PLATTE RIVER PLANT TO GIVE HORSEPOWER ESTIMATED AT 35,000 NEW YORK, July 22-A picked squad of gun men shot Gamiller Rosenthal after

Plan Provides Eventually fro Lighting and Driving Trolley Cars of Omaha.

LOCAL STATION TO BE KEPT UP

Will Be Used During Four Months of Year of Low Water.

OLD THEORY NOW ABANDONED

Giant Reservoirs no Longer Employed During Dry Season.

WATER RIGHTS ARE SECURED

Power Plant is _ Be Located Near Fremont and Canal Will Be Twenty-Six Miles in Length.

The estimated power that is to be developed through the construction of the Platte river canal and power plant near 23,000 horsepower. The plan, as Fred A. Light and Power company, gives it, is power for the lighting of Omaha and for the driving of trolley cars. "The plan is to sell power to the various concerns that use it here." he says.

The Omaha Electric Light and Power company will maintain its power plant in Omaha just as it has before, but will get its power during the greater yart of the year from the canal power plant at Gigerich a writ of habeas corpus order-Fremont. The plant in Omaha would be maintained as an auxiliary plant, that their clients in court tomorrow morning. would be operated to furnish power during the four months of the year in which the Platte river cannot be depended upon to furnish water enough for the canal plant. "The proposition." says Mr. Nash, "has long been whether the interest on a great amount of capital invested in such a project would be less than the amount of money annually expended in the city for coal to generate electricity. We have decided in f wor of the canal plant."

Rights Are Secured. Mr. Nash says that the days when the matter was merely talked of are over, as the water rights have been secured and the law of the state requires that the company break ground and actually go to work on the project within six months after the filing of the rights.

river into the canal some three and onehalf miles southeast of Schuyler. From there the canal is to cross the branch line of the Northwestern which runs from Fremont to Hastings, and is to follow this line pretty closely toward Fremont. By the time the canal reaches a point directly south of Fremont it is to be pretty well on the summit of the bluffs that skirt the south side of the river there. Here the power plant is to be located, where the water will have a fall of 120 feet to reach the river below, turning the gigantic water turbines as it makes the drop. The canal will be twenty-six miles in length.

No Storage Reservoirs. The old theory of building giant reservoirs to store up water to be used for power during the dry seasons when the river is low has been given up. The danger to the adjacent country from possible breaks of reservoirs caused the theory to be abandoned, and besides it was concluded that by maintaining the power plants in Omaha power could be developed in the old way during the months plant at Fremont. Some of the very highest skilled hydraulic engineers in the country have been employed and have been on the ground almost constantly during the last six months mapping out the course of the canal and plant and calculating the qbstacles. They were on the ground during some of the floods of last spring, and thus discovered methods of avoiding the danger to the canal that would be incurred if it were built according to former plans and theories. The canal is to be ninety feet wide, twenty-six miles long, with a minimum depth of ten feet, and with a fall at the outlet of 120 feet

Charles T. Kountze, president of the First National bank, who with his brother, Luther L. Kountze, is to be heavily interested in the project, said the plans of the formation of the company were not quite complete. Luther L. Kountze is out of the city at present taking his vacation, Gang men kept the street in front of the Metropole hotel clear so that "the murder auto" could make a "clean getaway" and sixteen men, at least, knew of the "croak" to be "pulled off" and mounted guard, armed with blackjacks, to see that nothing interfered with the killing.

These details were announced today by officials of the prosecutor's office after a further statement by William Shapiro, held in connection with the killing.

When Coroner Feinberg called the Rosenthal hearing to order District Attorney Whitman, for the people, asked adjournments in the cases involving Shapiro and Libby. Wr. Whitman declared that "public interest and the interest of justice demanded adjournment. Adjournments in these cases were then orderd until Thursday.

Counsel for "Jack" Rose objected to postponement in his client's case. Mr. Whitman thereupon asked that Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty be called as the first witness.

United States District Judge Resigns Under Fire Following Investigation Lasting Nearly One Month.

WASHINGTON, July 22.-Chairman Henry D. Clayton of the house judiciary committee tonight announced that he considered unnecessary further impeachment proceedings against Federal Judge Hanford of Washington, who today resigned. In a long statement Chairman Clayton declared that while congress has the power to try a federal official for impeachment even after he has resigned. he did not believe that course necessary in tihs case. Chairman Clayton instructed the subcommittee now in Seattle taking testimony in the Hanford case, to discontinue its work. He received the following message from Representative Graham, chairman of the subcommittee:

"Judge Hanford has just forwarded his resignation to the attorney general. We are not quite done taking testimony, but nearly so. The sub-committee unani)mously favors to discontinue the taking of further testimony."

In his statement Chairman Clayton cited the precedent of the case of Secretary of War Belknap, who was impeached and tried by the senate, after his resignation had been accepted by President Grant. The articles of impeachment against Belknap failed to receive the necessary two-thirds vote in the senate.

"The main object of impeachment be ing to get rid of an unfaithful officeholder, having been accomplished in this case by the resignation of Judge Hanford, if it is true that he was unfaithful, there seems to be no necessity for impeaching him in order to disqualify him from hereafter holding any office of Republican County Convention Conhonor or profit under the United States. ever elect him to any office of honor or profit. Mr. Scott testified that the largest contribution of which he had knowledge made to the national committee in that campaign was his own, amounting to said, had given $15,000, but not to the national committee. Both contributions were "In October, 1904," Mr. Scott said, "Mr. Perkins asked me the situation in West Virginia, and I told him we had a very hard fight on for governor and that it was doubtful whether we could elect William O. Mr. Scott did not know. "Do you know whether Mr. Perkins interceded with the president as to the taking over of the Tennessee Coal and Iron ompany?" asked Senator Paynter. "I don't know anything about that mat ter," said the witness. Trusts Did Not Contribute,

Mr. Scott said he knew of no one connected with the Steel, Oil or Beef trusts who had given anything to the campaign. It had been the settled policy of George B. Cortelyou and Cornelius N. Bliss, as the heads of the committee to make it known that no such contributions would be received, he said.

"My own corporation never gave a dolar to the campaign," he added. Mr. Scott was then a glass manufacturer. Asked about any action of the Ameri-

Following the interviews with the state officers the progressive republican committee held a conference at the end of which Chairman McCormick announced that the progressive republicans would put a third party state ticket in the field, but there would probably be no new county tickets.

Governor Deneen's Reply. Governor Deneen in his reply to the progressive party committee said in part: "It is plain to me that there is but one course I can pursue in this situation. Having sought the support of republicans and having been chosen as their candidate for governor of this state there is no opportunity afforded the republican voters to change their minds in reference to my another in my stead, and I have no moral right to change my status as their trustee or in any way to alter the terms of the position I hold in trust as their represent-

"The nomination of state candidates nad nothing whatever to do with national affairs. The utmost that could be hoped to be achieved by such a course would be the defeat of the republican nominees for state officers and the election of their democratic opponents, and the election, under the cumulative system of voting of a sufficient number of members of the house of representatives, representing your friends, to prevent any party from organizing a majority and assuming the
