power at Washington by encroachments on the rightful spheres of the states.

Third-Economy in public expenditures. All those who believe that these principles should be steadfastly maintained belong in the democratic party.

No party can expect or deserve success in the conduct of national affairs which is not broad enough to comprehend many who differ widely in their views on the minor points. It will have a right wing, a left wing and a center, all co-ordinate parts of one, and the same political body.

I appeal to you as the great leader for whom I have cast my vote in former presidential campaigns as one agreeing with you on those points, though differing from you as to some ethers, to use your commanding influence to secure harmony at Baltimore.

The men were driving north in the car tracks and the street car came along behind, striking the wagon before i could get off the track. Both men were thrown from their seats to the ground and painfully injured. Zancanella sustained a broken left arm and bruises about the face and body, and Aldera suffered a scalp wound several inches in length, besides a bad wound on the right forearm. Zancanella was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, but Aldera was able to go to his own home. The wagon upon which the men were riding was demolished. declare for the Roosevelt ticket, including Sterling for senator. This leaves the republican ticket with no actual nominees and gives Senator Gamble, who was beaten by Sterling, a good chance to go before the next legislature as the republican candidate. Gamble's friends here claim to see a good chance for his election in this
