

Motherhood

The highest point of woman's happiness is reached only through motherhood, in the clasping of her child within her arms. Yet the motherhood is often fearful of nature's ordeal and shrinks from the suffering incident to its consummation. But for nature's ills and discomforts nature provides remedies, and in Mother's Friend is to be found a medicine of great value to every expectant mother. It is an emulsion for external application, composed of ingredients which act with beneficial and soothing effect on those portions of the system involved. It is intended to prepare the system for the crisis, and thus relieve, in great part, the suffering through which the mother usually passes. The regular use of Mother's Friend will repay any mother in the comfort it affords before, and the helpful restoration to health and strength it brings about after baby comes. Mother's Friend is for sale at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

He has also offered to settle with his creditors for 50 cents on the dollar. His debts total $33,533, while his assets are scheduled at $24,333.90. Among the debts are listed unsecured claims, $27,550, and secured claims, $5,983.90. The assets he has listed the stock in trade at $21,865.32. Debts due on accounts are listed $1,974.03.

Deaf and Dumb Lad Wants Work—A deaf and dumb boy, 15 years old, has applied through his mother to the Associated Charities for employment. He is out of a deaf and dumb school on vacation and has repeatedly sought work and not finding has become so despondent that he refuses to associate with other boys and "just mopes around" his mother says. This boy is very efficient in developing picture films and the secretary of the charities has asked several photographers to give him a job but none of them have done so.

Body in Ice—A telegram received yesterday from Tulsa, Okla., by Coroner Crosby in answer to a letter he wrote there, confirmed the belief that the man who was found unconscious behind a string of boxcars near Thirteenth and Locust streets Sunday night and who died Monday at St. Joseph's hospital was Henry Reick. A bottle half full of alcohol diluted with poison was found beside Reick. No inquest will be held. The body will be buried at the county's expense, no other disposition having been made for it.

Our Company Held Blameless—The coroner's jury in the inquest over the body of Michael Dove, who was injured when struck by a street car at Fifth and Locust street Sunday night and who died Monday at the hospital, found the street railway company blameless yesterday. The evidence showed that Dove was asleep on the tracks when struck by the car. The jury also recommended that the East Omaha cars be equipped with high-power headlights. Testimony given by the crew brought to light the fact that the lamp only threw its rays ten feet in front of the car.

New Wheat Sold on the Grain Exchange

The Merriam Commission company sold the first car of new wheat on the floor of the Grain exchange yesterday, followed by a second sold by the Nye-Schneider-Powder Grain company. Both were of the No. 2 hard winter grade, tested sixty-three pounds and sold for 97 1/2 cents a bushel.

POTATOES COST HALF AS MUCH AS A WEEK AGO

New potatoes have become so plentiful on the local market during the last week that the price has fallen from 40 cents to 20 cents a peck. A. King, manager of Hayden Bros' grocery department, says the potato crop this year is enormous.

Berries seem to be drying up with the heat. All small berries have advanced during the week. Black and red raspberries, which sold a few days ago for 10 cents a pint, are now bringing 15 cents. Cherries and currants have jumped from 7 1/2 cents to 10 cents.

Peaches remain in season, retelling at 15 cents a basket. California fruits have begun to arrive. Blue tragedy, Clyman and red June plums are changing hands at $1.40 a crate, while apricots are 10 cents higher. Beans and peas are affected by the heat. The price remains the same, but the quality is poorer.

Distinction Between Holding Job and Working Exemplified

Commissioner Kugel has had forced upon him the impression that some job-seekers regard with scorn the ultimatum that city employees must work full eight hours.

A gang of men came into Kugel's office and applied for jobs as wood-cutters. "Can't help you," said the commissioner. "For I'm simply cutting men from under the auspices of the city."

The men, regretted it. "I want a job as a foreman—with the city," said one of them.

That Tom Harrington, who is known as a job-seeker, was a foreman with the city.

Any of you fellows looking for jobs as wood-cutters?" he inquired. "For if you are I can give you all jobs."

He held up a letter from a prominent real estate firm saying that many men would be employed by them to clear their vacant lots of weeds.

There was a silence in the room, broken only by the sound of a door opening and a voice saying: "I want a job as a foreman—with the city."

YOUTH IS OVERCOME BY HEAT

Is Found Lying on Sidewalk in Bellevue by a Doctor.

HE IS NOT EXPECTED TO LIVE

Parents Are on the Way to Omaha from Kansas City—Youth Does Not Remember Name of Doctor Who Cared for Him.

