

The Second Week of the Mammoth Half Million Dollar Clearance Begins With More Selling Records Being Shattered

We ushered in the second week of the closing out of the Bennett Half-Million Dollar Stock with even greater bargains than those that characterized the first week of the sale and which created the greatest crowds Omaha ever knew.

People came from hundreds of miles around, attracted by the wonderful offerings of our advertisements, and many was the expression: "We don't see how such bargains can be possible."

But they are possible, and they are here—waiting for you. No like condition ever confronted another store in America and it is taking heroic measures to accomplish our purpose. When the sale is over, there will not be an item from the old Bennett stock in the store. The prices we are quoting will move them all out. There are BARGAINS for every need and fancy of wardrobe and home-bargains that mean dollars and dollars saved to you.

Consider that the specials in this advertisement are only specimens of what you will find in every department of the store. It would be impossible to list all of them in a single advertisement, no matter how large. Every item is a bargain. Shop in the morning if possible.

Mountains of Snowy Undermuslins to Be Moved Out in This Big Clearance at Prices You Generally Expect Only on Soiled Garments. All Are Fresh, New, Clean and Beautiful

Before we purchased the old Bennett Company's stocks we thoroughly investigated the origin of every line in the store—simply to satisfy our own minds that they would withstand the most rigid tests for quality. The muslin underwear stock was one that received our most particular attention, because a woman's undergarments are a very important part of her wardrobe and have a great deal to do with her personal comfort and the fit of her outer garments. We found that each and every line was from a maker reputed for the quality of some particular kind; we found that all were made from materials that were superior to those usually found in lines selling at the same prices; we found that all of the materials were pure grass bleached as the Bennett Company would not allow any chemically bleached garments in their store; we found that they were accurately cut and proportioned and finely finished in every detail; we found that the laces and embroideries used in the trimming schemes corresponded in quality with the main material of the garments they adorned—that's the kind of a stock that you buy from in this closing out sale; a stock that was not purchased for a bargain event, but for a steady year 'round trade.

Every Item in the Entire Muslin Underwear Section is Reduced in Price. These Five Specimen Bargains Only Serve to Show How Great the Reductions Really are.

Bright and Fresh as a Summer's Morning Are the Garments in the Bennett Closing Out Sale

If you were to judge from the price part you might think they had been in stock for the last six months' time or even longer. But when you see the garments with your own eyes you will at once realize that they are the smartest, most fashionable garments you ever saw and the rarest kind of bargains. Although the selling of the past week has been the greatest the town ever knew, the stock is still large and complete in every particular—it was the largest stock of the kind in the Middle West. Very large women will find the sale helpful for the Bennett Company catered especially to the large woman's trade. And what is true of the lines for large women is true of every line designed for women who are "hard to fit." Here's how the prices run—all are just a half of the former Bennett prices:

DECLINE IN SUGAR MARKET

First Time Known for it to Go Down During the Canning Season.

GREENSTUFFS NOW PLENTIFUL

Fruits are coming in carlots from Texas and California and the Home-Grown Varieties coming into market.

Never before has sugar experienced such a decline on the market at the height of the preserving season. During the last two weeks it has dropped 15 cents a hundred pounds while the housewife is stewing over the cherries and things on the stove and clamoring for more sugar. The commodity now is selling on the local market nineteen pounds for $1.

The real reason for the decline is almost as obscure as why Bryan is opposing Judge Parker for temporary chairman. (Politics must enter in for the story to get prominence in the paper.) One reason is, according to A. King, manager of Hayden Brothers' grocery department, that the duty is to be taken off raw sugar this fall. Why that should have an effect so soon is another question which maybe the cane sugar maker of the south can explain. But be that as it may, sugar is down.

Fruits Within Reach.

As a pleasing coincidence, apricots and some other fruits for the canning season, are also within reach. A carload of them have arrived from California and sell on the market for $1.00 a crate. A mixed carload of tomatoes, plums, peaches, also is expected from Texas.

The peaches will sell at 20 cents a basket. Plums from Texas are an innovation and dealers are waiting to see them before they advertise.

Cherries, gooseberries and currants have risen 5 and 50 cents a crate, selling now at $2. Pineapples are about gone. In the last two weeks they have advanced 75 cents and now retail at $3.25 a crate.

Vegetables are plentiful. Radishes, carrots, beets and turnips are selling at 5 cents a bunch. Home grown peas are on the market at 5 cents a quart, while wax and green beans are 2 1/2 cents higher. New cabbage can be bought, three pounds for 19 cents and its college bred sister, cauliflower, sells at 5 cents a pound. New potatoes are 40 cents a full weight pack. California cantaloupes are bringing 5 and 7 1/2 cents each.

