be levied on every business and professional man in the city of Omaha, is the gist of an ordinance which is now in the making to be brought before the city council. This ordinance has the favor of every one of the city commissioners and when it is brought before them for their consideration it will go through without any hitch. In addition to this occupation tax is the wheel tax, which will be levied against every vehicle in Omaha. With these two extra taxes, the city commissioners say they will reduce the tax levy on real and personal property in Omaha to a much smaller basis than it is at present. This occupation tax, such as the ordinance will call for, is now in practice in Kansas City and almost all the larger cities of the south.

By this tax the butcher, baker, lawyer, doctor, bootblack and corporations will be compelled to pay in addition to their real and personal property tax a small amount of money which will be placed into a general fund for the carrying on of the city business. It may be apportioned to the various departments, but this, as yet has not been discussed. At present the only people in Omaha paying an occupation tax are the ice, coal and material dealers. But the new ordinance will affect every business man and woman in Omaha. The wheel tax ordinance which will come before the city council within a short while will be put to such use that the people paying it will save money instead of losing it. The money will be placed in a fund to be used for the repairing of streets, paving and all other roads. The automobile owner who is required to pay a fee of $20 will save that much on tires, owing to the good condition of the roads. Both these new tax ordinances will come before the city council within a short while. The occupation tax is now being drawn up by City Attorney Rine and just how much each business and professional man will be assessed is not known at this time. But the occupation and wheel tax will both be based on a sliding scale.

AUTOMOBILE STRIKES BOY AT CASS AND SEVENTEENTH

Joe Wirtz, aged 12 years, was struck by an automobile driven by F. J. McArdie, 2615 Hamilton street, at Seventeenth and Cass streets yesterday afternoon, and knocked from his bicycle, sustaining a dislocated hip and painful bruises. Mr. McArdie took him to his automobile to the office of Dr. Allison who gave him medical attention. Later he was taken to his home at 209 Brown street, where he is resting easily. Mr. McArdie was arrested by Detective Hall as a "suspicious character" but was later released on bonds. According to McArdie the accident was unavoidable, as he was driving slowly up Cass street while the lad was coming south on Seventeenth. At the intersection they hit before either could see the danger.

WALSH GIVEN SURPRISE AS LEAVES FOR IRELAND

James Walsh, capitalist, prominent republican and consistent Omaha booster was guest of honor last night at a surprise banquet given at the Hotel Millard by a score and ten of his friends. Mr. Walsh leaves soon for an extended visit to his old home in Ireland and the affair last night was just a little token of the esteem in which he is held by his friends. Mr. Walsh was told Monday afternoon by Joe Hummel that there was a "hen on" or in other words, a political conference at which his presence was desired. He responded, but when he entered the banquet hall his surprise was complete when he saw all of his most intimate friends gathered about the banquet board, who cheered loudly at his appearance. The program of the evening was put under way by D. L. Shanahan, toast master. Responses were given by J. B. Lindsay, whose subject was, "Our Guest." Others were by Fred Hoya, Colonel A. D. Fetterman, John McArdie, J. B. Hummel, William Whittaker, Robert Smith, Frank C. Best, Ben Keegan, John Jensen, Michael Lee, Fred Anthony, A. D. Fetterman, William Whittaker, John Salmon, Patrick Trainor, Dr. William H. Bruner, Jr., Robert Smith, Fred Klank, James Flanagan, Fred H. Hoya, John McArdie of Elkhorst, Fred Witt of Elkhorst, James E. Lindsay and Fred Rogers.

"GALLERY GOD" SPOILED IT

Bunch of Uncalled-for Remarks Wrecked the Thrills of a Play.

All the good stories which the late Maurice Barrymore, father of Ethel, Lillian and John Barrymore, told on himself never have been published and probably never will be. Barrymore was in Kansas City just prior to his final collapse and here is a story he told: Barrymore was Mrs. Leslie Carter's leading support when that celebrated actress appeared in Belasco's production of "The Heart of Maryland." In the big third act Barrymore, the hero, was in the hands of the designing villain, who had caught him off guard. Two rookies bound Barrymore's hands and the villain, left alone with his prey, taunted the hero. It was Barrymore's "business" to squirm and to wall. "Oh, if my hands were free," he would repeat several times, as he tried vainly to break the rope which held him fast. The villain would approach and snap his fingers right under Barrymore's nose. "Loosen my hands, you devil," Barrymore would exclaim. One night at this great and exciting moment in the scene Barrymore had just finished his dare to the villain to loosen his hands when the traditional gallery god yelled out in a sharp, clear voice: "Why don't you kick him on the shins, Barry, your feet ain't tied." Barrymore cursed the part from that moment until his dying day.—Kansas City Star.

