

This Is Our Final Sale of Women's and Misses' Suits.

ORKIN'S 1510 Douglas Street

Sale Starts Saturday at 9 o'clock. Don't Miss It

FINAL AND GREATEST SALE

Our Entire Stock of Women's and Misses' Suits

Formerly sold for and up to $45.00; on sale Saturday at $9.75

In announcing this great final sale of all our suits we want to emphasize the fact that this is absolutely the final sale of the season.

We are compelled to make this astonishing offer, which will be the talk of Omaha, in order to make a clean sweep of every suit in our stock.

Think what this means to have your choice of all our $25, $29.75, $35, $39.50 and $45 Suits for only

The skirts alone from the suits in every instance are worth more than what the entire suit will be sold for.

ORKIN'S-1510 Douglas Street

Saturday will finish one and begin another great bargain event at this store---

One week ago we placed on sale, at a remarkably low price, the broken lots of our high grade $30, $35 and $40 custom tailored suits. The selling was brisk and has been so during the week to the end that there remains but little more than enough suits to supply a Saturday's demand. Therefore, sale will be withdrawn with the closing of our doors on Saturday night.

These suits are our own regular stock—and not a specially purchased lot for which we cannot vouch. They are made to, and do, compete every day, with the best product of the highest class custom tailors. They are equal in every respect to tailored to order suits selling at $50 to $65. They're vastly superior to the product of the medium class tailors although we sell them at their prices. The range of sizes is complete and there is an ample assortment to insure a satisfactory choice.

Broken lots of our regular $30, $35 and $40 suits reduced to

MELLOR WANTS MONOPLANE

Board of Agriculture Planning Novelty Flight for Fair.

NO SPECIAL SESSION IN SIGHT

Governor Aldrich Not Thinking of Calling One on Primary Issue—State Assessment Roll Mounts Higher This Year.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, July 5.—(Special.)—Several men connected with the aeroplane business called on Secretary Mellor of the State Fair board this morning for the purpose of making contracts for the state fair. Mr. Mellor is thinking seriously of making a change this year and have monoplane flights instead of aeroplane.

Superintendent A. V. Teed of Dixon county is the first county superintendent to send in his annual report to the state superintendent. This report was received on Wednesday, ten days after the annual school district meeting. This is considered in the superintendent's office to be record time.

Game Warden Miller received a complaint from Bayard in Morrill county this morning that the best field workers there were shooting ducks and other game birds out of season. No one there seems to care to make any trouble over the matter, and the warden is asked to look it up.

No Special Session. Governor Aldrich will not call a special session of the legislature to amend the primary law so that the candidate who gets the most votes at the election will get the electoral vote. Many politicians think that a democratic legislature would not fall over itself in its efforts to pass a law which would help the republicans.

Friends of Nancy Wells, the Indian girl who was received at the penitentiary a few days ago, are making an effort to have her pardoned and paroled. It is believed that she is not guilty and it is hoped to find evidence sufficient to show her innocence.

The State Board of Equalization and Assessment will begin its review of the annual assessment roll of the state July 15. With reports in from thirty-one counties of the state the indications are that the total valuation of the state will exceed $450,000,000.

WEST NEBRASKA PIONEER IS DEAD AT ALLIANCE

ALLIANCE, Neb., July 5.—(Special Telegram.)—Word was received this evening of the death in a hospital at Lincoln of Thomas Regan, a pioneer resident of western Nebraska, whose family resides in this city. Mr. Regan had been in failing health for more than a year and was recently removed to a hospital with the hope that the change would be beneficial. He was postmaster at Crawford during Grover Cleveland's administration and later engaged in business in Alliance. A son, D. C. Regan, lives at Deadwood, S. D.

FLYING ROCKETS SPREAD PANIC IN TOWN OF VERDON

VERDON, Neb., July 5.—(Special Telegram.)—While shooting off Fourth of July fireworks from a hayrack on Main street tonight the main supply was ignited by sparks from skyrockets. The explosion that followed broke two large plate glass windows in the hardware store of W. W. Thaler & Co., and several smaller lights were broken in the printing office, harness shop and other stores close by. The streets were filled with people, but no one was hurt by the flying rockets.

