vention to insure a consolidation of the progressive vote under our banner.

"The incidents of the convention have in a strange way emphasized the progressiveness of our party far more than I had expected that progressiveness could be exercised and the convention has decided with rare unanimity that Governor Wilson fits into the conditions that the republican convention and our convention have joined in creating.

"Knowing what the platform is I feel that it will help him in his fight, and I have no doubt that our convention will proceed to choose a vice presidential candidate who will strengthen the ticket. It is needless to say that I am gratified to see our party raising the banner of progressive democracy aloft and calling to the progressive forces of the nation to join in restoring the government to the hands of the people, that it may be in truth a government of the people, by the people and for the people.

"It has been a long convention, but the results are worth the time. The dawn is here and progressive democracy will be the people's pillar of cloud by day."

Receives Congratulations.

Mr. Bryan held an informal levee in his rooms this afternoon and many delegates dropped in to congratulate him upon his fight. Telegrams poured in praising him for the campaign he had made in the interest of progressivism.

Late this afternoon a party of Princeton students marched to Mr. Bryan's rooms and there gave free outlet to their enthusiasm over the naming of the former head of Princeton university as the democratic standard-bearer. Mrs. Bryan was given a song and a cheer. There were cheers for Wilson and for Bryan, and when the students were not cheering they sang songs, much to the delight of the Nebraskaan. The students demanded a speech.

"You say you are very happy," said Mr. Bryan. "Well, if you get happier and happier every day until the election you will be as happy as I am now."

When some member of the crowd cried that he had been for Underwood Mr. Bryan addressed him personally, saying: "I had no special pleasure in opposing your man. He is a splendid fellow personally, but he simply did not fit the occasion."

MAN BOUND FOR GRAND ISLAND IS ROBBED

ABERDEEN, S. D., July 2.—(Special Telegram.)—A stranger complained to the authorities here of a confidence game of which he was the victim. He said he was in Aberdeen from the north on his way to Grand Island, Neb., and while here met three strangers, who told him they were trappers and their train ran right through to Grand Island, and if he went with them they would see his rifle and furs did not cost him a cent. He went along and was lodged in a box car with his three new friends, and the train pulled out. After they had ridden awhile his new companions pulled their guns the steadily increasing vote for the governor.

When the nomination was officially announced, friends and neighbors, both republicans and democrats, came to offer their congratulations and an impromptu reception was held on the lawn.

Militia officers at the state rifle range near here deserted their practice and came over to shake the nominee's hand. A mile away a brass band had been held in readiness at Mansquan, and it was immediately dispatched to the Wilson cottage when news came of the governor's nomination.

The governor played his golf game alone this morning and did not even keep a score. He returned to the cottage about the time the convention resumed its session.

Underwood Sends Telegram.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Representative Oscar Underwood has sent the following telegram to Governor Woodrow Wilson at Segrest, N. J.:

Accept my congratulations on your nomination. It will be my pleasure to support your candidacy to my utmost strength. OSCAR UNDERWOOD.

All the democratic senators on the floor upon the receipt of the news of Woodrow Wilson's nomination joined in a congratulatory message to him. The message read:

We congratulate you and the country upon your nomination. We are confident of your overwhelming victory.

COLUMBUS, O., July 2.—After being informed that Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey had been nominated for the presidency Governor Judson Harmon sent the successful candidate a telegram congratulating him. When asked what he thought of the selection of Governor Wilson, Governor Harmon said:

"I do not care to say anything about it now. You can say I am pleased with the support accorded me by my boys."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 2.—Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana this afternoon telegraphed to Governor Woodrow Wilson:

"To the length of my ability and influence, I propose to work for your election."

"I never asked any delegate to the democratic convention to vote for me," said the governor, "and I did not expect the nomination to the presidency except as a remote possibility. Governor Wilson is eminently satisfactory to me."

LANCASTER EVENLY DIVIDED

County Republican Committee Has Contest Over Loyalty to Party.

WOULD OUST CANDIDATES

Resolution Asking Those to Withdraw from Ticket Who Are Not in Sympathy with Chicago Convention.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, July 2.—(Special.)—The Lancaster county central committee met this morning and locked horns on a resolution by R. L. Mosley of Precinct A, calling for all candidates not in sympathy with the republican organization to get off the ticket. E. G. Mason, an appointee of the governor, sprang to his feet and with "flashing eye and crimson cheek" demanded the tabling of the resolution. Without much discussion the matter was put to a vote with a result which showed that "Teddyism" is not such an unanimous thing in Lancaster county as the friends of the ex-president would like to make the country believe. The vote was 13 against the resolution and 12 for. The county convention will be held July 24 at one o'clock.

