Judge Keogh Drops the Thaw Case

WHITE PLAINS, N. J., June 27.—No testimony was taken in the Thaw hearing during the first session today. It is thought possible a commission may be appointed to decide the case.

Judge Keogh again failed to appear on the bench at this afternoon's session and after another conference with the attorneys for Thaw and the state it was announced that a recess would be taken until tomorrow morning. It was said in the courtroom that Judge Keogh after hearing Thaw's testimony yesterday suddenly remembered that he had been consulted by one of Thaw's counsel some years ago and that because of this he refused to go on with the case. Neither the judge nor any of the attorneys would say anything.

Containing Brady's Famous Civil War Photographs (Published by Permission of the U. S. War Department) And Professor Eason's Newly Written History of the Civil War

Coupon Good for Sections 1, 2, 3 or 4

The Omaha Bee has entered into a great National publishing alliance, whose object is to place in every American home the best possible memento of the Civil War—as an education in patriotism, and also in order to celebrate fittingly the semi-centennial of that momentous period. We have secured the rights in this city for the famous Brady photographs, taken on the actual fields of battle, and lost for many years. These historic scenes, with full history of the great struggle, newly written by Prof. Henry W. Eason of Ohio University, will be issued in sixteen sections, each complete in itself, and known as the CIVIL WAR THROUGH THE CAMERA. The above coupon, if used at once, is good for one section when accompanied by an expense fee of TEN CENTS, to cover cost of material, handling, clerk hire, etc. By mail, three cents extra. Bring or send this Coupon TODAY to The Bee office.

BRYAN OPENS ROW AT LAST MINUTE

both Clark and Wilson on equal terms as progressives.

If Mr. Bryan has determined to wage his fight for progressive principals with Governor Wilson as his candidate, he has not made it known.

Organization Not Complete.

The report of the credentials committee was the pending business before the convention today. Confusion in the hall compelled an adjournment last night before the minority report could be read and the entire matter was left over. Considerable debate is promised over the two reports. Encouraged by their success last night, the Wilson forces were prepared to fight the majority report seating ten delegates from South Dakota over ten Wilson delegates. They were confident they could seat their men over the heads of the committee if Mr. Bryan would help.

Senator-elect Ole James of Kentucky will be inducted as permanent chairman after the roll is completed and the next business before the convention will be the nomination of a presidential candidate. A tremendous flow of eloquence is expected to be turned loose by enthusiastic adherents of various men in proposing their names. Nominating speeches will be permitted to go the limit, but there is some sentiment in favor of timing those who rise to second the nominations.

List of Candidates.

Here are the men who are practically certain to be put in nomination: Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey; Champ Clark of Missouri, speaker of the national house of representatives; Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio; Representative Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama.

Then there will be the "native son" candidates:

Governor Burke of North Dakota; Governor Marshall of Indiana; Governor Eakin of Connecticut and probably Governor Foss of Massachusetts.

Possibly Senator John W. Kern of Indiana, who ran on the Bryan ticket in 1908, may be placed in nomination, although Kern talk which was active early in the day yesterday subsided as Wilson stock began to soar.

Other men of prominence in their own states also may be proposed. These are the "dark horses" so frequently spoken of when a possible coup of the avowed candidates is feared.

OLLIE JAMES IN THE CHAIR

ords of the past congress on the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill and received from the American people a verdict of guilty against the republican party.

"How faithfully we have kept our promises to them in but a resumé of our official action. Having control of but one branch of the law making power, the house of representatives, we undertook to reform the tariff in the interest of the consuming public, believing as we do, that it is a tax paid by the consumer most generally to the trust or monopoly that is sheltered by it, sometimes to the government; believing as we do that the right of taxation is governmental; believing as we do that the right to levy a tariff exists only for the running of the government economically and efficiently, we presented the tariff question to the people in segregated form.

Some Things Accomplished.

"We reduced the tariff upon woolen clothes 40 per cent. This was the one schedule that President Taft himself has said was too high, but he could not veto it because he would have to veto four other schedules of the tariff bill. This bill went to the senate and though it was controlled by the opposition party, we found sufficient assistance from the ranks of our opponents to pass it up to the president. The president returned it to congress with his veto and said he had no tariff board report and was therefore uninformed upon the question and for this reason returned it with his disapproval.

"We undertook to pass this bill over his veto. Our constitution requires two-thirds to accomplish this. We lacked only eleven votes of having the necessary two-thirds. And today the wool trust stands not behind a majority of the law makers of the republic, but behind the veto of the president and the eleven more than one-third representatives of the American people.