ELKS BRING ONLY CRACKERS THAT ARE USED IN SHERIDAN

SHERIDAN, Wyo., July 5.—(Special Telegram.)—Sheridan today enjoyed the quietest Fourth of July in her history as the result of the passage two months ago of a sane Fourth ordinance, prohibiting the sale or explosion of firecrackers, pistols, powder, caps or other dangerous explosives. The only firecracker exploded during the day were brought

Body of W. W. Latta, Pioneer of Burt County, at Rest

TEKAMAH, Neb., July 5.—(Special.)—W. W. Latta, whose funeral occurred here today, was a pioneer settler and prosperous citizen of Burt county. He died at his home in this city on Tuesday. Mr. Latta was born in Ashland county, Ohio, September 8, 1832, and the coming September would have been 80 years old. He started out in his teens as a driver for the Western Stage company on a route out of Richmond, Ind., and later drove a four-horse coach between Xenia and Dayton, O. He was married to Mary C. Mason in Jackson county, Iowa, May 10, 1857, and immediately after the couple came overland with a covered wagon and four yoke of cattle to Nebraska, crossing the Missouri river at Sioux City. They purchased a farm east of Tekamah near the river and lived there until 1877, when they moved to Tekamah.

After moving to town Mr. Latta still carried on his farming operations and feeding cattle for the market, in which he was an extensive dealer. Mr. Latta continued to purchase land until his holdings at the time of his demise reached about 5,000 acres. He also made a specialty of horses and was a large breeder of both roadster and draft horses. Mr. Latta, during his thirty-five years' residence in Tekamah, was an active factor in municipal affairs. He served as mayor or councilman for twenty-five years. His mature judgment, fair methods and interest in the public welfare will remain as an enduring monument to his memory. For some years he was interested in the hardware business and in late years was connected with the First National bank of Tekamah, of which he was president since the death of his cousin, Congressman Latta, nearly a year ago. During all these years Mr. Latta still carried on his farming and live stock business with his son, Bud R. Latta, who, with his wife, mourn the death of a true and faithful husband and father.

Mr. Latta's estate is estimated to be worth $1,000,000.

BISHOP BEECHER WILL START SCHOOL HOUSE MISSIONS

KEARNY, Neb., July 5.—(Special.)—Following a ten-day trip up the valley of the north branch of the Platte river Bishop George A. Beecher returned to the city today with plans well in hand for the establishment of a school house mission service in the valley and plans on using three missionaries to care for the work.

He finds the country thickly settled, having traveled over the old overland trail from Bridgeport to Scott's Bluff in company with Mrs. Beecher, who was with him when he first drove over the same trail eighteen years ago.

WYMORE TO HAVE NEW TELEPHONE PLANT

WYMORE, Neb., July 5.—(Special.)—At a meeting held last night attended by about fifty citizens it was decided to take immediate steps toward building an independent telephone plant here with local capital. A committee appointed at a previous meeting brought in another report, shedding additional light on telephone matters locally. Since Monday, according to the report, the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company has been changing to talk with Odell, Barnston and Liberty, towns within nine or ten miles of Wymore. Heretofore service to those towns has been free.

MRS. NELLIE GRANT SARTORIS MARRIES FRANK H. JONES

COBURG, Ont., July 5.—Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris, widow of the late Algon Sartoris of Warsaw Hants, England, and only daughter of the late General U. S. Grant, was married today to Frank H. Jones, formerly first assistant postmaster general of the United States, at her country home here. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Canon Sprague, rector of St. Peter's church, Coburg.

Auto Kills Boy Watching Parade

LINCOLN, Neb., July 5.—One boy killed, run over by an automobile; another with his hand so badly mangled by a giant cracker that he may lose it; four fires, with nominal losses, and a number of minor injuries marked the celebration of the Fourth in Lincoln. Lawrence Lake, aged 6 years, was struck and killed by an automobile, said to have been running recklessly, while the boy was watching a parade. Philip Stenbach held a giant cracker in his hand until it exploded and he may lose the member. The casualties on the whole were less than usual.

