McCoy Arrested in London in Connection with $80,000 Robbery.

PRINCESS FOLLOWED TO OSTEND

American Woman, Former Wife of General Fitzgerald and Now of Noble Family, Robbed at Grand Palace Hotel.

LONDON, July 27.—Kid McCoy, the American boxer, was arrested today on a provisional extradition warrant and brought up at Bow street police court on a charge of larceny alleged to have been committed at Ostend. The magistrate, Mr. De Rutzen, remanded him without bail.

McCoy informed the magistrate that he was entirely ignorant of the charge against him, but Mr. De Rutzen refused to grant bail until he had heard the particulars of the charge, which have not yet arrived here.

According to Scotland Yard authorities McCoy is suspected of being implicated in a jewel robbery at the Grand Palace hotel, Ostend. They admit, however, that the only evidence against him thus far is that McCoy has been seen in the company of suspects. McCoy's friends say he left Ostend before the robbery was committed.

The Scotland Yard officials say the person robbed at Ostend was a Russian princess, who was staying at the Grand Palace hotel. Their story is that the princess, who possessed jewelry worth $50,000, was followed from Russia by a gang of thieves, who engaged an adjoining room and entered her apartments during her absence. They secured a case containing jewels valued at $60,000, but overlooked a larger case.

The officials at Scotland Yard say that a man known as Squeerskamp and a woman companion already have been arrested at Ostend for alleged connection with the crime. McCoy, it is declared, recently was a guest at the Grand Palace hotel with a party of friends.

Lightning Endangers Royalty.

BRUSSELS, July 28.—During a severe storm yesterday lightning six times struck the castle of Clermont in southern Belgium, where the Belgian royal family is staying, with the prince of Holland as a guest. Members of the royal party were at luncheon at the time, but did not lose their self-possession. The members of their suites were badly frightened. The castle was badly damaged.

The only large robbery reported from Ostend recently was that of the princess of Thurn and Taxis from whom, it was stated, jewels valued at $60,000 were stolen in a hotel there. The princess was a Miss Nickolls of Uniontown, Pa. She was divorced in Pittsburgh in 1906 from General Gerald Fitzgerald of Ireland, and last November at the home of her mother in Uniontown married Prince Victor of Thurn and Taxis, a member of the Hungarian branch of his family.

Northwest Facing Real Labor Famine

DULUTH, Minn., July 27.—The American northwest is facing a serious labor famine. Thousands of men are needed to harvest bumper crops, for work on railroads, and to help also in the development of Canada, but labor cannot be obtained at top wages and the unusual attainment of free fare.

This is a composite statement of all the better known employment bureaus here and at other points north of Chicago.

To get the full meaning of the immensity of the crop in the Red river valley and in western Canada alone, it need only be said that 50,000 men are needed in those sections at the present time.

Free fare is being offered for men in Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota, and North Dakota. Canada also is holding out free fare inducements.

At 85, Gave Him Vigor and Relieved Constipation

From a mere skeleton, constipated, no appetite, Mr. S. H. Hiestand was restored to health, gained 20 pounds and reinvigorated till he says he feels like a young man again.

"Two years ago I was a mere skeleton, weighed less than 100 pounds, was constipated, appetite gone, and thought I would never recover. I procured some Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, used it, and it put new life into my body, and in the course of three months gained 20 pounds. I remained well for two years, and once more was taken with a bad cough and appetite gone; also became constipated. I used more of this medicine, and am happy to say that I am once more well, am feeling just 25 and yet I am 85. I have been recommending it to other old people and I have not found one whom I persuaded to try its virtues but who has benefited.—S. H. Hiestand, Liberty, Ind."

A SCREAM ABOUT CLOTHES

Burdens of Fashion Borne by Women and Some of the Men, Too.

"Clothes and all their little accessories are without doubt the invention of the devil."

That is the frank declaration of Mrs. John Lane, who in her newest book, "Talk of the Town," discourses entertainingly on "The Tyranny of Clothes." But Mrs. Lane's really interesting discovery is that woman is not the only sufferer from this despotism. It also sways the men. And, woman-like, Mrs. Lane is glad of it.

"The only solace I have in the tyranny under which I languish is that Adam languishes also," she exults. "I rejoice to watch his struggles into a pair of tight new gloves. I love to see him when his necktie has slipped under his ear. It is a comfort to observe his anguish far away from a tailor and the one he loves best when a mall plays havoc with his only pair, and is reduced to a spectacle. I was so pleased the other day at a dinner party, when Adam came bashfully down in an evening coat and shepherd's plaid trousers—the guardian angel who had packed his kit-bag having been a little absent minded.

"It is a great comfort to feel that man also suffers from the tyranny of clothes. Even more than a woman he is the victim of clothes that won't go together.

"Show me that great and independent man who would dare to walk down Fifth avenue in a frock coat and straw hat, or disturb the severe propriety of the scene by wearing a silk hat and a Norfolk jacket. What heroic soul not a water would venture forth in the early morning in his evening clothes?"

