SLAYER OF BABE IS HUNTED

Anton Konvalinka Believed to Have Killed Hasek Child.

MAY HAVE COMMITTED SUICIDE

Upon Learning of Little Tot's Death Careless Fourth of July Celebration Suddenly Disappears from Home.

Anton Konvalinka, 2 years old, believed to have fired the shot that killed the 11-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hasek, on the evening of the Fourth of July, is missing from his boarding place at 1250 South Fifteenth street, as well as from his familiar haunts. The police are trying to locate him.

Konvalinka is one of three suspects, two of whom have been arrested and are being held pending investigation. At the time the baby was shot, Konvalinka is said to have been discharging a revolver from an upstairs window of his boarding house, near the Hasek home. Mrs. Hasek warned him several times to stop shooting, but he paid no attention to her. Konvalinka was firing toward the ground, and there are evidences in this connection that a bullet from his revolver killed the baby. Post-mortem examination conducted by C. J. Nemecek discloses that the bullet entered the baby's head from a downward point, indicating that it had glanced from a hard surface after having been fired from the boarding house window opposite and above. Further evidence lies in the fact that the course of the bullet as it entered the child's forehead was in direct line with the window from which Konvalinka was firing. Dr. John B. Carver, juvenile officer, who is assisting in the investigation, asserts the belief that Konvalinka fired the fatal shot.

Babe Crumples in Mother's Arms.
At the time of the firing, Mrs. Hasek was sitting on the front porch of her home, at 1250 South Fifteenth street, holding her baby in her arms. The baby was nestled close to his mother, and she did not know that the little one had been shot until she felt it grow limp in her arms and saw the blood trickling from the wound in his forehead. The child was rushed to the St. Joseph hospital, where it died Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Friends of Konvalinka who board at the same house say he was much excited after the shooting affair. He worked Friday at the smelter and on the way home stopped at a saloon at Fifteenth and William streets. While there he is said to have picked up an evening paper and read of the death of the baby. Turning to one of his friends he said in an excited voice that he was going to go down to the river and drown himself. He immediately left the saloon.

Konvalinka is Excited.
A roommate said Konvalinka got home about 7 o'clock Friday evening after work and rushed about the room like a madman. He saw Konvalinka open his trunk, put something in his pocket and hurriedly leave the house. That was the last anyone has seen or heard of him.

Dr. C. J. Nemecek, who conducted the post-mortem examination, says he thinks the bullet struck the walk before hitting the baby. The bullet entered the head in an upward course and pierced the brain.

James Nejezinsky, a boy living at 1401 South Fifteenth street, was arrested Friday afternoon by juvenile authorities in connection with the case. He had a 32-caliber revolver on the Fourth, and Emil Svatos, the other lad who was arrested, had a 38-caliber gun.

It is said that at the time of the accident neither of the two boys were about the Hasek residence, although they had been seen there earlier in the evening. Both are being held pending investigation. The charges that can be brought against Konvalinka, if caught, are criminal negligence and shooting firearms within the city limits.

Pioneer Woman Dies After a Long Illness

Anastasia Riewe, aged 94 years, died at a local hospital from a lingering illness. She was one of the oldest pioneers in Omaha having come here in 1887 with her husband, the late Charles Riewe, who passed away in 1900.

Her husband was the first undertaker in Omaha and remained in that business until shortly before his death. She is survived by one son, Mr. H. C. Riewe, paymaster at Cudahy's; her six other children having preceded her in death. Mrs. Riewe was a most beautiful character and did more quiet, active charity than any one in Omaha.

Funeral will take place from the residence, 2329 South Nineteenth street, Monday morning at 9 to St. Joseph's Catholic church at 9:30, where a solemn requiem high mass will be celebrated. Interment will be in German Catholic cemetery.

Prof. Rasmusen is Enrolling Pupils

L. C. Rasmusen, head of the new Omaha High School of Commerce, has returned from a lecture tour through South Dakota and Iowa, where he talked on the subject of "The New Education." All of next week he will be at the office of the Central High School, Twentieth and Dodge streets, from 9 to 12 each day to consult with those who have decided to take work in the new school.

Principal Rasmusen reports an enrollment of 52 in the High School of Commerce, which opens for the fall term. Enlargement and improvement of the building is well under way and the work will be taken up in the fall "in such a manner as has only been attempted in four or five of the larger cities."

DAHLMAN DEMOCRATS SPLIT

Some Refuse to Endorse Actions of Delegates at Baltimore.

COMPROMISE FINALLY EFFECTED

Resolution is Passed Pledging the Support of the Club to Woodrow Wilson and His Associate.

