FARM & RANCH LANDS FOR SALE

Land, Live Stock and Water Rights For Sale
Price $15 Per Acre

5,540 ACRES, nearly all level bottom land, fully one-half suitable for crops and alfalfa. Balance good grass land; no stone no overflow or other objectionable features, only one marsh and it can be drained and increase hay crop. This ranch is used exclusively for stock, but owner owns water rights covering about 1,900 acres, all of which is good alfalfa. Balance good grass land, not used, as water is not needed. No failure of hay crop in thirty years. The water supply is abundant and reliable, as the river is but 20 feet wide and averages 3 feet deep. The buildings and fences are good. Two spring creeks, which never freeze, avoid expense and trouble of maintaining reservoirs, wells and windmills. 200 acres timber furnishes fuel and about 100 acres leased for full pasture, will be assigned to purchaser without charge. The part of this land used for alfalfa is 240 acres, furnished feed for 1,200 head of cattle and horses summer and winter. By using part of this land for alfalfa, a much larger number can be carried.

LIVE STOCK
The ranch is stocked with high grade cattle and horses, which can be bought at market prices or left out. It has taken a long time and cost lots of money to get this herd together and the horses graded up. Anyone buying the stock would get the advantage of this.

NOT ISOLATED
Telephone in house, daily mail and daily stage. Land adjoins small town of Nebraska, 100 miles from S. R. and county seat. This land is very different from the average ranch. The character of the soil, the timber, the water, the available land prices, sooner or later.
Price $15.00 per acre.

WILSON UNDERWOOD'S PUPIL
Floor Leader Instructs Nominee on Political Conditions.

CONFIDENT WILL WIN NEW YORK
Governor Takes Pancey to Reactionary Democrat Abhorred by Bryan and Considers Him Entirely Charming.

SEA GIRT, N. J., July 17.—The political battleground of the campaign of 1912, where the democratic party will strain its sinews for every vote, was placed before Governor Woodrow Wilson like a checkbook today by the man he regards as better informed than any other on conditions throughout the country, Oscar W. Underwood, leader of the democratic majority of the house of representatives.

State by state the nominee and the house leader went over the map at their luncheon at the Trenton Country club and when the conference ended, two and a half hours later, they had taken from the debate states Wisconsin, Missouri, Maryland, Kentucky and New York, with a reservation that there would have to be some campaigning done in Missouri and that while New York was pretty certain to go democratic the democrats there would have to be on their guard and not feel too cocksure, and made a list of the states where they will have to fight for votes with a good chance of carrying them.

States named Debatable.
In this list they placed first the great middle western states of Illinois, Ohio and Indiana. From the New England group they put down Maine and Connecticut. Along the Mason and Dixon border they made note of West Virginia. In a class by itself they placed Pennsylvania and last of all they totted down New Jersey as debatable, although the Jersey leaders close to the governor have promised the state to him by pluralities ranging from 50,000 to 100,000 votes. These states the governor referred to tonight as "debatable," but indications are that he believes he can carry every one.

Mr. Underwood told the governor that before coming to Trenton he had conferred with congressmen in these states and could therefore speak with a fair working knowledge of conditions. The governor feels that a representative in congress knows the situation in his own district if anybody does, and from their reports, as reflected by Mr. Underwood to him, he feels that he obtained this afternoon a good working idea of just where the fire of the campaign artillery is to be directed.

Learns Much from Underwood.
"We went over the situation in the debatable states," Governor Wilson said tonight, "concerning which was the best campaigning ground in the country. With Mr. Underwood's very unusual knowledge of conditions through his colleagues in congress, I have gotten a great deal out of the situation that was very valuable to me."

Making the first state discussed, he regarded as having strong inclinations to remain democratic. Mr. Underwood's report places it high in the list of states to be won with a fair amount of campaigning. Indiana is counted upon to support the ticket loyally, not alone because its "favorite son" is Wilson's running mate, but because of local conditions, the divided republican vote and a strong trend towards democracy since the last presidential campaign.

In Ohio, Governor Wilson believes, the third party will divide the republican vote so that the democrats will have more than an even chance of carrying the state. In fact, it is understood that the third party movement was reckoned with more heavily there than in most of the other states. Pennsylvania, excepted, that are regarded by the nominee as debatable. Were the republicans united the outlook would still be good, he believes, notwithstanding the fact that it is President Taft's home state.

Pennsylvania Claimed.
Pennsylvania is placed in a class by itself because from all over the state there have come to Sea Girt and to Washington declarations from republicans and democrats alike, that they will vote for Wilson, and because of the unusually rosy hue of the representations of the party leaders there.

The views of Governor Foss of Massachusetts, regarding Connecticut, supplemented by reports to Mr. Underwood, letters from Wilson leaders and other democrats in the state are reflected in the attitude of the nominee towards Connecticut. Mr. Underwood told him that there was an excellent chance of carrying the state. Massachusetts for some reason was not mentioned, but this is not regarded as significant, as the list is by no means complete and there are yet many states to be taken.

"West Virginia, of course, is debatable ground." This from Governor Wilson sums up the nominee's attitude toward that commonwealth.