"There are things, it is a comfort to know, which even a man cannot do, and a man is supposed to be able to do almost anything. I defy a novelist to put his hero's hat at a rowdy angle over his ear at a crucial point in his career and leave him still heroic!

"The Achilles heel of a man is his hat. He must guard that as he does his reputation, for it is at once his strength and his weakness.

"The castron laws of fashion, which is only another name for convention, are such that if the greatest man in America were to walk with all his accustomed dignity from the stock exchange to Broadway with a trailing peacock feather attached to the band of his immaculate silk hat, he would be followed by a mob in two seconds and the outraged majesty of the law would take him into custody as a suspicious character.

"Every policeman is an arbiter of fashion. To him any originality in clothes means either crime or insanity.

"It is only the exceptional man who has his courage of his clothes and who would venture on any independence of dress. A woman will, if she has a great and cheery soul, rejoice to come out in something awful daring—that is, if she is perfectly sure of herself—but what man would have the heroism to do that?"

"There have been certain great historic characters who have set the fashions," Mrs. Lane admits, "who have immortalized themselves by aid of a necktie, the curve of a silk hat or the tuck of a waistcoat, but these are lonely instances and the exceptions that prove the rule.

"No man is ever heroic about his clothes; but such instances of liberty as he does enjoy are to be quite just, entirely due to the bold American. Columbus discovered America, but the Americans discovered the straw hat.

"However, had as the case is for men they have one consolation—pockets.

"I assure those feminine pioneers who clamor for their rights that above everything else they should demand an equality of pockets.

"Try to imagine a man doing his errands with a purse, handkerchief and shopping list in one hand, the tail of his skirt in the other, his umbrella under one arm, making an effort to keep clear for business problems and a wary eye out for motors. He couldn't do it.

"Such is the tyranny of clothes that though we may be obliged to starve, we dare not be out of fashion," Mrs. Lane concludes, after discussing ball gowns that mean pneumonia and tight shoes that torture, and adds:

"A tragedy first came into the world, but of course, we owe them to Satan and he has had his grip on them ever since."

Packers to Be Called Before City Board of Equalization.

RAISE IN ASSESSMENT EXPECTED

Nelson Morris Takes Over Omaha Packing Company Plant Next Monday—Gossip of the Magic City.

The packing interests of South Omaha have been cited and will appear today to show cause why their assessment should not be raised 15 per cent above the assessment of last year. If the increase is ordered by the board of equalization, it will mean an increase of $1,000,000 in valuation and a corresponding reduction of the mill levy.

That the assessment of the packers will be raised goes without saying, the question being just what the raise will be. Some of the members of the board say that 2 per cent will be enough. Mayor Tom Hoctor indicated yesterday that he hoped to raise the assessment a good deal over 10 per cent above last year's figures.

A number of men have indicated their intention of being present at the sessions of the board during the hearing of the packers so that a record of the vote may be kept.

Taking Account of Stock. Representatives of Nelson Morris company of Chicago are here taking inventory of the Omaha Packing company, formerly owned by the National Packing company. Nelson Morris begins to control the local house on Monday. Representatives of Armour & Co. of this city have been sent to Denver and St. Joe for the purpose of making an inventory of the new houses taken over from the National Packing company by Armour & Co. It is probable that all the newly acquired plants of Armour & Co. will be placed among the list already controlled by General Manager R. C. Howe of this city.

Cattle to Be Higher. After more than a week's outing in Colorado, Traffic Manager Shoemaker of the Union Stock yards, is back at his desk. Mr. Shoemaker has just returned from sessions of the live stock convention in Gunnison and Glenwood Springs, Colo. Speaking of the prospects, he gave it as his opinion that the ensuing year would see a condition in the cattle market never before witnessed. All signs point to a great demand for feeders by the cattle men whose feed lots were depleted last year. This year feed is plentiful, but cattle will be scarce. As a consequence the range cattle will advance in price and the feed lots will be stocked from range cattle. It all means that cattle will go higher this year said Mr. Shoemaker.

Acting Chief of Police Hank Eisfelder stated last night that he was investigating the death of Wallace Stewart, the Omaha contractor found dead upon the Burlington tracks some days ago. "The affair is rather cloudy," said Captain Eisfelder, "and the fact that the chauffeur of the taxicab in which Stewart rode did not appear, does not look right to me. It may have been that this man was beaten up and then rolled upon the Burlington tracks. He had both rings and a watch before his death, it seems. Any way the case has to be cleared up. I want the chauffeur to come in and explain his conduct. I also want the two women who rode with Stewart that night."

HE DOES NOT WANT MUCH

Just a Taste of the Joy of Getting Money He Did Not Work For.

"I don't ever expect to be very rich," said the sad-faced man.

"Why not?" inquired his friend.

"Oh, I'm not out for a millionaire."

"But you're making good money now."

"Yes, I'm drawing a fair salary, and I suppose that I can hang onto my job as long as I want to."

"Then why are you so pessimistic?"

"I'm not pessimistic. I merely say that I don't expect to be rich. But sometimes when I get to thinking, it depresses me to know that I shall always have to depend on my salary."