James White, aged 24 years, a clerk at Kansas City, Mo., is dying in St. Joseph's hospital as the result of being overcome by the heat of Tuesday. He has been unconscious since 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Mr. White was found lying on a sidewalk in Bellevue by a Papillon doctor. The doctor, whose name has not been learned by the hospital authorities, cared for White all Tuesday and tried to revive him, but failing to do so wired the young man's parents in Kansas City. The young man's home was ascertained by letters in his pocket.

The parents of White directed the doctor to notify John Quinn, 3122 Burt street, a friend of the stricken man. Quinn ordered White to be sent to St. Joseph's hospital where he was taken at midnight.

The young man's parents left Kansas City yesterday and are expected in Omaha this afternoon. Mr. White's condition is critical and the attendants at the hospital have little hopes for his recovery.

Mr. Quinn says the young man is the son of wealthy Kansas City parents, but he disappeared from home a few days ago and his mother and father knew not where he went. The young man was a clerk in a railway office in Kansas City and had quite a sum of money on his person. The police are trying to get the name of the Papillon doctor, Quinn having forgotten it.

After Score Years Editors Meet Again

Two of the editors who enjoyed the hospitality of Omaha Monday almost left the city without discovering that they had met under peculiar circumstances just twenty years ago at Valley City, N. D. The men are Charles K. Bassett of Hyannis and George Brady of Grand Island.

The crowd had thinned and these two began to gossip on general topics at the Hotel Rome late Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Bassett told of his experiences in the early days near Valley City. Brady informed him he was once foreman of a gang of railroad laborers when the Sioux line was being built there.

"Did you ever hear of the time," he began, "when the boarding cars were on the siding there?"

"When the Swede cut his throat?" interrupted Mr. Bassett.

"Yes, sir; that is just what I was going to tell you about," said Brady. "I was the man that went in and strapped him on a board, and called the sheriff."

"And I was the fellow that came out there with the sheriff," explained Bassett, "and helped you let him down out of the top of the car with a rope."

The two men's hands came together and they began the rehearsal of the whole affair. They had not even learned each other's names on the memorable night when they had cared for the would-be dead man in the icy winds of North Dakota.

"Nels" had been spending too much time thinking on the subject of religion and had talked the subject so much to some of the workmen that they had begun to make life a burden to him. He slashed his throat to end his misery.

"I met Nels a few months later," said Brady, "and I could hardly believe he was the same fellow, for I didn't think he could live; but I never thought until today that I would ever meet the man that helped me with him that night."

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI INTERESTED IN ATHLETICS

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Omaha High School Alumni association held at the Commercial club rooms plans were considered to enlarge the usefulness of the organization. The principal subject presented was that of assisting the high school students to secure suitable practice grounds for athletics, and the president, Sam Reynolds, was authorized to appoint a committee of five to consult with the public authorities and report back with suggestions.

It was also voted to inaugurate an information bureau to take care of inquiries from the high school students under the auspices of the requirements and courses of the various colleges and universities, this bureau to be under the direction of Stanley M. Rosewater. Nine of the directors were present.

After motoring or golfing the hair may be dusted with a little hair oil, and the head. In this dilemma you will find a dry shampoo a good friend. Put four ounces of powdered orris root in a fruit jar, add an original package of Therox and mix together. Sprinkle a little on the head and brush through the hair. Therox removes dust, oil and dandruff, and leaves the hair light, fluffy, and easy to do up.

The Bee's Letter Box

Insurgent Woodmen Methods.
ROCK ISLAND, Ill., July 6.—To the Editor of The Bee: The Bee is one of the papers the Insurgent Woodmen have induced to publish the statement that action to oust the head officers of the Modern Woodmen of America "is likely to be brought." The Illinois papers say the test will be made in Illinois. The statement at Des Moines is that the opportunity to set forth the wickedness of the head officers, as revealed in court, will fall to the Des Moines correspondents, the ever vigilant champions of pure government and poorly "staged."

On the other hand, The Bee is promised that "petition to oust our officers has been prepared by the order's ablest lawyers, and suit will be filed within the next ten days."

Whether the insurgents enter any outer proceedings or not is of small consequence as they see it. They accomplish the only purpose the filing of a complaint in court could have when they induce The Bee and other papers to announce their pious purpose of taking up arms against the hosts of sin within the society, the aforesaid hosts consisting of the men who hold the offices the insurgent leaders want. Ouster suits, injunction proceedings, or threats of the same, will be forthcoming just as long as these methods of securing publicity shall continue to yield satisfactory results. Over a month ago, one press association, unwilling to be used in a campaign for getting office, instructed its correspondents to drop the Modern Woodmen rate controversy. Others will follow this example when they get their eyes opened to the real animus and purpose of the insurgent movement. Fraternally,

CHAS. McLEAN.

