"Manny" Abrahams and John Broderick. Two of these men, he said, had been referred to by the Indiana senator as "saloon keepers," but that reference had been stricken out of the printed record.

Defends Hinky Dink.
The reference of Kenna afforded Mr. Lorimer another opportunity to defend his friend of boyhood days.

"None," he said, "have lifted up more of the fallen or helped more people to a better life than Michael O. Kenna, and I like to call attention to his charity."

Mr. Lorimer declared that when he had observed the Indiana senator's "holier-than-thou" expression he had been reminded of the Pharisee who in prayer had said:

"I thank thee, O Lord, that I am not like other men, and especially this publican."

Mr. Lorimer took up the testimony of Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester company, who testified that Edward Hines had asked him for money to pay for the Lorimer election.

He declared it had been shown conclusively that Hines was in Washington and not in Chicago at the time the conversation with Funk was alleged to have taken place.

Funk's statement that the International Harvester company never made campaign contributions was contradicted.

"I state it to you on my honor as a man and a senator," Lorimer said, "that if you have another investigation I will bring witnesses to prove that I met two Illinois men, one a democrat and the other a republican, the latter of whom told me he had received several contributions from Funk, and the former that Funk had given him $5,000 for a democratic campaign. In view of these facts I would take Mr. Hines' testimony in preference to Mr. Funk's."

Mr. Lorimer confessed to friendly relations with Mr. Hines, but said that he seldom saw him.

"Let me ask you lawyers," he said, "if you had a poor criminal here would you convict him on that kind of testimony? Would you consider it?"

DRUG OFFICIALS DECLINE TO ENDORSE DR. WILEY

SEATTLE, Wash., July 12.—An effort made at last night's session of the Association of American Food and Drug officials to endorse the policies and work of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, late chief chemist of the Department of Agriculture, was defeated, 4 to 2. One of the two votes which defeated the resolution was cast by B. H. Rawl, chief of the bureau of food in the Department of Agriculture. The convention elected Lewis J. Davis of Seattle, president, and chose Mobile, Ala., for the next convention.

DEATH RECORD.

E. C. Wakefield. FORT DODGE, Ia., July 12.—(Special.)—E. C. Wakefield, 52 years old, a prominent Iowa contractor and builder, is dead in this city. He came here three weeks ago from his home in Des Moines for a visit with his daughter, Mrs. Frank Dietz, and was taken acutely ill with trouble that has been affecting his health since last autumn. Mr. Wakefield built a great many of Fort Dodge's largest buildings and was contractor for many big projects in Iowa cities. His body will be taken to Des Moines Friday for burial there.

Dr. G. W. Shidder. YORK, Neb., July 12.—(Special.)—Yesterday morning Dr. G. W. Shidder died at the family residence, aged 53 years. He came to York in 1878 and had been engaged in the practice of medicine here with the exception of six months ever since. He leaves a large circle of friends, not alone in York, but throughout the state. Funeral services will be Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Masonic order will have charge.

Gust Johnson. CHAPPELL, Neb., July 12.—(Special.)—Gust Johnson, son of J. G. Johnson, who was a prominent rancher and an old-timer here, died yesterday at the home of his father from quick consumption.

HYMENEAL

Allen-Cummings. GRINNELL, Ia., July 12.—(Special.)—At 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Cummings of Montezuma, Miss May Cummings and Mr. S. C. Allen of Helena, Mont., were made husband and wife. Rev. J. L. Henning, pastor of the Montezuma Presbyterian church, officiating. A large number of guests were present, among whom were Mrs. William McCongil of Chicago and Mrs. J. O. Gorsuch of Denver. The groom is a son of conspiracy to poison the minds of the citizenship in order that one man might be destroyed to satisfy the malice of the most corrupt set of newspaper owners known to the history of the country."

LORIMER RESUMES SPEECH

Mr. Lorimer claimed that the Helm committee of the Illinois legislature was a subterfuge to cause a second inquiry by the United States senate. He contended that the Helm inquiry had not been conducted by Illinois legislators, but by "Editor Kohlhaas, the priestly Kohlhaas; John J. Healy and the Hearst newspapers."

He declared the hearing had been neither impartial nor thorough and asserted it was conducted only to bring the matter into the senate again in order that it might be tried by a new set of judges.

Mr. Lorimer explained his failure to take the stand as a witness in the first Lorimer investigation by the senate, by saying that even the Chicago Tribune had not counted upon connecting him with any corrupt practices.

"You cannot strike out the former verdict of the senate," he exclaimed, "and I believe that I have a title that has been declared valid."

Senator Lorimer then announced that he proposed to discuss for the first time in his address to the senate some of the evidence in the case. He began by reading an affidavit by former State Representative Joseph S. Clark, who was alleged to have voted for him on a promise that he would be allowed to name a new postmaster at Vandalia, Ill. The affidavit denied the charge flatly.

Lorimer charged Senator Kern with attempting to make it appear that Charles S. Luke, a dead member of the Illinois legislature, had testified in the case. Luke had died, he said, before any of the hearings began. He then took up the testimony against Jandus, Sheppard and Tippit, also members of the Illinois legislature. The implication attached to the fact that Sheppard and Tippit had rented safe deposit boxes at the time of his election he denounced as mere insinuations. Senators opposed to him, he declared, did not care for the facts.

Takes Up Confessions.