Seizes Republican Party.

"The republican party became so arrogant and confident that it boldly declared that the tariff should not only equal the difference in cost of production at home and abroad, but should be high enough in addition to give a profit to the manufacturer here. In all the history of civilized governments no party ever became so defiant to the public's will, or went so far as to say that the rest of the people should be taxed, and from their pockets be taken a sufficient amount to give a profit to another class of people. The laborer was offered no profit. He might toil from early morning to late at night and sleep in a humble tenement. He was guaranteed no profit by the republican platform.

"The only class of our millions of Americans who were considered so peculiarly the favorites of the republican party as to warrant it in declaring that the taxing power of the government could be used to take from the pockets of men in other pursuits of life, money sufficient to give a profit to their special favorites were the managers.

"The tax upon woolen goods is the most indefensible of all taxes laid on the American consumer. It is a tax collected at the drug store and by the undertaking establishments. The bill was passed by the democratic house and vetoed by the president which would have saved the consuming Americans upon the price of their clothing $200,000,000 per annum, but the wool trust cried out to the president and he unleashed the clutch that he had upon the throat of the wool monopoly by vetoing this bill and returning it to congress.

Cabinet as a Lobby.

"When the veto of the wool bill was being considered four members of the president's cabinet, for the first time through a service of ten years that I have been there, appeared upon the floor as a mighty lobby with the patronage club in one hand, promises in the other, to sustain the president's veto upon this bill.

"The democratic party next passed a farmers' and laborers' free list bill. This bill was so just that it found its way through a senate controlled by the opposition and was passed on to the president.

wages had stood still, notwithstanding non-meat-eating clubs were being formed in various cities of the United States by men, women and children who were denying themselves the food they desired and needed as a protest against the beef trust; notwithstanding the harvester trusts was rushing its hand into the pockets of every farmer in America; notwithstanding the lumber trust was denying to millions of Americans the right to build a home that they could call their own, the president vetoed the bill and returned it to congress of the United States.

"We undertook to pass it over the president's veto. We lacked less than a dozen votes of the sufficient number and today the harvester trust, the lumber trust, the beef trust, all stand hidden behind President Taft and a dozen more than one-third of the American representatives in congress, looting the pockets of the American consumers.

"President Taft has the lone and singular distinction of being the only president in the life of this republic who ever vetoed bills cheapening clothing to the people, lumber to the homeless and meat and bread to hungry Americans and free farming implements to the toiling farmer. This bill would have saved to the consuming public $50,000,000 a year.

Another Taft Veto.

"The next bill we passed was the one reducing the tariff on cotton goods, which would have saved many million dollars to our people. This, too, met with the veto of the president.

"Then we offered to the American people a bill taking the tax off of sugar, giving to them free sugar and placing an excise tax on all incomes in excess of $5,000. This bill is now in the senate of the United States, unacted upon. I believe in free sugar. It will give to every householder in this country 2 cents upon every pound of sugar; I believe in a tax on incomes; I believe in an excise tax, and I deny that all who are well to do are unwilling to bear their part of the burden of taxation to sustain this mighty government of ours.

"The platform adopted by one side of the republican convention at Chicago endorses the veto of President Taft, yet, at the same time had to censure and condemn the record of from thirty to 100 republicans in the house of representatives who supported us in favor of the passage of these bills.

"The American people are told in the tariff plank recently adopted in Chicago that they want a report from the tariff board before any legislation is attempted. This is a motion for continuance from a guilty client, made by an expert criminal lawyer.

"Its sole purpose is delay. They want to take the power lodged by the federal constitution in the hands of the people's representatives and place it in the hands of a tariff board appointed by the president of the United States—those whom he can dismiss at will. And upon the report of this board the American people must depend for relief.

"Nothing was said about a tariff board report when the McKinley bill was passed, or when the Payne-Aldrich bill was hurried through congress amid the cheers of every trust and monopoly in the land.

Says Leaders Must Obey.

"When does a demand for a report of a tariff board come to our ears? 'It is when the tariff has already been fixed so high that they know that can set it no higher, and if the people's representatives were allowed to speak they would reduce it.

"I believe in the rule of the people and I do not fear them. From the ranks has come every army that has fought for liberty in the history of the world. I am a progressive democrat. In this age the people command and the leaders obey.