Missouri, it developed tonight, was discussed in detail by the governor and Speaker Champ Clark when the latter was here last Saturday. At that time the speaker is said to have told Governor Wilson that some work would have to be done there, but that there was no reason why the state should not support the ticket.

Confident of New York.
Coming down to New York, the governor feels pretty confident of the result there next November. This feeling, he said, was strengthened by a talk at Trenton today with Lieutenant Governor Conway.

The governor added that Mr. Conway told him he thought the third party vote in New York would not "make much impression."

Colonel Roosevelt's following in New Jersey is reckoned with in placing the governor's own state among those to be debated for with the republicans and the third party. There is reason to believe, however, that few real tests are entertained of the result here.

The talk with Mr. Underwood has given the governor a vast deal of detailed information that he lacked, and was at once satisfying and refreshing to the nominee. Of Mr. Underwood, Governor Wilson said tonight:

"I found him entirely charming. He has such a singular frankness and openness and charm about him. I don't know any man I have met in a long time that I have taken such a fancy to. We had a fine talk, and I, just going over the whole situation, in a most satisfactory way, really just like two men who had always known each other."

INDIANAPOLIS, July 16.—Governor Thomas H. Marshall, democratic candidate for vice president, today received at the state capital twenty members of the democratic national committee who stopped here on their way home from the reorganization meeting at Chicago.

"We are here representing the national committee to pay its respects to you, governor, as the next vice president of the United States," said Thomas Taggart, Indiana committeeman.

Speeches pledging enthusiastic co-operation during the campaign were made by Martin J. Wade of Iowa and others.

In responding, Governor Marshall said he "did not know whether he was 'progressive' or not," and continued: "There are many kinds of 'progressives' nowadays. One believes in taking the tariff off Iowa products and putting it on Indiana products, and another supports the opposite policy. I am not that kind of a progressive. But if the term means to believe that the democratic party should meet changing conditions in protecting the people against special interests, I am progressive."

Thanking the committee for their visit to the governor said:

"I do not know what I can do for the success of the ticket, though I know it will be successful. My petty hopes and ambitions are not worth considering. If my sacrifice could elevate Woodrow Wilson to the presidency I would make it now. I am his to command to the uttermost of my power."

The committeemen departed this afternoon and several accompanied Mr. Taggart to French Lick Springs as his guests.

KING GIVES STATE BANQUET
Fitting End Made to Main Part of Olympic Meeting.

AMERICAN OFFICERS MORE SUCCESSFUL IN MILITARY RIDING THAN EXPECTED
After Hardships of Long Voyage.

STOCKHOLM, July 17.—The palace tonight was the scene of a state banquet which proved a fitting end to the main part of the Olympic meeting. King Gustave welcomed 600 guests in the grand hall. The king and queen, crown prince and crown princess, were seated at the head of the hall, the guests occupying two long tables below. The 400 included members of the Olympic committee of the various nations, foreign diplomats, members of the Swedish cabinet and all the visiting officers.

After the dinner the guests assembled in the reception room. The king in the guards' uniform of light blue walked about and conversed with many of the guests. One of the interesting features to the foreigners was the strange regalia worn by the court officials and servants.

Meanwhile the public was entertained by a water carnival. All the shipping in the harbor was illuminated and there was a display of fireworks. There were thousands of residents and many country people crowded to the water-side to witness the spectacle.

In the military riding competitions the American officers are doing better than expected. They were handicapped by the long voyage and their horses had to endure a fortnight on board ship, but in spite of this they are hopeful, although not confident of winning.

Results in Military Riding.
The individual scores in the four events of the military competition at the close of today's jumping were: Meyer, France, and Rockow, Germany, coupled, first with 38.5; Lieutenant John C. Montgomery, Seventh United States cavalry, Sotko and Suseby, Germany, coupled, second with 38.4; Casparson, Sweden, third with 38.2; Henry Lutewich, Germany, fourth with 37.7; Lieutenant Ben Lear, Fifteenth cavalry, fifth with 36.0, and Lieutenant E. F. Graham, Fifteenth cavalry, sixth with 35.0. Captain Guy V. Henry, Thirteenth cavalry, stands tenth with 34.8 among the seventeen competitors.

Tomorrow the fifth and last event in the military competition, the prize riding, is to be decided. Of the twenty-nine officers who started in the competition only seventeen are left in.

In the prize riding the appearance and form of both riders and horses are large factors.

Prince Frederick Charles of Prussia in the uniform of a German guardsman and the Grand Duke Pavlovitch of Russia were the most conspicuous performers at the jumps today.

The points for the individual jumping contests in which no Americans competed, were announced as follows: Carion, France, and Von Krocher, Germany, 196 each; Deblomastri, Belgium, 188. On the jump off, Carion was declared the winner.

The total scores for swimming and diving are officially announced as: Great Britain, 22; Sweden, 17; Australia, 14; Germany, 12; United States, 9; Canada, 6; Austria, 1.

Most of the German and Swedish points were scored in diving, in which Australia was not represented. Thus Australia is easily the first swimming nation.