FRENZIED FANS ENGAGE IN FIGHT OVER ARGUMENT

An argument started during the Des Moines-Omaha ball game yesterday afternoon at Bourke's park, as to the respective batting merits of Thomson and Arbogast culminated in a free for all fist fight, which ended when Police Sergeant Sigwart and a squad of policemen arrested the participants. At the station the fans gave the names of William Berry, 623 Vinton street; C. Harris, 523 Vinton; John and Tom Sullivan, South Omaha; and James Boland, 2020 Vinton street. All were released upon Persistent Advertising is the Road to Big Returns.

MANY S. S. TEACHERS HERE

Big Delegation from Burt County Comes on a Special Train.

GOOD OF CHILDREN CONSIDERED

Leaders in the Work Read Papers and Tell Various Plans for Interesting Children in the Sunday Schools.

Announced by silk banners, pennants, church emblems and American flags, 150 Sunday school teachers from Burt county, delegates to the Nebraska Sunday School Teachers' association in convention here, arrived in Omaha at 9:10 yesterday at the Webster street station. Three special cars were taken up with the delegates. The procession formed in front of the depot and marched in pairs along the sidewalk west on Webster street to Sixteenth, south on Sixteenth to Davenport, and thence west on Davenport street to the First Methodist church at Twentieth, where the convention had already opened its morning session. Rev. R. W. Taylor of Tekamah led the line with a huge silk Burt county Sunday school banner. The procession made a line nearly two blocks in length. When the delegates entered the church it was loudly applauded. Talk on Graded Lessons. John L. Alexander of Chicago was the principal speaker at the secondary division conference, his topic being "Graded Lessons." Mrs. E. D. Kester of Clay Center told how she organized a large Sunday school class of girls last winter and allowed them to hold "socials" at her home, thus securing greater cooperation and interest. In the adult division, presided over by W. H. Kimberly of Lincoln a "round table" discussion was held. No business of the association will be taken up until Thursday morning when all affairs will be settled for the next twelve months. Want Practical Examples. "Children who attend Sunday school demand practical examples and as the older ones who instruct them are capable of supplying the demand they are the most effective asset of the school," said Rev. E. L. Rouse of Peru in his talk "The Reward of the Teacher" at the convention last evening. George G. Wallace of Omaha and J. Shreve Durham of Chicago both spoke on the need of organizing Sunday school work. The fact was strongly brought out by both speakers that organization does not mean a multitude of agencies, but rather a harmonious blending together in a single enterprise. Lee G. Kratz of Omaha directed the opening chorus.

OMAHA UNIVERSITY TRUSTEES IN SESSION

The board of trustees of the University of Omaha held their annual business meeting in Judge Howard Kennedy's office in The Bee building last evening when about twenty members were present. Dr. D. E. Jenkins, president of the university faculty, reported an enrollment of eighty-five students for the school year just closed and the graduation of one student, Harry Jerome, at the end of the term, the third in the history of the university. Further reports were submitted by Judge Kennedy, dean of the Omaha School of Law, which has been affiliated with the University of Omaha. D. W. Morrow, treasurer of the board, and Charles A. Alden, financial secretary, also made reports. New members elected to the board of trustees were as follows: A. J. Eggeess, John Bekins, John L. McCague, L. E. Orcutt, W. G. Ure, George Rasmussen, Charles R. Sherman, Alvin F. Johnson, Hugh Myers and Charles Alden. Old members of the board re-elected were: Howard Kennedy, A. C. Busk, A. R. Wells, N. E. Adams, Dr. W. S. Gibbs, D. W. Morrow, D. E. Jenkins, A. A. Lamereaux and F. R. Du Fresno.
