All Men's Up to $20.00 Suits, Saturday, $9.75
All Men's Up to $35.00 Suits, Saturday, $12.50

Without an exception, this is the strongest value-giving men's suit proposition the town has ever known. Not a suit in the entire men's store is reserved—blacks, blues and fancies in styles for both men and young men. And, if you will notice, none of them are marked as much as half—the better-priced suits being far less. A very satisfying assortment to choose from.

Joseph Cudahy of Chicago, formerly of Omaha, has been honored by the Lake Forest Horse Show organization and chosen secretary.
While in Omaha Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cudahy and Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy and family, although owning several automobiles, also kept their horses, and both families took an active interest in the Omaha Horse shows.
The Lake Forest annual open air horse show will be held Saturday, September 7, and will be the great social event of the early fall.
The custom of having it in the fall, instead of in June as heretofore, was inaugurated last year, and the reason given was that the hunters and polo ponies were in better condition then than earlier in the season. And last year for the first time there was but one day instead of two, a change which was found satisfactory and will be followed this year.

HIGHER TAXES, HIGHER PAY

Board of Education Boosts Levy and Teachers' Salaries.

BROWDING THE MILLION MARK

Asks for $800,000 to Meet Expenses of Coming Year and Deficit in the Current Year's Budget.

After being in session for an hour last night the Board of Education approved the report of the Finance committee recommending that a levy of 18 mills be made to meet school expenditures for 1912.

Total expenditures for the approaching year were estimated at $800,000 and the total receipts at $600,000.

A schedule of increase in kindergarten and grade teachers' salaries was passed, the board allowing Chairman Sears of the teachers' committee $614,000 for the year. The increase, which will start the second semester of the year, which begins February 1, raises the minimum salary paid teachers from $400 to $600 for the ten-month year and jumps other grades at the rate of $100 till those who get $75 per month are reached. Those are increased to $80 per month; the $75 class jumps to $90 and the maximum salary is fixed at $1,000, or $100 per month for the school year of ten months.

Total expenditures for teachers' salaries last year was $448,818, the amount set aside at the first of the year being $445,000. The amount set aside this year is $515,000, which is $60,000 more than Chairman Sears at first requested.

Upon the motion of Member Jacobson, a resolution prepared by Dr. M. H. Hays, chairman and concurred in by the entire membership was passed, throwing the city schools open to the public for meetings of non-religious and non-political purposes. The houses will be at all times under the supervision of the board and "proper safeguards will be thrown about them."

Chairman Richardson of the finance committee explains that while an 18-mill levy will decrease the probable $100,000 deficit only half, the collection of unpaid 1911 taxes in 1912 is expected to wipe out the other half of the deficit. There is now at least 10 per cent of the taxes uncollected. If these are not collected, the deficit will be carried over to 1913.

Members of the Finance committee were seen the other day in session at the board and the amounts to be expended in each department for the year 1912 and naming the sources of revenue:

In consultation with the chairman of the board, the treasurer of the school district, the chairman of the various committees having charge of expenditures and in accordance with the general sentiment of those present, the committee estimates that for the school year 1912 the following amounts will be needed, namely:

Finger Prints Convict Him of Taking Amulet

CHICAGO, July 26.—Finger print evidence was the basis of a verdict of guilty returned today by a jury against John C. Hartzell, accused of stealing from the museum of the University of Chicago, a golden amulet owned by a Pharaoh, 5,300 years ago.
The shadowy past was linked to the present by university professors who testified to the antiquity of the golden ornament. Hartzell presented an alibi and in addition his attorney disputed the conclusions of the Egyptologists.
In his argument Attorney Joe F. Geeting, counsel for Hartzell, commented on the testimony of university professors who were witnesses.

"A professor of science is a man who can see a mosquito on the Masonic temple scratch his back with his left hand leg but cannot see the temple," said Attorney Geeting. "If a man is crazy and he is not, he is just crazy."

The lawyer declared it was ridiculous to contend that the amulet which was stolen belonged to King Menes of Egypt and that it was 5,300 years old. He also attacked the finger print system and declared that the liberty of a human was too sacred to be trifled with on a system of that kind. He asserted that it was uncertain and compared it with the old time fashion of detecting witches by sticking needles into them.

"Thousands of persons were beheaded on this theory of witches," said the lawyer, "and thousands of other persons right here will be sent to the penitentiary on finger print evidence if you jurors by your verdict support it."

MOTT FAMILY IN FREE FIGHT

Two Grandmothers Are Seriously Wounded in the Fray.

ONE SUFFERS BROKEN THIGH

Caused by Blow of Bull Bat Struck by Other—Son Sinks Knife in His Mother's Arm.

An attempt by Bertha Mott to gain possession of her 8-month-old daughter in the face of a decree given a month ago in district court, nearly resulted fatally last night for Mrs. Rosa Wise, mother of Bertha Mott, and Mrs. Mary Mott, the girl's mother-in-law. The affair occurred at 8:30 o'clock near Twenty-sixth and Franklin streets and as a result Mrs. Mary Mott, who is 65 years old, is at St. Joseph's hospital suffering from a fractured right thigh, and Mrs. Wise is recovering from a deep stab in her right side, said to have been inflicted by Burt Mott, husband of Bertha Mott.

Mrs. Bertha Mott, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Wise, and Attorney Thomas B. Murray, appeared at the home of her husband at 1712 North Twenty-eighth street and asked permission to see her child. Recently she filed a petition in district court for a divorce from her husband, and the custody of the babe was given him, pending the outcome of the case. Mrs. Mott was given permission to see the child at all reasonable hours, but when she appeared last night with her attorney, she was refused admittance to the house by Mrs. Mary Mott, grandmother of the babe.

A quarrel arose and in the heat of it, Mrs. Bertha Mott picked up the infant and ran, followed by her mother and mother-in-law. At Twenty-sixth and Franklin streets, Mrs. Wise seized a ball bat and struck the aged grandmother on the thigh, snapping the bone as though it had been glass. Bertha Mott and her mother continued the fight, but at Twenty-fifth and Franklin, her husband saw her and gave pursuit. His mother-in-law interfered and the husband struck her with his fist and plunged a pocket knife into her. The police were called and took the injured women to St. Joseph's hospital, where Police Surgeons Vanderhoff and Ellwood attended the injuries.

Burt Mott was arrested by Patrolman O'Connor and hurried to the police station. As the auto left the scene some one in the crowd who knew Mott by reputation shouted "lynch him," and only the speed of the emergency auto and the arrival of more officers prevented the suggestion from being carried out.

Half an hour later Emergency Detective Hall arrested Bertha Mott, who was weeping hysterically and clinging to her child. She was locked up at headquarters and the babe taken to the Child Saving Institute. Curtis Mott, aged 9 years, who lived with his grandmother and Burt Mott, was turned over to the police matron, there being no place else for him to go, as all of his older relatives were either in the hospital or in jail.

Evident Intent of Mrs. Mott. According to Attorney Murray, who was present when the trouble started, his clients had evidently intended kidnapping the child from the beginning, but concealed the fact from him. At the station, he gave the police all the help he could and then announced his intention of withdrawing from the case entirely.
Two years ago, Mrs. Bertha Mott, then only 18 years old, shot and killed Otis Haddy, a waiter in the Robertson restaurant, whom she claimed had insulted her. She was acquitted and two months ago in a fit of anger when her child cried because of growing teeth, she threw it to the floor and then fled. It developed that she was temporarily demented as the result of the actions of her husband, who is said by the police to be a degenerate.
The police have been called to the Mott home several times to quell disturbances and they question the sanity of the entire family.