"I don't see anything in that to feel bad about—so long as the salary is large enough."

"I do. What I'd like to have is a few shares of stock so that I could get those 100 per cent dividend checks every three months."

OLCOTT FILES SUIT TO ANNUL MARRIAGE

NEW YORK, July 27.—Chauncey Olcott, the actor, has filed suit for annulment of his marriage to his first wife, Mrs. Cora E. James-Striker-Moran-Olcott. The suit discloses a matrimonial tangle which involves titles to valuable property. The case will come up in supreme court in Albany tomorrow.

Olcott married his first wife in 1888 and divorced here in 1888. In 1887 he married Miss Margaret O'Donovan, who is still living with him.

Before the first Mrs. Olcott married the actor she was the wife of I. O. Moran of this city, who divorced here in Nebraska in 1887. Olcott now claims that this divorce has been investigated and found to be illegal. Olcott's first wife is also trying to prove that Olcott's divorce from her is illegal.

DON'TS FOR GLOBE TROTTERS

NEW YORK HOTEL HANDS OUT SOME ADVICE FOR COMFORT OF GUESTS.

Guests of the Hotel Victoria, New York, found in their hotel boxes circulars containing "Ten Don'ts for Travelers," prepared by the proprietor, George W. Sweney, for their comfort. These don'ts were:

Don't feel hurt if the proprietor refuses to cash your check. Your credit may be O. K., but the proprietor has enough checks returned N. G. to build several hotels.

Don't marry the girl at the news stand. She is worthy of you, but the hotel is not a matrimonial bureau.

Don't carry thirty-six trunks with a collar button in each one. Light luggage will give you time to see the sights. And the porter will bless you.

Don't make friends with every jolly good fellow at the bar. Good Samaritans in New York sometimes sell bad mining stocks.

Don't forget to pay the telephone girl. It is embarrassing to be called back for a dime.

Don't turn the hotel inside out for your wallet until you look under your pillow. You probably slept on it last night.

Don't carry off souvenirs. When we wish to demolish and dismantle the hotel we will send you a specially engraved invitation to act as a housewrecker.

Don't sing. A hotel is not a conservatory. The man in the next room may not appreciate the artistic temperament.

Don't hesitate to express your wants. This is not a deaf and dumb asylum.

Don't kick unless you have a legitimate complaint. To err is human.—New York American.

CRITICISE TROOPS' CONDUCT

Soldiers of Blue Army Charged with Insulting Women.

ACCUSED OF ATTACKING GIRL

Officials of War Department in Chicago Order Investigation of Charge that Orgy Occurred at Camp Douglas.

CHICAGO, July 27.—Moved by charges that United States regular troops and other state troops encamped at Camp Douglas, Wis., for army maneuvers had insulted and attacked women and had indulged in a drunken orgy, officials of the War department in Chicago today ordered an investigation at Camp Douglas and other Wisconsin points where the soldiers have been mobilized.

General Ramsey D. Potts, commander of the central division, embracing the regular army troops in nineteen states, telegraphed Major Carl R. Reichmann, chief umpire in charge of the maneuvers, to inquire into the charges and the extent to which the regular troops were involved. Investigation is also said to be planned to ascertain the conduct of Wisconsin and Illinois militiamen who, with regular troops from Leavenworth, Kan., and Fort Sheridan, formed the Blue army, against which the charges were made.

The Red army, forming the hostile side of the battle plan, was fifteen miles away and is said not to have been involved.

The charges as made to General Potts and which prompted him to order an investigation are:

That almost one-third of the 2,000 soldiers composing the Blue army were drunk, a few hours before the campaign was to begin.

That victorious the men were supposed to be on a "war footing" when they took the field at 5 a. m. on July 25, all the saloons in the town of Camp Douglas were crowded with soldiers until 1 a. m. the same morning.

That the officers failed to keep the soldiers in the camp.

That women were insulted in the camp and in the town.

That a girl 23 years old was attacked by a dozen soldiers and although she reached the railway station at 1 o'clock in the morning crying for help, no one was arrested and no investigation was made.

McNamara Still in Solitary Confinement

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—That James B. McNamara, serving a life sentence in San Quentin penitentiary for murder committed in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building, October 1, 1910, is held in solitary confinement in an effort to make him confess further details of that conspiracy was charged today to Warden John E. Hoyle by a delegation of nationally prominent labor leaders.

Warden Hoyle denied the accusation, told the committee that McNamara was "in the solitary" because he was recalcitrant and would not promise to mend his ways, and assured his guests that their visit would neither lengthen nor shorten McNamara's present punishment. He pronounced John J. McNamara, former secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, a well conducted prisoner, and that he was undergoing no extra punishment. James B. McNamara, Hoyle said, was known to have been concerned in a recent "bread riot" at the penitentiary.

"How long is it customary to keep a man in solitary confinement?" Hoyle was asked.

"About ten days," said Hoyle.

"How long has 'Jim' been in?"

"About twenty."
