OPEN DISPENSARY IN WEEK

Visiting Nurses Prepare to Care for Tubercular Patients.

INSTRUCTIONS TO BE GIVEN

Effort Will Be Made to Take Discharge in the Earliest Stages and Thus Prevent a Spread.

The Visiting Nurse association instructive dispensary in Gardner Memorial hall, on Seventeenth and Dodge streets, will open formally Wednesday of next week with a reception to physicians and surgeons. Miss Louise McPherson, president of the association, the other officers and directors, and Miss Lillian Stufk, head nurse, will receive the doctors. Active work in dispensing instruction and care to people suffering with contagious and infectious diseases, especially tuberculosis, will follow.

The two rooms which will be the dispensary headquarters are now ready for patients. Every inch of wall and wood work has been painted white and all tables, bowls and articles to be used in examining patients are white enameled. Medicines and provisions, such as milk and eggs for those who need immediate nourishment, will be kept in an ice room adjoining the main rooms.

Patients to Be Instructed. Posters, with catchy phrases, giving instruction in prevention and care of tuberculosis, will be hung on the walls, and pamphlets with similar teaching will be dispensed. Miss Stufk is in charge of all the dispensary activities.

She says that the aim is to get people in the early stages of tuberculosis, thus saving them and preventing the spread of the disease in the community. Cases which come to the dispensary will be followed up in their homes to insure obedience to rules. In cases where eggs and milk cannot be bought, the association aid department will provide these articles and cases in the last stages will be cared for by the association's visiting nurses, as they have been in the past.

The dispensary has already received the hearty commendation and cooperation of the doctors and will refer cases to them.

Substantial Institution. Funds for the dispensary were provided by the Visiting Nurse association and the State Red Cross society. Miss Stufk is secretary of the State Association of Graduate Nurses and was head of the Hospital for the Insane at Lincoln. After graduating from the Chicago Training School for Nurses, she took a course in social welfare work in the Chicago School of Civics and Philanthropy, with active work at Hull House and the University Settlement. She gave up an opportunity to do psychological investigation work among the insane in New York City to come to Omaha. She is enthusiastic over launching the crusade against the white plague in Omaha.

Hull Asks for Names Mentioned in Wife's Divorce Petition

C. W. Hull, who is suing Mrs. William R. McKeen, Jr., for annulment of their $31,000 alimony contract, wants Mrs. McKeen to give names when she charges that for the last ten years of their married life he was guilty of infidelity. In her answer to Hull's suit Mrs. McKeen included her original petition for divorce from him, which charges infidelity. Hull has filed a motion to require his former wife to name the women to whom she says he paid unseemly attentions. Hull also filed a motion to strike from McKeen's answer to the alimony suit the paragraph which says Hull did not bring the action in good faith and had no right to bring it. These motions probably will not be argued for several weeks.

De Bernardi Finds Wheat Crop Great

On his way home to Kansas City, coming in from an extended inspection trip of the lines of northern Kansas and southern Nebraska, General Superintendent De Bernardi of the Missouri Pacific was in Omaha a couple of hours yesterday.

The trip of Superintendent De Bernardi took him through the great winter wheat fields of two states and he is enthusiastic over the crop prospects. He says that throughout the country visited, all of the wheat has been cut and hundreds of threshing machines are running. Wheat, as a rule, is turning out from twenty to thirty bushels per acre and in many instances he heard of fields where the yield was running as high as forty bushels. In rare instances is the yield below eighteen bushels per acre. Everywhere the grain weighs out heavy, from sixty, to as high as sixty-five pounds per bushel.

Superintendent De Bernardi will be in Omaha again Friday, when in his private car he will take a party of local business men over the Belt Line, showing them some factory sites that are available and on which he expects to locate some manufacturing industries during the next three months.

BALTIMORE & OHIO OPENS OFFICES HERE

The road is to make a renewed effort for business out of this territory to and from points along its lines.

WHEAT IS TURNING OUT BIG

Crop in Nebraska is Rapidly Reaching the Bumper Stage.