Here is the resolution which the committee refused to endorse: Whereas, The political situation in this nation, presents a great moral question, upon the solution of which depends the future usefulness and greatness of the republican party; and

Whereas, Many of the candidates for various places selected by the votes of republicans of this state and county, now declare that they are in favor of the organization of a new party, and are no longer in sympathy with the party we represent; and

Whereas, Such candidates are seeking to use the republican organization of this country in furtherance of their ambition and in securing their election to positions that will enable them to disrupt the party, and carry out private and individual schemes, against the will of the republicans of this state and county;

Whereas, Such candidates are resorting to the same methods and schemes that they now condemn as having been used in the national convention in Chicago. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the republican county committee of Lancaster county, assembled do hereby pledge our loyalty and steadfast faith to the republican party of this nation, state and county, that has accomplished such great results in the development, the growth and the prosperity of all the people. Be it further

Resolved, That we are not in sympathy with the candidates or any person that now seeks preferment at the hands of republicans who declare their sympathy and support with the organization of a new party.

Be it further resolved, That we condemn the use of any form or any other purpose, and all controversies arising in the party should be honestly settled within its own organization. That the republican party has heretofore, and is unable now, of settling all questions honestly and fairly and in the best interests of the people.

Therefore, this committee requests that all candidates in this county not longer in sympathy with the republican party organization of this county, withdraw from the ticket and thereby settle the moral question now involved as it honestly and conscientiously should be determined, by honest and conscientious men.

Body of Perkins is Discovered in a Questionable Place

PHILADELPHIA, July 2.—Rees Wilmer Perkins, president of the Leland university, New Orleans, a Baptist preacher, writer and educator, was found dead here during the night, but was not identified until today. Death was due to heart disease.

The house in which the body was found is in a section of the city some times referred to as the "tenderloin." The body was taken to the morgue.

Leland university is closed for the summer and Mr. and Mrs. Perkins were on a visit to this city. Yesterday he told his wife he was going to a meeting of clergymen and that was the last she saw of him. Friends today learned that he had visited a physician's office and had complained of feeling ill. The doctor told him his heart was bad. Mr. Perkins was 55 years old. He was educated at Bucknell university and taught in the schools of Lockhaven, Pa., before becoming president of Leland university.

WEALTHY MAN DROWNED IN DES MOINES RIVER

FORT DODGE, Ia., July 2.—(Special Telegram.)—When seated on the Des Moines river bank near his home, fishing, according to his daily custom, Frederick Lehman, aged 75, was probably overcome by sunstroke and fell, unconscious into the river, where he drowned in two feet of water. He was found by neighbors, who, alarmed by his long absence, began a search for him. Mr. Lehman was a pioneer farmer of Humboldt county, his nativity being Prussia. He came here in 1872 and has become one of the largest land owners in the county. He leaves seven children of nine born into his family. His wife also is living. The entire family of children, with one exception, is engaged in farming.

CUMMINS UNDECIDED AS TO COURSE IN STATE

DES MOINES, July 1.—That Senator Cummins is still undecided as to what course he shall pursue in the national campaign is evidenced by the following telegram received by a local newspaper today:

"Replying to your telegram, I beg to say that I will issue no statement until after a full conference with my associates here. I expect the conference to be held this week. I will make public my views on the political situation very soon thereafter. "ALBERT B. CUMMINS."

NO MORE ADS IN THE CHICAGO STREET CARS

CHICAGO, July 2.—An ordinance was passed by the city council last night prohibiting the use of street cars and elevated trains for advertising purposes. The ordinance forbids the use of the interior of these conveyances, now so extensively decorated with advertisements, as a means of revenue. If the ordinance is upheld by the court it will mean the loss of thousands of dollars to the traction companies. The street railway and elevated companies served notice that the ordinance would be tested in the courts.

FIVE KILLED AS BALLOON BURSTS

car was connected to the gas bag by steel tubing of light construction. On top of the tank was a platform of two-inch boards and on this rested an 100-horsepower motor, two of eight-horsepower, one seventeen-horsepower motor and a small dynamo.

The 100 horse-power motor was used for the two forward vertical propellers and the other two large motors for the two pairs of orientable propellers. These propellers could be turned from the horizontal to the vertical and were used to raise or lower the ship. The smaller motor and dynamo were used for electric lighting and to furnish power to the wireless outfit. Some of the supplies of ship were also stored on this platform. In the forward end of the platform were the steering wheels and gears for controlling the rudder and the stabilizing planes fore and aft.

The sleeping accommodations for the crew consisted of hammocks strung up in the car.

The disaster came as a shock to the people of Atlantic City, who had come to know Vaniman very well. For a week the airman had been planning to make another flight and only awaited favorable winds.