Four Inches of Rain Falls at Alliance

ALLIANCE, Neb., July 4.—(Special Telegram.)—A terrific rain storm closely approaching a cloudburst swept over Box Butte county this afternoon, doing considerable damage to small buildings and filling hundreds of cellars in Alliance. The registered rainfall was slightly over four inches.

LITTLE CHILD DROWNS WHILE PLAYING IN PARK

YORK, Neb., July 5.—(Special Telegram.)—Stella, 4-year-old daughter of Thomas Curran of the York Daily News, was drowned this afternoon in Beaver creek. She was playing in the park when she strayed away from her parents.

Tigh Loses Twice in Alienation Suit

For the second time William Tigh lost his $25,000 damage suit against James I. Kemp, coal dealer, for alleged alienation of the former Mrs. Tigh's affections, when a jury before Judge Sears brought in a verdict for Kemp. The case was tried before former Judge W. A. Redick last fall and Kemp was given a verdict. Judge Redick sustained a new trial motion on the ground that there had been error in his instructions. Kemp's defense in both cases was that his attitude toward Mrs. Tigh never has been anything other than that of a well meaning man toward a woman whose husband has abused her and that Tigh himself by a course of ill treatment estranged his former wife.

Doesn't Know What to Say

"This is very interesting, indeed," Governor Wilson said after reading Governor Osborn's statement. "I just don't know what to say about it, except that it is most significant. Osborn is a man of force; he knows his own mind." Representative Burleson of Texas was one of the first callers today. Another visitor was Charles W. Bryan, a brother of William J. Bryan. He was closeted with the governor for more than an hour. Mr. Bryan declined to make public the topics of discussion and said his call was largely social. "I convey to Mrs. Wilson," he said, "heartiest congratulations and best wishes from Colonel Bryan's wife." Mr. Bryan said that his brother would doubtless be found on the stump for Governor Wilson throughout the campaign.

COMMITTEEMEN VISIT WILSON

Receives Prominent Democrats at His Summer Home.

NOMINEE TO NAME CHAIRMAN

Leaders Decide to Put Aside Their Personal Preferences — Meeting is to Be Held at Chicago.

SEA GIRT, N. J., July 5.—Thirty-five members of the democratic national committee called on Governor Wilson at Sea Girt today. They came up from Baltimore on a special train and on the way they talked of a seasoned campaign manager for chairman to run the governor's campaign. When they left Sea Girt two hours later, after friendly chats with the nominee, most of them declared that anyone whom the governor might name would be elected to the place. As to who this will be, whether William F. McCombs, Fred B. Lynch, Robert S. Hudspeh, or any one of half a dozen others mentioned for the place will have the preference, Governor Wilson had not decided tonight. The governor will meet the committee July 15 in Chicago, stopping off en route probably at Indianapolis to take Governor Marshall, his running mate, with him.

Some Favor Judge Wade

There was much diversity of opinion among the delegates on the way up from Baltimore as to who should be elected chairman. Mr. Lynch, who managed the campaign of the late Governor Johnson of Minnesota, and Judge Wade of Iowa were frequently mentioned. It seemed to be the consensus of opinion that a man who knew the party leaders in the field would make an ideal leader. There was no idea of selecting a man today. Not long after the arrival of the delegates, Mr. McCombs, who was reported to be ill in Baltimore, appeared on the governor's lawn. He had come on a later train. The governor spied him and left the group with whom he was talking to shake his campaign manager's hand and thank him. They strolled across the lawn with hands clasped and held a low conversation. Before the governor could return to his other friends, he announced that Ollie James, who was permanent chairman of the convention, would visit him tomorrow or Saturday to arrange the date and details for his formal notification of the nomination.

Calling Norman E. Mack aside

Governor Wilson held a long conference with him, punctuated by Mr. Mack's vigorous gestures and his own nods of assent. A little later, Mr. Mack, after conferring with other committeemen, said to Roger Sullivan of Illinois: "We have just about decided to meet for organization in New York on July 15."

"Make it Chicago," suggested Mr. Sullivan.