Stiller House Raid is Without Results

Charles Stiller, proprietor of a house at 424 South Thirteenth street, and nine inmates, arrested Saturday night by Deputy Sheriffs Wright and Mahoney and charged with conducting a disorderly house, was discharged in police court.

At the time of the raid the inmates and proprietor were drinking beer. There were about seven cases of beer on legs and a tub of whiskey.

PUBLIC BATHS ARE FAVORED

Action May Be Taken by Commissioners Before Summer Passes.

HOW IT WORKS AT CLEVELAND

Nominal Charge is Made There and Thousands of Citizens Are Accommodated Every Day of the Week.

Commissioners are considering the advisability of building public bath houses and the majority have expressed a desire that some action be taken before the summer is over.

Joe B. Hummel, park commissioner, is in favor of public baths, but cannot install them out of the park fund, which is being rapidly depleted by expenditures for park improvements.

If free baths cannot be installed it is the plan to furnish baths at 2 cents each, a penny for the water and a penny for a towel. This charge is made by the municipality of Cleveland.

Twenty-nine hundred people took baths there on one Saturday," says Moxy Bernstein, who has just returned from Cleveland. "I saw 700 people standing in line waiting their turn. They keep twelve gas heaters going continually to heat water. On Wednesdays and Mondays girls and women are allowed to take baths at the municipal bathing houses."

Four Provided For.

One of Cleveland's playgrounds is a block long and half a block wide, and they also have a "colony" for the poor where 600 acres have been divided into ten-acre tracts and families placed thereon.

Mayor Baker says he would favor an increase of taxes rather than the abandonment of the recreation parks and houses.

Prof. Cooley, former passenger agent for the Lake Shore railroad, is in charge of the colony and has made a success of it. Consumptives are allowed to live on and maintain a tract.

Eucled beach is maintained in an orderly manner; no liquor is sold nor are any who drink allowed in it. There is a big dance hall where 1,500 couples may dance at the same time. Discipline is maintained always. The park is popular and is netting the owners about $50,000 a year.

Indictments in Car Repair Fund Cases Dismissed

Indictments against four former officials of the Illinois Central railroad, Frank B. Harriman, John M. Taylor, Charles Lewing and Joseph E. Baker, who were alleged to have been implicated in car repair frauds by which the road was swindled out of $1,500,000, were dismissed yesterday in the criminal court.

Absence of indispensable witnesses forced the dismissal, so Assistant State Attorney Northrup declared.

Civil proceedings, which had also been started, were settled out of court.

CROP CONDITIONS IMPROVE

Burlington Report Shows All Grain Better Than Week Ago.

SOUTH PLATTE HAS RAINS

Corn Has Been Making Rapid Growth in Spite of Cool Weather—Fifty Per Cent More Sugar—Better Than Last Year.

The Burlington's crop report for the week ending June 22 is somewhat more optimistic than that of the previous week. The report covers the lines in Nebraska and places the condition on winter wheat at:

Omaha division, 75; Lincoln, 83; Wy-more, 78; McCook, 59 per cent. At the end of the previous week the estimate was:

Omaha division, 75; Lincoln, 78; Wy-more, 78; McCook, 48 per cent.

During the last week the rains were heavy over the McCook division, extending well down into Kansas. On other divisions there were frequently and well distributed showers but not heavy. However, according to the report, there was sufficient precipitation to keep the grain in a fine growing condition. Everywhere it is said the wheat is heading out well and that the berry is plump.

The report shows an excellent prospect for fully an average crop of spring wheat, oats and barley. For the corn, the temperature was a little low during the week under review, yet for this rapid growth was made and the condition now is estimated at better than 70 per cent.

The acreage of sugar beets is placed at 20 per cent more than last year and the prospects never better. Everywhere the pastures are in the best possible condition.

Smith Finds Lumber Prices Advanced

Purchasing Agent Smith of the Union Pacific is back from Tacoma, Wash., where he went for the purpose of figuring on the company stock of lumber for the fiscal year beginning July 1, providing he found the market right. However, instead of placing a big order, Mr. Smith returned without having done any buying. At the mills around Tacoma and all through Washington and Oregon Mr. Smith found that there has been a material advance on lumber during the last six months, due in a large measure to abnormal demand of material for silos. The lumber of which silos are made is clear stuff and during the last six months has advanced $11 per 1,000 feet. It now sells at $40 per 1,000 feet. All other lumber has advanced, though not so much.

Relative to a report of a shortage of cars for shipments east, Mr. Smith found that it is without foundation. The cars that carry freight to the north coast points are sufficient in number to handle everything coming east, and there is no unusual demand now, though it will be greater a few weeks hence when the wheat begins to move.
