WOMAN ATTACKED ON PORCH

Girl Wife of George Devere of Des Moines Left for Dead.

CARROLL MAKES A STATEMENT

Declares He Will Support Entire Ticket in Iowa, but Censures Those Supporting Third Party Organization.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
DES MOINES, Ia., July 11.—(Special Telegram.)—Choked and gagged by an unidentified assailant, the 15-year-old wife of George Devere was left for dead on the front porch of her home last night. A negro servant who came in two hours later found her unconscious. She revived a few minutes later and had entirely recovered this morning. She received an ugly bruise on the right temple, where her attacker had thrown her against one of the porch supports.

Carroll States Position.

Governor Carroll today made a statement as to his position in the state campaign this year.

The production of coal in Iowa for the year of 1911 was 7,831,948 tons, according to the statistics of the Iowa geological survey, which were collected in conjunction with the United States geological survey.

Inquiry Into Insurance Combine.

The attorney general of Iowa is continuing his investigation into the insurance combine in Iowa. In connection with the insurance department of Nebraska, he has secured copies of the agreements that the agents are signing up, and information as to the manner in which there was effected the merger of the Western Insurance bureau and the Western union.

Lie Passed in House, But No Blood is Shed

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The lie was passed without bloodshed in the house today. Representative Buchanan of Illinois, democrat, criticized Mr. Mann, minority leader, sharply for his alleged hostility to labor legislation, adding that Mr. Mann had resorted to filibustering and other methods to block the appointment of a commission to investigate the Taylor system of scientific shop management.

Horticulturalist Inspects Trees.

LOGAN, Ia., July 11.—(Special.)—Prof. L. Greene and Prof. T. J. Maney of the horticultural department, also Prof. R. L. Webster, assistant entomologist of Ames Agricultural college, did valuable work in the Chris Peterson orchard at Logan yesterday. Diseased limbs of trees were cut off and the wounds treated with corrosive sublimate, patches of diseased bark were carefully removed and also treated with corrosive sublimate and then painted with white lead, cuts removing large limbs were covered with wax; rough bark of trees was carefully removed to destroy the home of many insects harmful to the fruit trees.

Pharmacists Take Action.

SIoux CITY, Ia., July 11.—Proprietary medicine manufacturers, who have opposed in the courts the state law in Iowa which prohibits unlicensed dealers from selling prepared medicines, were condemned today in a resolution passed at the convention of the Iowa Pharmaceutical association.

My First Semi-Annual Clearance OF High Grade Clothes

You men who want fine clothes at low prices should take advantage of my semi-annual clearance. You know that I can't afford to carry stocks from one season to another—I would lose my reputation for a high-grade, up-to-date shop if I did. I must dispose of this season's suits regardless of costs or profits.

You'll find here a fine assortment of broken lot suits—all kinds of patterns, but not all sizes in all patterns. They sold from $25 to $35. I'm offering them at prices REALLY reduced, as follows:

$17.85 for suits that sold at $25, $27.50, $30, $32.50 and $35. These include two and three-piece suits in fancy worsteds, vicunas, chevots and serges, in grays, tans, blues and blue-grays in all the fashionable patterns, strictly hand-tailored by expert workmen. Coats are two and three-button, lined or unlined.

I am also offering my stock of trousers at greatly reduced prices, as follows:
$2.85 for trousers that sold from $4 to $6. Fine blue serges and fancy striped worsteds in many patterns.
$3.85 for trousers that sold from $5 to $7.50. Here you may select from a large number of patterns in fancy striped worsteds and blue serges, also white outing striped serges.

Happy, Canada; P. Fasemann, Germany, and B. Uggis, Sweden.
The bar, at 3 meters 60 centimeters (11 feet 9 1/2 inches) where the vaulting had finished yesterday, was cleared by all and was then put at 3 meters 65 centimeters (11 feet 11 1/2 inches) where Fasemann failed.
Uggis, the Swede, however, cleared at his first attempt, establishing a Swedish record, amid great enthusiasm.
Misfortune overtook Coyte, the pole napper in the middle before he had reached the level of the bar. He jumped back to earth unhurt. At first attempt to vault 3 meters 65 centimeters (12 feet 11 inches) Babcock was successful, but Murphy and Wright failed.

LORIMER BEGINS HIS SPEECH

than this capitol building belongs to me." Senator Lorimer said he had felt compelled to tell the senate about Governor Deneen, Victor Lawson, and "McCormicks and Pattersons who control the Tribune." In order to show the character of people who had been fighting him, Mr. Lorimer declared that erroneous statements had been sent out to the world by the newspaper agencies. He referred to what he termed the control of news sources by "Victor Lawson, Melville E. Stone and Frank B. Noyes, who formerly ran the Record-Herald for Mr. Lawson."

