ADVANCE OF RATES CHECKED

Interstate Commerce Commission Suspends Proposed Lumber Raise.

CHANGE SET FOR AUGUST FIRST

Delay of 120 Days is Made to Give the Commission Time to Investigate the Increase the Railroads Want.

Unofficial reports from Washington say the Interstate Commerce commission has suspended the proposed advance in yellow pine lumber rates from 25 to 30 per cent, the suspension to last the usual 120 days to give the commission time to investigate.

This is one point scored for Omaha, South Omaha and Council Bluffs in a contest which has lasted several years. In 1908 the railroads advanced the southern pine rate 25 and 28 per cent in the three cities, whereupon the traffic bureau of the Commercial club asked for a reduction. The Interstate Commerce commission reduced the rate to 25 cents, the reduction to go into effect August 1, 1910. With the decision the commission awarded South Omaha, Council Bluffs and Omaha a reprieve for money collected by the railroads in excess of the 25-cent rate for the two preceding years.

As all decisions of the commission hold good only two years, the 25-cent rate will expire July 31, this year. The railroads have issued orders for a raise in rate to go into effect August 1, but on application by the traffic bureau of the Commercial club to the Interstate Commerce commission to suspend the tariff, the advance will not be made, if the reports from Washington are true.

Union Pacific Fast Train in Collision Near Green River

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 30.—Seven persons are reported injured in a head on collision of Union Pacific train No. 2 west bound and an east bound freight near Mondell, Wyo., 125 miles east of Green River. A special train carrying physicians has been sent from here. No. 3 is known as the China and Japan mail, Chicago to the coast.

According to the advices received by General Manager Scott of the Union Pacific, no one was injured in the collision occurring at Mondell, Wyo., Monday night when No. 3, the China and Japan mail, and an extra freight met head-on.

No. 3 had orders to pass the freight at Mondell, which is a siding, and had slowed down to five miles per hour. The freight was at the east end of the switch and had not had sufficient time to get into the clear when No. 3 came along and bumped it. The freight was in the block and it is the opinion of the local officials that the engineer of the passenger must have disregarded the signals.

According to the reports at headquarters the engines were somewhat damaged, but no one, not even the men on the engines, was injured.

Uses Brass Knuckles on His Inamorata

George Wright was arrested for the fourth time in three months for abusing and beating Julia Carr. He was fined $15 and costs.

Although Julia Carr has been turning over regularly her earnings during the last few months for his support he has attacked her several times and taken all her money. Monday afternoon he assaulted her at Twenty-first and Iard streets with a pair of brass knuckles and took her pocketbook containing $7. Officer Jensen, attracted by the woman's screams, caught Wright after an exciting chase, during which he cuffed the money and knuckles. Officer Schwager found the hidden property under a board walk.

Baby Camp Could Care for Some More

Many of the mothers who take their little ones to the Baby Welfare camp in Elmwood park and receive instructions in baby tending from the trained nurses there, cannot speak English, but they smile appreciation for what is being done for them and their infants.

Head Nurse Carrie Kalarik says that Caroline, Josephine and Harry, the three babies who have been at camp almost every day since it opened and who were very ill at first, are greatly improved and are getting fat. About six babies a day is the average at the camp, but more could be cared for by Nurses Kalarik and Harrington.

THROEN PASSES THROUGH OMAHA ON HIS LONG WALK

Harvey Thoren, the globe trotter, who is walking from San Francisco to New York and back on a wager, arrived in Omaha Monday night on his way east. He carries letters of twenty-five miles a day. He carries plenty of credentials and makes as well as Mayor Gaynor of New York.

Captain Dempsey Was Once a Famous Leader of the Band

Just fifty-five years ago today Police Captain Michael Dempsey took his first look at as much of the world as could be seen from a little window in a tiny home at Pittston, Pa. The outlook evidently was not very pleasing to little Mike, for he is said to have set up an immediate howl. A green curtain hanging upon a heavy stick was the first object that took his fancy. His tiny hands hauled it down, and to this day he has stuck to green—and to the club too, for it was not so ordained that one with such a true Hibernian spirit should be lost in any other occupation but that of police work.

Little Mike's disdain of Pittston cropped out on the day of his birth, and to get even with the inhabitants for living in such a town, he took up the study of some kind of a horn. It was either a fog horn, or a six-cylinder trumpet, the neighbors say. Mike called it a cornet and other people had a number of names for it. That it was not a Jewshair is conceded by all.

After a thousand or more years of practice, the neighbors say, Mike evidently considered himself a finished musician, for he organized the Pittston brass band. This band is said to have been noted for two things. Its members each voted three times on election day and they were in universal demand at wakes. Then Mike left Pittston to its own devices and came to Omaha and he's here yet. Everybody who knows the Captain is glad except Henry Dunn, Dempsey's brother captain of police. Dunn also took to music at an early age to get even with some folks, and the fact that he has been unable to square all accounts is noted every Monday night at Sampson's den, and because everybody knows this, Dunn finds himself almost wishing that Dempsey had stayed in Pittston.

First Arrest Made Under Golden Rule

A. J. Jackson, undertaker at Seventeenth and Leavenworth streets, was the first to be arrested under the new golden rule policy of the police. He was stopped at Sixteenth and Harney streets Monday night by Traffic Officer Wright and served with a summons to appear in police court yesterday morning where he was discharged.

Gus Metz, 1730 Cass street, was also arrested under the same plan, charged with beating his wife and disturbing the peace. His case was continued until Wednesday.

