IMMENSE HERD FEEDS HERE

Texans Unload Cattle at South Omaha Enroute to Canada. PRAISE THE LOCAL STOCK YARDS

They Have Been Here on a Number of Occasions and Say They Get Better Attention Than Anywhere in Country.

The finest stock yards in the west for feeding and caring for stock in transit are those of South Omaha, according to Harry Ingraham of Fort Stockton, Tex., and Daniel Sheehy of Bisbee, Ariz., who had over 2,000 head of southwestern range cattle in the yards Friday, giving them feed, water and rest before continuing on the trip to Alberta, Canada, where the stock will be fattened up on the northern grasses. These men have made the trip from Texas to the Canadian country a number of times with stock, and they say that nowhere does their stock get the careful attention it gets in the South Omaha yards. "We feel perfectly at ease," said Mr. Ingraham, as he and Sheehy were taking a late breakfast at the Rome, "for we know that the stock is getting the best of care, and when we are ready to load all we have to do is to call up and tell the yard company so, and our stuff is loaded for us."

They say their cattle from the dry grass country of the south make wonderful gains when pastured on the rich grasses of the north; and although the freight is high a great profit can be made by shipping the cattle to the north through the summer.

Sheehy and Ingraham are right from the border country where the Mexican insurfectos and the federals have been snarling at each other for years. Mr. Ingraham is an El Paso man much of the time, and Mr. Sheehy, besides having interests in the copper and lead mines of Bisbee and in the cattle business, is in the government service at Bisbee, where he has occasion to nab a few Mexican smugglers now and then.

The board of trustees of the University of Omaha met Thursday night at dinner for the welcome of the new members of the board and to elect officers for th ensuing year. Three of the newly elected members were out of the city and unable to be present, but C. R. Sherman, C. Vincent, W. G. Ure, John L. McCague, A. G. Eggerss, Hugh A. Meyers and L. E. Oroutt were present, and in response to President Kennedy's welcome, each spoke briefly, pledging loyal support to the aniversity.

AGENCY, Mo., June 15, 1912. I wish to make a statement about what the United Doctors have done for me. When I came to those specialists the latter part of April, I had been suffer-ing for two years with stomach and liver trouble. I had a constant pain in my right side so that I was unable to do any work; could scarcety take care of my chores. Food did not digest and I suffered all the torments of indigestion. I tried many doctors and medicines, but can truthfully say that I never got any real relief until I commenced with the United Doctors. They seemed to know exactly where my trouble was located at the very start, and I com-menced to improve at once under their treatment. Any sick person is safe in , going to the United Doctors for their consultation and examination is free to all, but no incurable cases are accepted for treatment.