Last night conditions appeared satisfactory and he notified the city authorities that he probably would make a flight at sunrise today. At daybreak the conditions still were favorable and the word was given. A hundred policemen and firemen were summoned and sent up to the inlet to assist in getting the balloon out of the immense hangar.

Hundreds of persons who expected the flight saw the Akron come out of the hangar for the last time. The operation was a simple one and the big bag was brought out without difficulty. Once clear of the shed Vaniman jumped into the car where the other four men already had gone and he gave the word to "let go." Instantly the ship rose, slowly at first, and swaying from end to end. Then it rose rapidly. Vaniman appeared to have complete control and after circling about over the inlet and the mainland, the ship's nose was pointed out to sea.

An eye witness of the disaster told this story of what he saw:

"When about 1,000 feet in the air, I saw a sudden puff of smoke from the forward end of the gas bag. In a minute it exploded.

"To those who have witnessed the many flights of Vaniman, this one seemed at the start more successful than any yet attempted. The crew seemed to have better control than ever before. Starting out from the hangar, the ship rose slowly from the ground, and passed easily out over the water of the inlet, grazing the masts of the fleet of yachts anchored there.

"Vaniman and his crew were cheered by a number of fishing parties at the inlet about to start out for a day's sport. The whistles of a fleet of motor boats sounded a 'God speed' to the airship and its crew.

"After getting up about 300 feet the ship made a complete circle of the waters of Grassy Bay. Apparently Vaniman was making a test of the air currents.

End Comes Suddenly.

"The airship passed over the Royal Palace hotel," he said, "and then flew over the southern section of the city. Soon after the puff of smoke was seen the men on the airship were seen gathered on one side of the craft. The spectators, however, did not realize that anything had happened until suddenly the huge bag was seen to buckle from the two ends, forming a perfect 'U'. There was no report, but immediately the collapsed bag fell toward the ocean with frightful velocity.

"The forms of five men could be seen plunging down through the air from the great heights, their bodies turning over and over again before they sank in the sea, just off the outer bar and not far from a can buoy. From the board walk, abreast of the life saving station, it looked as if the now limp gas bag and its metal frame work covered their bodies.

"Men on the board walk turned their eyes from the sight and women screamed. One man who seemed to grasp the situation made a dash for a hotel to telephone for help. A large launch on the way to the fishing ground, blew a whistle to attract the attention of the other boats and in a short time the inlet waters were black with boats, rushing to the aid of the men."

Vaniman, because of his genial disposition, had endeared himself to the citizens of Atlantic City, and his untimely end caused universal sorrow here.

Picture in Court in Hanford Case

SEATTLE, Wash., July 2.—The committee of the house investigating charges against United States District Judge Cornelius F. Hanford continued to hear testimony today regarding occasions when the judge was said to have been intoxicated.

The committee was inclined to go deeply into testimony regarding the judge's possible visits to a woman living in a fashionable residence district. A flashlight, said to be a picture of Judge Hanford taken by a detective as he was entering the woman's house at night, was submitted as evidence.

Hanford attorneys cross-examined the detective until members of the committee objected, declaring there was no intention of making the detective's report a part of the record and that the committee did not wish to probe the matter.

Judge Hanford's accusers declare they will bring further evidence of his having been intoxicated in corrupt places.

SEVERAL FORGED CHECKS CASHED AT FORT DODGE

FORT DODGE, Ia., July 2.—(Special Telegram.)—A forger, styling himself "Carl Tanner," worked here today, passing many checks in saloons. He got away with over fifty dollars or its equivalent in "value received." No one remembers the man, which indicates the hot weather has made the saloons "busy as circus day." He forged the name of John Haire, manager of the Fort Dodge Lumber company, on each check, and clinched the deal by using a rubber stamp he had made from rubber type, to read like the lumber company stamp. With this he also dated and numbered the checks. All checks were identical in form and amounts and no attempt to make a signature like Mr. Haire's was made. "The offender seems to have escaped successfully."

SCHOOL CENSUS OF KEARNEY SHOWS A SMALL INCREASE

KEARNEY, Neb., July 2.—(Special.)—Today the school census for the city of Kearney was completed showing a total of 2,081 persons of school age in the district divided almost equally, there being 1,022 males and 1,024 females. The census this year, contrary to expectations shows an increase of fifty over that taken one year ago.

The school board has fixed the annual school levy for the next year on the estimated expense of running city schools of $45,500, from which amount the other revenues of the district will be deducted to get the exact levy. The board points with pride at their estimate for the last year, having just $67 of the estimated expense for the year in the treasury at the beginning of the fiscal year.