ISOLATED SPOTS ARE AFFECTED

Only Points that Have Not Come Up to Expectations Are Along the River and Southwest Nebraska.

As threshing progresses throughout the southern portion of Nebraska, indications become more convincing that the Nebraska winter wheat crop is reaching up toward the bumper point, being far ahead of last year.

The only points which have not come up to expectations are those along the Missouri river and in the extreme southwest corner of the state, where the estimate is fifteen bushels per acre. In these sections the dry weather of May is said to have materially reduced the yield.

Counties from which reports have been received are: Dodge, 26; Saunders, 15; Douglas, 15; Sarpy, 15; Cass, 15; Colfax, 15; Nemaha, 30; Johnson, 30; Lancaster, 30; Buffalo, 25; Adams, 40; Perkins, 15; Hitchcock, 30; Dundy, 15; Seward, 30; York, 20; Polk, 25; Hamilton, 30; Hall, 30; Otoe, 15 bushels per acre.

None of the wheat is weighing less than sixty-two, and much of it is running as high as sixty-five pounds to the bushel. Having been harvested and threshed without any rain having fallen upon it, the condition is perfect.

Reports from the North Platte section are not expected for a few days, as being further north, the season is a little later, but if the yield in Hall, Dodge and Buffalo counties can be taken as a fair index, thirty to thirty-five bushels per acre will not be unusual.

Judge Cooley and His Money on Fire

During the trial of a case in police court yesterday when everyone was staring at the plaintiff in the case as he was telling a lurid story of how he had been criminally assaulted by the defendant and straining forth in their seats, so not a word would escape them, Judge Cooley jumped up from his seat and ran out of the room with smoke ensuing from his side pocket.

Reaching down in his pocket he pulled out a roll of burning bills. He managed to save the money from serious damage, but not so with his B. V. D.'s. Cooley had a number of loose matches in his pockets which became lighted by contact with the corner of the table.

Vegetables Cost More, While Meat is Some Cheaper

In a week wax and green beans have scaled the price ladder from 12 1/2 cents a basket to 50 cents. Peas have risen from 25 cents to 50 cents a basket. The hot weather is said to be drying up vegetables. Beets, carrots, turnips and other underground grown edibles remain the same in price. Cauliflower is disappearing.

Michigan celery is coming to the local market. It sells now for 25 cents a bunch. This hot weather lemonade season has caused the price of lemons to go up $1, selling now at $7 a case. Sugar, too, has gone up 10 cents, nineteen pounds costing $1.

Meats have begun to balance the vegetables. All kinds of beef have been reduced 2 1/2 cents a pound. Sirloin is selling at 12 1/2 cents, when it was 15 cents a pound, and round steak is retailing at the same price under a similar decline.

Porterhouse steaks, which were 17 1/2 cents, now are down to 15 cents a pound. Shoulder steak is 10 cents instead of 12 1/2. Veal is also on the decline, steaks selling at 12 1/2 instead of 15 cents a pound, and chops retailing for 10 cents.

The best cuts of pot roast may be had for 10 cents a pound. Bacon is selling from 12 1/2 to 20 cents and hams at 14 cents a pound.

Many Cattle Are Condemned in the Independent Plants

Police Commissioner Ryder, under whose orders sanitary inspectors have been working to secure better conditions in the independent packing houses, reports that 100 cattle have been condemned from January to June. Meat aggregating 36,000 pounds has also been condemned and destroyed.

Cattle and meat were condemned by inspectors wherever indications of tuberculosis, parasites, pregnancy or scabies was found. Cripples, "downers," (cattle which have fallen and been trampled in the cars), and emancipated animals have been condemned.

Decomposed meat in quantities amounting to 428 pounds has been destroyed and immature veal totaling 1,971 pounds has also been condemned.

Mr. Ryder inspected the slaughter houses and packing houses of South Omaha and ordered a clean-up before the health department would permit products of certain houses being sold in Omaha.