City Appeals from Water Tax Decision

Assistant City Attorney Lambert filed an appeal in district court Tuesday from the action of the county commissioners who decreed that the city must pay taxes on property of the water plant in South Omaha, East Omaha and Florence. The case will be contested on the proposition that the water plant, being municipal property, is exempt from taxation.

Panel Game Revived With Bitter Result

Minnie Bart, colored, was bound over to the district court under $700 bonds in police court on the charge of robbery. She and her paramour, William Nely, are said to have stolen $100 from George H. Nelman.

COMPETITION RAISES PRICES

Such is the Situation in the Ready Print and Plate Matter Business.

MAY BE ADJUDGED A TRUST

George A. Joslyn Returns from Washington, Where Western Newspaper Union Case Has Been Heard.

In all probability the price of ready prints and plate matter, both new and feature, sold to the country publisher will be advanced in price very materially within a short time. This condition is to be brought about by reason of the fact that the Western Newspaper union, a concern that has its principal offices in Omaha and publishing and printing houses in the large cities all over the country, is to be adjudged a trust by the supreme court.

George J. Joslyn, head of the Western Newspaper union and who for more than a year has been fighting the attempt to have the business declared a trust, has returned from Washington, where in order to have the matter settled, agreed to the entering of a decree which will be signed Saturday of the present week and given to the public next Monday.

The contended trust feature as applied to the Western Newspaper union is different from any that has heretofore arisen and was a puzzle to the attorney general, for there was a reduction, rather than an advance in the prices to the ultimate consumer.

Some years ago when Mr. Joslyn took over the ready-print houses scattered about the country and consolidated them under his management, he dropped the prices some 10 to 15 cents per quire to publishers, preferring to make his money out of the foreign advertisers, rather than the hundreds of thousands of country publishers whom he supplied with the printed insides and plate matter.

A year or so ago some parties in some of the eastern cities, believing that there was money in supplying ready-prints and plates, went before the attorney general and filed charges, contending that by putting the prices so low Mr. Joslyn was preventing competition and consequently was fostering and maintaining a trust. Mr. Joslyn took just the opposite view and while he did not lay any claim to being a public benefactor, he alleged that he was making a fairly good profit and at the same time was saving large sums of money to country publishers all over the United States and was satisfied to continue along the same line on which he had started.

Testimony was taken and the facts were found to be as Mr. Joslyn had alleged, but it was also found that if small concerns desired to start in the ready-print business there was no profit for them if they met the prices of the Western Newspaper Union. Their position seemed to bear weight with the government's legal department and hence the decree is to issue, with the result that it is looked upon as being very probable that as soon as the competition begins, ready-prints will go up to the prices of some years ago.

McGovern Fires Three Field Men

Councilman McGovern of the department of public improvements has discharged three field engineers. He found the three engineers, who had been detailed to inspect work being done by contractors, in the back room of a saloon engaged in a quiet game of cards. The commissioner dropped around at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon to see how the work was progressing. When he couldn't locate the field men he visited the nearest saloon. He told them they were no longer on the city payroll. The men were young fellows.

GAMBLING IN SOUTH OMAHA

Testimony About the Game Brought Out in the Ryan-Pivonka Suit.

WITNESS KICKS WHEN HE LOSES

Former Police Officer, Nels Turnquist, Tells of the Different Things He Saw Concerning Commissioner Ryan.

Further testimony of liquor law violations and testimony of gambling in South Omaha under the administration of Ryan and Police Commissioners John J. Ryan and Joseph Pivonka occupied yesterday's sitting of the hearing of the Ryan-Pivonka ouster suit in the court house. Cross-examination of O. L. Mallen, a meat inspector by Ed. P. Smith of counsel for the defense, enlivened the sitting and laughter resulted from the witness' admission that he did not become anxious for the suppression of a certain gambling house until he had lost money there.

Mallen on direct examination by Assistant Attorney General Ayres said that on several occasions during 1911 he gambled in rooms conducted by Dolezal and Kaley over Mike Brennan's saloon, a block and a half from the South Omaha police station. He gambled and bought drinks there the night of September 6, he said, and the next day he complained against the place to Commissioner Ryan, Mayor Trainor and Chief of Police John Briggs. Trainor told him he had issued to the chief an order to close all such places and showed him a copy of the order. Briggs offered to go to the place with him, but he refused to go, saying he had no further business there. Ryan told him he would see about it and see him later. A few days later he called the matter to Ryan's attention and the commissioner told him he had forgotten all about it and had done nothing.

Attorney Knows Poker. When Attorney Smith asked Mallen for details as to how he played poker in the place, the witness, tired of answering questions and said: "Well, it was poker. I guess you know how draw poker is played."

"Yes, I know," admitted Smith and dropped that line of questioning.

When asked on direct examination if he ever had seen Ryan intoxicated Mallen said he would rather not answer. When the court told him he must he said he had seen him when he was feeling pretty good, but never when he was unable to handle himself.

"You never saw him in such a condition that he couldn't do business, did you?"

"That all depends on what kind of business you mean," was the answer.

ADDITION TO OMAHA CLUB IS ASSURED

Building of the addition to the Omaha club is now practically assured. The votes coming in from the members now show a decision for the addition by four to one. Not all the votes are in, but enough have been received to assure the addition.

This will be a basement and one-story building, but the foundation will be made to carry a structure the size of the present club house. A large card and dining room, a lounging room and squash courts with galleries, will be on the first floor of the addition, while the basement will be equipped with showers, lockers and storage rooms.

When your child was whooping cough be careful to keep the cough loose and expectoration easy by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as may be required. This remedy will also liquify the tough mucus and make it easier to expectorate. It has been used successfully in many epidemics and is safe and sure. For sale by all dealers.