Quoting Mr. Taft's letter to Colonel Roosevelt, in which the president expressed the hope that he (Lorimer) should be ousted, Lorimer complained of his treatment by Mr. Taft. "I have no ill will or bitterness in my heart toward any senator who voted against me at this last congress, but it does hurt me that I should have been tried by the president or the ex-president of the United States," he said bitterly.

Referring to the attitude of senators, Mr. Lorimer said: "I object not to Senator Lodge's vote against me, but surely when a democratic legislator votes for me and another democratic legislator votes for me, I think surely I am entitled to the same consideration that he receives. There were democrats in Massachusetts who agreed with Mr. Lodge as to his foreign policies and had it been necessary enough of them would have voted for him to have insured his election. So in Illinois there were democrats who agreed with me."

President of Two Banks.
WEBSTER CITY, Ia., July 11.—(Special.)—L. A. McMurry, president of the Hamilton County State bank of this city, has just been elected president of the Ellsworth State bank of Ellsworth. The presidency of the latter has been vacant since the recent death of M. H. Branton, who was also president at the time of his death of the American Life Insurance company of Des Moines.

Boy Stricken While Swimming.
MILFORD, Ia., July 11.—(Special.)—Stricken with heart disease while he was in swimming, Charles McGregory, aged 14 years, of Chicago, was drowned in West Okoboji lake last evening, in three feet of water. The lad was here visiting his aunt, Mrs. S. T. Collender, in the hope that the change of climate would benefit his health.

nois there were democrats who agreed with me." Addressed Senator Root. Here Mr. Lorimer addressed the senior senator from New York. "Senator Root," he said, "I have only one criticism of your action and that was that when they brought to your information that they had discovered the source of the corruption you should have given me an opportunity to answer the charge. In that case I would either then have been turned out or I would have been here in my full right. Possibly, I am even too harsh when I say the information should not have been used against me without giving me a chance." This had reference to Editor Kohlisaat's letter to Mr. Root, telling him of the Funk $100,000 "slush" fund story. Mr. Root listened attentively, but made no reply.

Reference also was made to Mr. Kohlisaat's revelations to Colonel Roosevelt concerning the Funk story. Roosevelt, Lorimer declared, never had read a line of the record. "He wants to get rid of the bosses. He does not want them on his side—especially if the people know them." Mr. Lorimer then had the senate clerk read affidavits from three delegates to the republican national convention, saying that Charles Banks had tried to bribe them in Roosevelt's interest.

Mr. Lorimer referred to a current report that he owned the Chicago Inter Ocean—a report for which he said the "McCormick family" was responsible and said: "Let me say to you senators who think you are protected by the friendliness of the editors of this trust press; you may drive me from the chamber but you can never change the solemn judgment of the senate of the sixty-first congress in its decision in my favor. And when the case is no more talked of, the guillotine will be there for you as for me whenever you fall to bend your knees. The trust press will not stop with Lorimer. It will go on and on until no man will dare say his life is his own. Drive me hence and in future years take the consequences, putting in control of the nation the vile, vicious, venal trust press of the country."

Alleged Conspiracy of Editors.
Mr. Lorimer read a letter from a friend in Chicago detailing a conversation with Andrew Lawrence, editor of the Chicago American, just before the second investigation was ordered. The writer said Lawrence had told him that there was absolutely no hope of Lorimer's retaining his seat that the newspapers were in control and that senators would vote against him notwithstanding their private convictions.

"Hearsay, Lawrence, Lawson, McCormick and Kohlisaat—these are the men responsible for the sentiment in the country today," cried Mr. Lorimer. "Oh, if it be true as stated in that letter, what man can escape? If it be true as stated, of what consequence is it to prove that Lorimer is not here as the result of 'corrupt methods and practices.' Mr. Lorimer quoted President Taft's speech of two or three months ago complaining that Colonel Roosevelt had not given him (Mr. Taft) a square deal in referring to the Lorimer case. Lorimer declared he had supported the president rather than Mr. Roosevelt because he agreed with him on the subject of constitutional government and not because he (Lorimer) felt less bitter toward President Taft than toward Mr. Roosevelt.

"If Mr. Taft had expressed the same opinions as Colonel Roosevelt I would not have voted for either," declared Lorimer. He said the president has been misinformed concerning conditions in Illinois. He did not believe his support had cost the president a vote in the state primary, much less a delegate. Canadian reciprocity had not been popular in Illinois, he said, and in voting for Roosevelt the ballots were cast against reciprocity rather than for the colonel. His opinion was that if Roosevelt had not been a candidate, La Follette would have carried the state.

"If this man with whom I am associated in politics had not voted for the president he would not have received many more votes in Illinois than in South Dakota," he said.

Arrangements were made to spray the orchard about July 20, for the codling moth. The orchard will be carefully cultivated using the disc and reducing the surface of the ground to a dust.