Then Lorimer took up the four so-called confessions of men said to have been bribed to vote for him. The first of these was Charles A. White.

"If you have any case here it must stand or fall on White's testimony," he said.

He declared White was a perjurer; that he had admitted perjury under oath. Lee O'Neill Browne had been charged with the bribing of White. Lorimer contended it had been shown that White had announced his intention of voting for him before the alleged bribing transaction took place. Ten days before his election White had voluntarily come to him and promised his vote, he said.

Senator Lorimer appeared to have recovered from the weakened condition in which his vigorous speech of yesterday had left him and he continued through a spirited denunciation of his enemies with energy. Those opposed to him declared his fight a futile one and that the final votes would show a substantial majority against him. His friends, grave and silent for the most part, made no predictions.

Reply to Senator Reed.

Senator Lorimer took up the criticisms made by Senator Reed in his speech yesterday on Lorimer's contribution of $10,000 to the defense of Lee O'Neill Browne charged with bribing White.

Mr. Lorimer explained this act with much display of feeling toward Senator Reed. He intimated that the latter has phrased his attack in terms calculated to convey suspicion where facts did not.

"I know that Lee O'Neill Browne never paid out one dollar to influence a vote for Lorimer. I know that the state's attorney, the Tribune and the government were in conspiracy to destroy Lorimer," he shouted.

He declared he had contributed to Browne's defense because he knew that "if Browne were convicted it would be hard to make any one believe that Lorimer had not bought his seat. They thought Browne couldn't escape. All the power of the third degree was to be used upon him by State Attorney Wayman."

Returning to White, Mr. Lorimer declared no one had a right to accept the testimony of a man who had said he would sell his soul for money.

"If you are to believe there is anything in this case you must settle this question in your own mind and then you go to the Beckmeier or Halstiw. That is all there is in the case," declared the accused senator.

"The minority of the committee would have you believe such a course wrong," he said. "All right, Senators Lea and Kenyon and Kern," pointing to each in turn. "You may live by that rule if you will, but all my life I have tried to make a reputation for never having gone back on or turned down a friend."

Throwing up his hands and turning his face upward, Senator Lorimer dramatically cried:

"Let Him judge who shall be the final judge whether it is correct to do unto those and you would have them do unto you. By that rule have I lived and by that rule shall I die, though all the world, including the senate, shall condemn me."

Says Fight Will Go On.

Lorimer complained that the tendency was to believe men only who testified against him and to disbelieve all who testified for him. He declared he would see that the truth should become known and believed.

"While I live and regardless of the verdict here," he said, "this fight will go on, and on, and on until all the people of the world will come to know the case and to know it as it has been presented by the five men who listened to all the testimony." Mr. Lorimer was referring to the majority of the committee who reported in his favor.

Of the other three members of the committee he said one had been present only at 25 per cent of the time of the committee's sittings, another not to exceed 50 per cent and the third not to exceed 50 per cent.

Mr. Lorimer acknowledged his presence at Springfield during the sitting of the legislature was due to his interest in the Illinois dead waterway project.

"And," he said, "if I had not been compelled for the last two years and a half to follow this awful, bitter, vicious prosecution, this waterway from the great lakes to the gulf would have been legislated for."

The allegation in the minority report that Browne had been the (Lorimer's) agent he dismissed as an insinuation. The Illinois senator took exception to Mr. Kern's reference to his associates, among whom were "Hinky Dink" Kenna,

WARNING

TO SICK PEOPLE

The gratifying success of our "United" system of medicine in the treatment of chronic diseases has not only convinced the people that "United" treatment often succeeds after ordinary doctors have failed; but our success has also convinced some unscrupulous doctors that they can reap a reward by pretending to be agents for or pretending to be connected with us in some way.

We have been informed that doctors are traveling over the western states reaping a rich harvest from sick people representing themselves to be our agents or using some name so similar to ours as to be confusing to sick people.

Therefore, we make the following statements in order to prevent sick people from becoming confused in regard to where they can receive the United Doctors' treatment.

We have only one office in Nebraska located in Omaha on the second floor of the Neville block, corner 16th and Harney streets.

We have no institutes in either of the Dakotas, Minnesota or Iowa.

We have no traveling representatives in either of the above states or in Nebraska.

We do not conduct any institutes or offices anywhere under the names "Associated Doctors" or "Associated Medical Specialists" or "Western United Doctors" or "Northwestern United Doctors" or any similar sounding names. The only name under which we do business anywhere is just plain United Doctors.

Any sick person who has been defrauded by any doctor or persons who fraudulently represented that he was our agent or was connected with us may compel such doctor or person to return the money and also convict him of swindling by obtaining money by false representation.

Coupon Good for Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 or 6

The Omaha Bee has entered into a great National publishing alliance, whose object is to place in every American home the best possible memento of the Civil War—as an education in patriotism, and also in order to celebrate fittingly the semi-centennial of that momentous period.

We have secured the rights in this city for the famous Brady photographs, taken on the actual fields of battle, and lost for many years. These historic scenes, with full history of the great struggle, newly written by Prof. Henry W. Elson of Ohio University, will be issued in sixteen sections, each complete in itself, and known as the CIVIL WAR THROUGH THE CAMERA.

The above coupon, if used at once, is good for one section when accompanied by an expense fee of TEN CENTS, to cover cost of material, handling, clerk hire, etc. By mail, three cents extra. Bring or send this Coupon TODAY to The Bee office.