Danger of "Little Learning."
OMAHA, July 8.—To the Editor of The Bee: In a recent letter published in this column, Mr. Garland quotes a minister as saying: "Knowledge without virtue is dangerous."

Garland then proceeds to attack the proposition in the most sophisticated manner.

Now the above proposition is clearly demonstrable, for if mankind only strived to acquire learning without trying to cultivate moral qualities this would indeed be a dangerous world. St. Paul says in this connection: "If I have the gift of prophecy and know all mysteries and all knowledge, but have not charity (virtue), I am nothing." Let us now analyze Mr. Garland's sophistry. He starts out by saying that the proposition "knowledge without virtue is dangerous; is without authority in ethical or religious thought," and he continues: "I contend that knowledge is truth, and being truth, knowledge without virtue is impossible."

Now let us get at the meaning of the words knowledge and virtue. Webster defines knowledge as "the sum of information conserved by civilization." In other words, learning. Virtue, according to Webster, is defined, "Moral excellence, conformity to the standard of right."

The words, therefore, are not synonymous. Knowledge and virtue are not concomitant or concurrent. They are not conjoined—one is not an accessory of the other. They do not by their nature necessarily exist synchronously, wherefore, Mr. Garland states that "Knowledge without virtue is impossible." He states a nonsensical and illogical thing.

To demonstrate that "Knowledge without virtue is impossible," you would have to prove that knowledge necessarily implies virtue. We have shown by the above definitions that such is not the case. A man may possess all earthly learning and still have no moral virtues. Garland's proposition reduced to a syllogism is as follows:

"Knowledge is virtue; I have knowledge, therefore, I have virtue." The premises are false and consequently the conclusion also. Garland again says, "Knowledge is right and right is virtue."

According to Garland, knowledge is susceptible of a variety of meanings only known to him.

He further cautions the minister as follows: "The minister should be cognizant that virtue does not rest alone in the positive precept of his church."

We certainly assume that the minister is cognizant of that self-evident truth, and it is very silly and puerile for Garland to make such a remark. The denotation and connotation of knowledge that precept alone is not virtue—you must put the virtuous precept in practice.

Why not emit a little sense when you are seeking to air your thoughts in the garb of cold type instead of proving to the world that a "little knowledge is a dangerous thing?"

Peace.
DAVID CITY, Neb., July 8.—To the Editor of The Bee: The solution of the problem of peace lies in the gradual, proportionate disarmament of the armies and navies of the world; preparatory to the construction of an international navy, a commander-in-chief to enforce the degrees of the international court of arbitration.

It would be the international police force to maintain order between nations; and a substitute for the existing national armies. It would be to the world.

MRS. HAVENS HURT BY AUTO

Wife of Prominent Coal Dealer Injured at Happy Hollow.

SUSTAINS FRACTURE OF LEG

Taken to Wise Memorial Hospital, Where Examination Discloses Severe Injuries, Probably Internal.

Failure to notice a swiftly oncoming auto driven by Albert Sibbersen, aged 17, who lives at 140 North Thirty-first street, cost Mrs. Joseph D. Havens, 5018 Capitol avenue, wife of one of the members of the Havens-White Coal company, serious injuries.

The accident occurred about 9:30 last night on the driveway leading to the Happy Hollow club. Mrs. Havens, with some friends, was walking in the middle of the road to the club when the car rounded into view from Underwood avenue. Before she could jump to safety the machine was upon her and she was struck by the fender and knocked unconscious.

Dr. E. C. Henry happened to be at the club and hearing the screams of Mrs. Havens' companions, rushed to the scene of the accident.

He took the injured woman in his auto to the Wise Memorial hospital, where examination showed that she had sustained a bad fracture of the left leg just above the ankle.

An examination at the hospital showed that Mrs. Havens was not internally injured and her condition this morning was much improved and she was resting easily.

Many Bohemians Will Come Here For Big Meeting

The fifth convention of the Western Bohemian Fraternal association will be held in Omaha the second week in September, and, according to leaders of the association, will be the most largely attended in the history of the organization.

Official delegates from 300 subordinate lodges will be present, and in addition there will be about 2,000 Bohemians from California, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Washington, Wyoming and other western states.

The present membership of the association is more than 17,000 and new lodges rapidly are being formed.

At the close of the convention a handsome monument to the late John Rosicky, one of the founders of the association, will be unveiled in the Bohemian National cemetery, Fifty-fourth and Center streets.