"No, most of us want it to be held in New York," Mr. Mack said.

"Come out to French Lick for the meeting," insisted Thomas Taggart, "and let it all be at my expense."

"Chicago," repeated Mr. Sullivan.

"Better see, hadn't we, what he has to say about it," Mr. Taggart suggested, indicating Governor Wilson with a gesture.

They acted on this advice, but no one save themselves heard the governor's smiling reply. A new canvass of the committee was made and Mr. Mack announced from the governor's porch that Chicago had been selected.

Governor Wilson was highly gratified at the stand taken yesterday by Governor Osborn of Michigan with regard to Colonel Roosevelt and himself.

Representative Burleson of Texas was one of the first callers today. Another visitor was Charles W. Bryan, a brother of William J. Bryan. He was closeted with the governor for more than an hour. Mr. Bryan declined to make public the topics of discussion and said his call was largely social.

"I convey to Mrs. Wilson," he said, "heartiest congratulations and best wishes from Colonel Bryan's wife." Mr. Bryan said that his brother would doubtless be found on the stump for Governor Wilson throughout the campaign.

BRYAN TALKS ON POLITICS

Thinks Third Party Would Drive Some Votes to Taft.

MAY CUT WILSON'S PLURALITY

Nebraskaans Does Not Expect as Much Support from Progressive Republican Leaders as from Rank and File.

CHICAGO, July 5.—William J. Bryan, who stopped in Chicago today on his way to Nebraska from Baltimore, declared that if a third party were formed Colonel Roosevelt might drive some reactionary democrats over to President Taft but with the democratic ticket and platform Roosevelt could not expect to draw many progressive democrats to himself.

Before leaving Baltimore, Mr. Bryan estimated that Wilson would have a plurality of 2,000,000 over President Taft. When asked today if he still held to that estimate he replied:

"In estimating Wilson's plurality of 2,000,000 I was not counting on a third party. That might reduce the plurality some and yet not much, because many republicans will vote for Mr. Roosevelt who would not be willing to vote for a democrat and that will largely reduce Mr. Taft's votes. Taft will be the contender for the Roosevelt votes—not Mr. Wilson."

"What do you think of the attitude of Governor Osborn of Michigan, in coming out against the Roosevelt third party?" was the next question asked Mr. Bryan.

"I have read Governor Osborn's statement," he replied, "but I do not expect as large a proportion of support from the progressive leaders as from the rank and file of the republican party. This campaign will be more the campaign of 1904, excepting that Mr. Wilson will represent the fighting force in the campaign. Mr. Roosevelt's campaign will be directed toward weakening the campaign and candidacy of Mr. Taft. He may drive some of our reactionary democrats over to Mr. Taft, but, with our platform and ticket, he cannot expect to draw progressive democrats to himself."

Talks of Platform. When asked regarding the makeup of the platform and the placing of the trust questions to the fore, he said:

"We put the tariff question first and the trust question second in arranging the platform, but the party's position is clearly and strongly stated on all important questions.

"The single term for the presidency is going to attract a good deal of attention and also the declaration favoring primaries. One of the best planks in our platform is the one declaring for the popular election of national committeemen, the committeeman to begin service when elected. This change will prevent a holdover committeeman from organizing the convention."

Asked what he thought of Colonel Henry Watterson's prediction that Colonel Roosevelt's party would succeed, Mr. Bryan said:

"Mr. Watterson's predictions have not all come true, but if such a misfortune as he predicts should overtake us, I hope the Lord will give us strength to bear it with more cheerfulness than 'Marse' Henry bears his."

Mr. Bryan said he had favored Governor Burke or Senator Chamberlain for vice presidential nominee because they live in regions where progressive republicans are strongest, because he thought that either one could carry several northwestern states for the democrats and because their states had started in the opposition with Governor Wilson to Temporary Chairman Parker.

Mr. Bryan said, however, that while he thought that either Burke, or Chamberlain would have brought the democrats more votes than Marshall, the Indiana governor was a powerful man on the stump and had an excellent record.

Cost of Campaign Made in Dakota