John J. Mahoney took issue with the Dahlman democrats Friday night when a resolution was presented endorsing the actions of Senator G. M. Hitchcock and Delegates McShane and Kelley "in carrying out the instructions of the majority of the democrats of this state," by supporting Champ Clark. Mahoney said he believed the club ought to remain discreetly silent about the whole affair.

Other members of the club insisted on commending the delegates who bolted and still others maintain that they ought to be censured.

A compromise was at last effected, but Mahoney steadfastly refused to cast his vote for the resolution endorsing Senator Hitchcock and Sheriff McShane. He asked that he be recorded in the negative. His was the only negative vote.

A resolution was passed which said: "While Woodrow Wilson was not the first choice of the members of this organization we cheerfully accept the combined wisdom of the majority and be it resolved that the Dahlman Democracy club, true to its past, do most sincerely pledge to him and his associate our loyal and hearty support."

A copy of the resolutions will be forwarded to Governor Wilson and Mr. Marshall. The resolution endorsing Wilson expresses pleasure, after much deliberation, that "the banner of democracy" was placed in the "hands of that brilliant and brainy champion of the plain people—the Honorable Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey."

CONVENTION TAKES MORE THAN HUNDRED BALLOTS

CHARLES CITY, Ia., July 6.—On the 121st ballot M. H. Edwards of Parkersburg was nominated for judge by the forty-third republican judicial convention early this morning.

He is Arrested for Disturbing Peace of the Police Court

Because L. Gofstein tried to show City Prosecutor Anheuser how to conduct a case in police court he was arrested and charged with disturbing the peace. He was later released upon $10 bonds for his appearance in court Monday morning.

Abe Penchansky and B. Rosenblum, 1211 Clark street, were arrested for obstructing the alley and maintaining a nuisance in the rear of 1551 North Twentieth street. Gofstein repeatedly tried to break into the case and tell Anheuser what he should do although he had no connection with the case. After warning him several times Anheuser ordered Officer Coffey to arrest him.

Officer Coffey arrested Penchansky and Rosenblum last Sunday morning at Nineteenth and Clark streets. The two refused to ride to the station on a street car or in the patrol wagon because it was Sunday. Not wanting to start a row Coffey walked all the way from Clark street to the station in the sweltering heat.

Victim of Heat is in a Serious Condition

James W. Kemp, who was found by the police near the Sixteenth street viaduct, suffering from heat prostration late Friday afternoon and taken to St. Joseph's hospital, was reported to be in a very serious condition Saturday morning, despite the fact that he rested easily during the night.

Mr. Kemp was found staggering, and muttering incoherently, about 5 o'clock in the evening. He was taken to police headquarters and attended by Police Surgeon T. T. Harris. It was thought that he was intoxicated and it was not until Mr. Kemp was taken to the hospital that his actual ailment was discovered. He had a draft on a Chicago bank in his pocket and the police were under the impression that he came from Chicago, but it was learned later that he lived at Twenty-fifth and Farnam streets and has been in a serious condition for the last week owing to the excessive heat.

OUTLAW MONK IS SHOT DEAD

Driven from Hiding by Hunger, the Simian Meets Death Battle.

CAUGHT IN RAID ON A PANTRY

When Man-Eating Animal Visits William Dreft's Home He Throws Neighborhood into a Panic of Frenzies.

Babu El Chimpan was dead.

Babu was a big and vicious monkey and he escaped from his cage in Riverview park. He attacked Martin Larsen and for four days eluded armed pursuers who patrolled the park.

Officer Ferris shot the monkey Friday night, following a pitched battle in which the beast at last gave up the fight and pleaded plaintively for mercy.

Babu was shot in the kitchen of William Dreft's home, 3119 South Eleventh street, which he had entered shortly after 4 o'clock in search of food.

Mrs. Dreft had been walking in the park when she heard a stealthy step behind her and saw the monkey following. In a frenzy she ran home and locked the door. The monkey entered the kitchen and began to chatter about among pans in search of a meal. Mrs. Dreft ran to a neighbor's and telephoned the police. Officers Ferris and McDonald were detailed to capture or kill the monkey. They found him busily engaged in the search for food. The instant he saw the officers Babu realized that there was trouble ahead. With a snarl he made ready to fight. The officers drew and fired. At the report of the revolver the monkey fell, wounded, and began pleading for mercy. He died within a few minutes.

Babu's head will be sent to the Pasteur Institute at Chicago to be examined for hydrophobia. Larsen, who was scratched about the face, is not seriously injured, but Health Commissioner Connell believes the animal may have been infected and is sending the head to the Pasteur Institute as a precaution.