"We passed through the house of representatives a resolution submitting an amendment to the federal constitution providing for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people in obedience to our promise in former democratic national platforms. We then passed a tough campaign fund bill providing for some every cent campaign funds, before as well as after election, and denying to corporations the right to contribute to political parties at all. This measure is now a law.

"Both election of senators by the people and the publicity of campaign funds met the disapproval of the republican convention held in 1908 by more than 800 majority.

"We submitted to the country an amendment to the federal constitution providing for an income tax. And before the people filed I believe this amendment to the federal constitution will be endorsed by a sufficient number of states to make it a part of our constitution. And then will begin to come to the democratic party the honor of being the first political organization in the history of this republic that ever amended the federal constitution in 100 years, save by the sword.

Handling of Monopolies.

"I believe in the rigid enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law. I would not proceed against these great monopolies in equity and when I found them guilty, tell them not to do so any more. I would not divide the army of pillage into separate marauding bands, but I would proceed against them under the criminal statutes.

"We are not opposed to big business. We recognize that in a big country there must be big business, but we say with all the emphasis of our souls that big business, like little business, must obey the law. We would strike from these trusts every character of protection.

"We would write a tariff law strictly for revenue only and place the tax first upon the luxuries and if that did not produce sufficient revenue, then upon the comforts of life, and, lastly, we would lay the burden of taxation upon the necessities of life.

"These infant industries must be weaned. Infants they began, but are today mighty giants who have coalesced their strength to drive skyward the cost of living and oppress the people.

"The republican platform adopted at Chicago upon the tariff and trust questions is a puzzle, absolutely meaningless to the American people, but they may rest assured that to this puzzle the trusts hold the key. Their financial plank shows great anxiety to make it easy for the farmer to borrow money. It seems that they recognize that their rule of the country has made it necessary for the farmer to receive credit.

Spirit of Jackson.

"The democratic party of this country never will consent that our finances shall be Aldrichized or controlled by the money trust, for they are yet inspired by the thought that Old Hickory Jackson, more than three-quarters of a century ago, stood in front of the people's treasury and beat back these money changers. That spirit still lives in the heart of the American democracy.

"President Taft did not take the time to carry out, but he kicked out the Roosevelt policies. The statement that Roosevelt offers the American voters that he succeeded in deceiving by the election of President Taft, is in presenting to them the one who made the mistake, who is himself. The American people fear he will be as much mistaken in himself as he was in President Taft. The statement is not sufficient. If he wants to come with clean hands and a clear conscience, let him join with us and do what ought to have been done four years ago, elect a democratic president.

"President Taft is joined to his idols. His administration presents the most melancholy spectacle in all our national life. Repeated in the middle of his term by the election of a democratic congress, his renomination forced by the wholesale unseating of honest delegates, he is left-handed in both hands, does everything wrong, and most generally on Friday, and Roosevelt undertakes to achieve the presidency by proclaiming himself the advocate of those policies with which he won the presidency by denouncing.

"The progressive spirit, that sweeps this country now is called by some 'The doctrines of the progressives,' by others 'The doctrines of the insurgents,' but back yonder when a voice in the western wilderness cried out for them they were called 'The Vagaries of Bryan, the Dreamer.'

Boasts for Bryan.

"However much we may differ in national conventions upon minor questions, all just men must admit that the one living American whose name will shine in history, studied by a thousand flaming stars and along side those of Jefferson and Jackson, is that of William J. Bryan of Nebraska.

"The democratic congress not only scotched Cannonism, but killed it. Our republican opponents said we were unfriendly to the union heroes of the civil war, but behold the record of the democratic congress still in session. It remained for us to give the most liberal pensions to the deserving men in their declining years, that their old age might be made serene and bright.

"The war is over and that flag, the brightest, the dearest colors ever knit together in a banner of the free, waves above a united people where it is loved by every heart and would be defended by every hand. And coming from the south as I do, I can say that if Abraham Lincoln were alive today there is not a foot of soil under Dixie's sky upon which he might not pitch his tent and pillow his head upon a confederate soldier's knee and sleep in safety there."

NO SOCIAL BASIS WITHOUT THE COLLEGE DEGREE

MINNEAPOLIS, June 27.—The National Alpha Phi sorority today adopted the action of the National Pan-Hellenic congress, providing for regular matriculation in college work and requirements with college rules before a student can be pledged to a chapter.

This places the sorority girl on a scholastic basis, as well as providing a social basis.

The Pan-Hellenic report was adopted after it had been presented by Mrs. John Howard McElroy of Chicago, president of the congress and Alpha Phi's representative.
