The Men's Suits Must Go

Astonishing Reductions, Drastic Measures Mark the Closing Out of the Big Bennett Stock of Men's Clothing. Never More Than Half Price

There never was such a clothing event in the entire Middle west-- and it is not likely there will ever be another to equal this one. Instead of having a few broken lines, or a lot of suits purchased especially for the occasion, you are allowed to choose from an entire stock that has satisfied men and young men engaged in every pursuit; a stock that knows no equal in quality of fabric and finish and which embraces every worthy style. BENNETT'S PRICES WERE ALWAYS LOWER FOR THE SAME QUALITY THAN THOSE IN ANY OTHER OMAHA CLOTHING STORE-which prices are the same from which we make these never-to-be-forgotten reductions. Our only advice concerning the sale is that you come early in the day.

the Bettermen of Morals of Youths and Civic Indulgences.

"It's not the bald-headed row that is responsible for bad plays, but the dehatted women," declared Prof. Shaller Mathews, dean of the Divinity school in the University of Chicago, in a conference on "Saving the City" this morning at the summer school and conference at the University of Omaha.

"Women support theaters; men go be cause women want them to. If the federated women's clubs of the city would take a stand against undesirable plays you would be amazed how quickly the situation would be reformed. You will never get the city government to do it. The city government will prevent an obscene play if it is cheap, but let the $1.50 atives or friends nearby. and $2 plays which are supported by the

"It is ludicrous that magnificent school buildings should be closed all summer while children are out on the streets. Keep playgrounds, at least, open with something of educational value going on. I never could understand why the American people worship the little red school house and let their children go to the devil on the city streets."

Supervise Dance Halls.
At the afternoon conference Dr. Mathews took up the attitude of the church toward municipal affairs, dealing with the questions of supervision of dance halls and moving picture theaters. Several questions were raised on own and operate moving picture houses, such as have been inaugurated in New York City-whether to operate them free or to charge admission. He also advised communities where several denominations are gathered in close radius to pay for the services of a nurse whose dutles would be to care for the sick in boarding houses and flats who do not have rel-

All the grownups have agreed, however, that there shall be no limbs lost or injuries sustained and that not a firecracker or torpedo shall be shot off by a kiddle on the street and that the safe and sane idea shall be strictly enforced.

A large picture of the republican national convention in its initial session is now being shown in one of Brandels show wndows in the old store on the Sixteenth street side. It is wonderfully clean cut and reveals the interior of the Chicago Coliseum packed to the roof. Many Omaha people were in the building at the time and a number can be clearly seen in the picture. Victor Rosewater, chair man of the convention, is plainly to h seen. Other Omahans in the picture are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Baldrige, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Brandels, Mr. and Mrs. O. C Redick, Mrs. Victor Rosewater, Charles Hull, Ben Edelman and Luther Drake. The photograph has attracted large crowds all day.
